At that point, the only people outside were the kids who had been evacuated from the classrooms who had also been involved, which included the students from [REDACTED] classroom. So [REDACTED] students were mixing with the kids from [REDACTED] classroom. [REDACTED]

Fire trucks and ambulances were pouring in. [REDACTED] still did not know what was going on until she could talk to more of the teachers. She spent the next two hours outside with everyone trying to console and support the kids.

[REDACTED] car was parked out back and she went and got it later when they could and then she came to her mother's house. She went back into the building to retrieve her purse and car keys before it was sealed off.

During the incident, the fire alarm went off and so she could not hear the public address system. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] then advised that at the beginning of the incident she had heard the two shots but they were muffled because she had a radio on in her room and then a thud like someone fell against a locker. She thought someone fell or was tazered. When she saw the police with their guns, she knew it was more serious. She did not want to upset the kids.

[REDACTED] She or someone else said that it was Jeff Weise who had come in. The kids in front of the school knew it was Weise who had come in. A couple of kids said he was disturbed and that was why he was put on homebound. Everybody in the school knew he had a disagreement with a teacher and that was why he was put on homebound. [REDACTED] did not know Weise very well at all. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] or something like that. [REDACTED] did not know his first name. After the incident, everybody was asking if anybody had seen him.

When [REDACTED] she had Weise as a 9th grader but then he was on homebound. She recognized him when she saw his picture. She recalled him as being a quiet student, tall, dressed in black, who did not say much. She did not remember much about him. She never received any of his homebound work back, although she sent his homebound work to him through the homebound lady. She took care of all that.

[REDACTED] that day and she knew them all. She heard the bell ring so it must have been 3:05 p.m. when they went outside. She heard the gunshots at 2:55 p.m., so the entire incident lasted 10 minutes or less.

When they were looking for that teacher outside after the shooting incident, it was the first that [REDACTED] had heard that Weise had behavior problems.

[redacted] was interviewed with regard to her knowledge of the Red Lake High School shooting which occurred on March 21, 2005. [redacted] is a 12th grader at the Red Lake High School.

On the afternoon of the shooting, [redacted] was at school. [redacted] was physically present in [redacted] classroom. At about this time [redacted] heard sounds outside of the class room which at first sounded like loud clapping. As the clapping grew louder, [redacted] then realized it was not clapping, but in fact was the sound of gunfire growing louder and closer to the class room. At some point, the school's fire alarm warning bell began to ring.

In hindsight, [redacted] speculates and thinks that perhaps the shooter, JEFFREY WEISE, pulled the fire alarm to get people out of the class rooms and into the hallways so he could have targets at which to shoot at. [redacted] recalled the gunfire and the noise seemed to get louder and closer and then all of a sudden all of the gunfire stopped. Although the fire alarm was still ringing, it seemed to [redacted] that the school became very quiet.

On 03/21/2005, FBI Minneapolis Evidence Response Team (ERT) was requested to travel to Red Lake Indian Reservation near Bemidji, Minnesota to process a crime scene relating to a school shooting incident at the Reservation High School. Members of the team who responded included Team Leader SA [redacted] SA [redacted] SA [redacted] SA [redacted] SA [redacted] and Photographer [redacted]. Minneapolis ERT arrived at Red Lake Senior High School (RLSHS) at approximately 12:10 a.m. on 03/22/2005. Upon arrival, Minneapolis FBI SWAT was completing a safety clear of the building. Upon completion, Minneapolis SWAT turned control of the building over to Minneapolis ERT at approximately 12:25 a.m. Minneapolis ERT stayed on scene until approximately 2:10 a.m. becoming familiar with the scene and planning the processing of the scene. The scene consisted generally of a vehicle, multiple school hallways and classrooms and a limited area of the exterior school grounds. The bodies of the victims had been removed by medical and law enforcement personnel before Minneapolis ERT arrived and evidence number cards had been placed next to certain items of possible evidence by local law enforcement officials.

Minneapolis ERT returned to the scene later on the morning of the 22nd at approximately 9:15 a.m. Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension Crime Scene personnel arrived at the scene shortly after. Minneapolis Team Leader coordinated with BCA Team leader [redacted] and determined that the school would be broken down into smaller scenes and that the scenes would be divided between FBI and BCA for processing. The school was broken down into scenes A-Q. FBI processed scenes A, B, D, E, F, K, L, M, N, O, P, and Q. BCA processed scenes C, G, H, I and J. The scene locations are noted on a school map which is located in the 1A section of this file. BCA arranged with the State Patrol to get aerial photographs of the school.

ERT and BCA then processed the scene throughout 03/22-25/2005. Processing included but was not limited to photography, videography, blood swabbing, sketching and collection of evidence. Three guns were found during the search to include a 22 caliber handgun, a 12 gauge shotgun and a 40 caliber handgun. Collected items were packaged, labeled and brought back to the Minneapolis FBI office to be placed into evidence. As firearms evidence was collected, duct tape was placed on the collection spot and labeled with what had been collected at the spot. Computer hard drives containing digital video from the school's surveillance cameras were also seized with the assistance of [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Further details of the scene processing are contained in the administrative logs prepared by the Team Leader. These logs are being maintained in the 1A section of this file.

BCA Team Leader [REDACTED] turned over to FBI Team Leader [REDACTED] all evidence the BCA had collected at the school as well as evidence it had collected while processing the subject's grandfather's home. This evidence was also transported to the Minneapolis FBI office to be placed into evidence.

FBI Laboratory components were contacted through ERTU at FBIHQ. Members of the Firearms and Toolmarks Unit, IPGU and Photo Operations arrived on scene 03/23/2005 and 03/24/2005 and stayed on scene until 03/25/2005.

On 03/25/2005, SA [REDACTED] was informed that the school library should be sketched and items on and near tables be looked at. SA [REDACTED] drew a not to scale sketch of the room for investigator's use. IPGU created a more detailed sketch of the library. Items on and around library desks and tables were searched by SAs [REDACTED].

Minneapolis ERT and the Laboratory Components completed the processing of the school early in the evening of 03/25/2005 and control of the building was given to the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

On 04/18/2005, SA [] conducted a search and review of the website <http://www.abovetopsecret.com> to determine if JEFFREY WEISE, deceased Indian male, Red Lake, Minnesota, Red Lake Indian Reservation, had posted or otherwise communicated through said site any information that would indicate the planning of the shooting of students at Red Lake Highschool on 3/21/2005.

SA [] determined that WEISE did make posts to the website, but that none of his posts indicated the planning of the school shooting; nor did they indicate an attempt to acquire guns, bombs, or other instruments that could have been used in a school shooting or in the mass murder of students. The posts that WEISE made to the website were consistent with the nature of the website, which is discussion of supernatural and/or otherwise unexplained phenomena.
