[redacted] met Connor Betts approximately [redacted]. Through [redacted] with Betts, he learned Betts was "in to guns." [redacted] also learned [redacted] did not approve of him owning or possessing a gun and remembered a conversation with Betts wherein he told [redacted] found a shotgun in his room and took it from him.

[redacted] indicated he also liked guns and currently owns a handgun and a micro Draco pistol. Within the past year (but longer than six months ago), Betts asked [redacted] to assist him with ordering an AR rifle kit. [redacted] agreed to assist Betts and recommended Betts shop for the kit on Palmetto State Armory's website. Since [redacted] did not approve of him having a gun, [redacted] agreed to place the order for the AR rifle kit on behalf of Betts and have the kit shipped to [redacted] residence.

[redacted] did not remember specifics about the AR kit purchased but thought he may have an email confirmation saved in his [redacted] account which would have those details.

A few months ago, Betts informed [redacted] he wanted to purchase body armor. [redacted] agreed to purchase the body armor under his [redacted] name and have the body armor shipped to his residence. Again, [redacted] agreed to this so that Betts could conceal the purchase from [redacted] and

Betts purchased the body armor through "AR500 Armor." [redacted] was asked if he found it odd that Betts wanted to purchase body armor and he answered no. [redacted] indicated he believed people had the right to legally purchase body armor if they so choose.

The interviewing agents asked [redacted] for consent to search his residence for any evidence related to the two aforementioned purchases and he agreed. SA [redacted] presented [redacted] with an FD-26 (Consent to Search form) which [redacted] indicated he understood and signed granting his consent at 10:30 AM.

[redacted] directed the interviewing agents to his laptop computer and signed into his [redacted] account. [redacted] searched his gmail account for any record of the AR rifle kit purchase through Palmetto State Armory. Several emails from Palmetto State Armory were found but none that detailed a purchase of the rifle kit.

[redacted] then searched his email account for the body armor purchase and located an order confirmation from AR500 Armor detailing the purchase of a "Testudo Independence Day - Carrier and Curved Plates." The order was placed on 07/03/2019 at 3:31 PM MST. The order consisted of one "AR500 Armor Testudo Plate Carrier - Gen 2 - black, Sku TESTUD02BLKSA" and two "Level III 10"x12" Multi-Curve, Base Coat - LH, Sku 310X12CRLH." SA [redacted] took a photograph of the order confirmation which is attached.

A search of [redacted] residence for any packaging material or shipping boxes associated with the purchase of the AR rifle kit or body armor was negative.

[redacted] advised he and Betts have gone to two gun ranges together in the past to shoot firearms. Those ranges were Point Blank located near the Dayton Mall in Miami Township, Ohio and Fox Shooting Loft in Fairborn, Ohio. [redacted] believed the last time he and Betts shot together was three to four months ago.

[redacted] knew Betts worked at Chipotle and only assumed it was the Chipotle located near Wilmington Pike in Sugarcreek Township, Ohio.

CRRU's analysis is attached hereto along with a crime scene photo of BETTS's body armor with the patch. (U//~~FOUO~~) RR was founded in Kansas in 2016 partly in response to the perceived contradictions of the Tea Party movement. It was founded as an offshoot of the John Brown Gun Club (JBGC), a firearms training and community defense project founded in 2004. The names have become interchangeable. RR/JBGC has spread to create regional chapters throughout the US.

(U) IDEOLOGY: (Open Source) The groups are self-described as anti-capitalist, anti-racist, anti-fascist. They believe police, prisons, courts, artificial borders, and other systems of social control only exist to serve the rich, and believe the rich and powerful are the common enemy of the working class and poor people of every country. They also believe in the right of the militant resistance, and in using any and all means to gain their freedom and true liberty, "provided those methods do not violate our basic humanity or integrity." RR/JBGC stands against capitalism, patriarchy, and the 'wars of the rich." The goal of these organizations is to resist fascism, racism, and the marginalization of the "white working class," and to defend their community against oppression from right-wing groups (Nazis, fascists, Islamophobes, anti-immigrant protesters, anti-LGBTQ) and from police violence.
