TO : SAC, Tampa (166-NEW)

DATE: 10/27/70

FROM : SA [REDACTED]

SUBJECT: RAUL C. CHARBONIER, JR.
LUIS CHARBONIER
PUPI LNU

GASPAR CIACCIO victim
by FRANK LO PAPA CIACCIO - victim

On this date information received from GASPAR CIACCIO, Tampa, Florida as follows: In May or early June, 1970 he was approached by RAUL CHARBONIER and conned into making bets on baseball games during the 1970 season. According to CIACCIO the odds during the start of his betting activities were much better than anywhere else in town and because of this he started to bet with CHARBONIER and also introduced a DR LOCICERO to RAUL C. CHARBONIER, Jr and he and LOCICERO were partners in the betting.

b6

From early June, 1970 to approximately July 10, he, CIACCIO, and the doctor had won $8,000 and had received one payment of $5,000 in $100 bills for their winnings. On the All-Star game he and the doctor bet $2500 on the National League which won and at this time subjects RAUL again owed him approx. $8,000. After the All-Star game he and Dr. LOCICERO received a payment of $1,000 from RAUL and this was in $5 and $10 bills. Thereafter the odds changed and they lost the additional $7,000 that was owed to them by subject as well as approximately $16,000 of their own money.

In late August through early September he was in daily contact with RAUL who wanted the money that was owed and he told them that he did not have the money and that subject had assured him that he would never have to put up any of his own money on the bets. Immediately after this, LUIS, brother of RAUL, came to GASPAR and demanded payment of the money. GASPAR told LUIS and RAUL of the understanding he had and he was not going to make any payment. Shortly thereafter, he was contacted by [REDACTED] SANTO TRAFFICANTE, JR. who told him that he understood he was engaged in gambling, and had lost a considerable amount of money and wanted to know the details. GASPAR furnished the details to [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] convinced him that he knew that GASPAR had been taken and not to worry about it that he would take care of it.

GASPAR, his brother, FANO, Dr. LOCICERO and [redacted] later had a meeting at Valencia Gardens Restaurant and again was assured by [redacted] that the matter would be taken care of. [redacted] indicated that LUIS CHARBONIER was behind the operation and he could take care of the debt for them. Thereafter LUIS again approached GASPAR reiterating previous statements that he had made regarding an individual by name of PUPI who was from New York, connected with the Union in New York, and was the individual who furnished the line and was described by LUIS as being behind the operation and he personally would see that the debt was taken care of.

b7c

On Oct. 8, 1970, GASPAR, while at his place of business, Temple Terrace Lounge, observed LUIS CHARBONIER and another individual who was later introduced to him as this PUPI and when approached them they told him that they were after the $8,000 that he should pay up immediately. At this time GASPAR observed three other Cubans enter the lounge and approximately 5 or 6 minutes he felt a gun in his ribs which was in possession of one of the other Cubans. The 5 individuals thereafter marched him out of the lounge, put him in an automobile and drove to Charpal Lounge. En route to the Charpal Lounge they beat him severely using the butt of the gun kicked him in the ribs, and used their fists on his face. GASPAR stated that after arriving at the lounge that they called his brother, FANO, who later came over, agreed to pay the $8,000 and he was released. On Thursday, Oct. 15, $8,000 was paid to RAUL CHARBONIER and since payment they have received a couple calls threatening further action against them.

Details concerning witnesses to the extortion and other individuals who may have possession of info regarding this will be set forth in the 302 of the interview with GASPAR CIACCIO.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 10/30/70

FANO CIACCIO, 3203 Perry Avenue, Tampa, Fla., was contacted at his residence and he advised that he is the brother of GASPAR CIACCIO and that they are joint partners in the ownership of the Temple Terrace Lounge as well as another package store in the Tampa area. He stated that he is a native of Tampa and has resided in Florida all of his life.

In regards to RAUL CHARBONIER, he stated that he has known him for the past five or six years as a fellow bar owner and that CHARBONIER operates the Char-Pal Lounge which is located on 49th Street and Busch Boulevard. Since May, 1970 up until October 8, 1970 he had only seen CHARBONIER on two or three occasions.

He was told by GASPAR, his brother, and Dr. FELIX LO CICERO, that they had been making bets with CHARBONIER and GASPAR told him that they had received a $1000.00 payment from CHARBONIER. He was personally told by CHARBONIER, date unrecalled, that when the football season started he, CHARBONIER, was going to cut him in and he could make a lot of money. FANO stated that he has never gambled, did not even consider the deal, and has never bet with CHARBONIER. Sometime in the latter part of August, his brother, told him that he had been contacted by [redacted] concerning the money that he, GASPAR, had lost while betting with CHARBONIER. He recalled that on Friday just prior to Labor Day, that he, his brother GASPAR, Dr. LO CICERO, and [redacted] had a meeting at the Valencia Gardens Restaurant and discussion was held with [redacted] regarding GASPAR's gambling loss. [redacted] told them that he would not pay a damn thing to the Cubans. Stated that they were Cuban trash and that he would take care of it. He told FANO not to worry that he definitely could take care of the gambling debt. Dr. LO CICERO at this time stated to [redacted] "In other words you can take care of the debt," and was told by [redacted] "this is right." It is FANO's recollection that this meeting took place at approximately 12:00 noon on the Saturday preceding the Labor Day since he recalled [redacted] stating that he had to go to the beach over Labor Day.

Date dictated 10/30/70

On October 8, 1970 at approximately 11:00 PM he received a call from PAUL CAPPOLINO, an employee of the Temple Terrace Lounge and was told by PAUL to come on down to the lounge because "Rough Neck was giving GASPAR a hard time." By this he knew that LUIS CHARBONIER, brother of RAUL CHARBONIER, was the individual whom PAUL was speaking about since LUIS had a nickname or was known by the name "Rough Neck." PAUL told him that it did not look good and that he should get down here immediately. He stated that he drove to the Temple Terrace Lounge where he met with PAUL, [REDACTED]. A few minutes after arriving at Temple Terrace Lounge he received a call from RAUL CHARBONIER in which RAUL CHARBONIER told him to come on down here to my place (Char-Pal Lounge) that someone wants to talk to you since they have your brother. He stated that he, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] drove to the Char-Pal Lounge and prior to leaving the Temple Terrace Lounge he picked up a pistol and put it under the front seat of his automobile. [REDACTED] drove to the Char-Pal Lounge, parked in the parking lot and all three got out of the car. [REDACTED] told him that if he walked in there he might get in trouble and that he, [REDACTED] would go into the lounge and tell RAUL CHARBONIER that FANO was there. [REDACTED] went in and both of the CHARBONIER brothers came out and told him to come on in the lounge. Prior to entering the lounge he observed blood on RAUL CHARBONIER's shirt and knew at this time that his brother was in trouble. He entered the lounge with the CHARBONIER brothers and was taken to the west end of the lounge and told to sit at a table. At the table LUIS and another individual whom they refer to as "PUPI" sat at the table and RAUL CHARBONIER was standing and walking around. RAUL CHARBONIER told him that his brother was in trouble and that these people wanted the money. Both PUPI and LUIS told him that his brother was in debt to them for $8,000 and wanted the money on Friday. He told them that tomorrow was Friday, that he could not raise the money this week at which time they agreed to let him raise the money and pay them on October 15, 1970. During the conversation, RAUL CHARBONIER made several statements to the effect that they can "bomb your place and put you out of business."

b6

PUPI told him that he would give him his brother back if he would give his word that they would get the $8,000.00. He told PUPI that he would give his word that he would get the money as he is a responsible man but wanted assurance that he would get his brother.

PUPI turned to RAUL CHARBONIER and told him that he did not know this fellow, meaning FANO, and that he was holding RAUL CHARBONIER responsible for getting the $8,000 for PUPI.

After this he left Char-Pal and he, [] and [] proceeded back to the Temple Terrace Lounge and in approximately 15 minutes GASPAR, his brother, returned to the lounge.

On Saturday morning, RAUL CHARBONIER called him and he was not home. He received a call from RAUL CHARBONIER at GASPAR's home and was told by him that these people are bad, from out of town, and they could blow his place up and put him out of business and he was not to say anything about it because they would lose their liquor license. FANO asked RAUL why he did this to his brother GASPAR, because his brother and RAUL CHARBONIER were very close. He was told that GASPAR was old enough to know what he was doing.

b6

On Thursday, October 13, 1970, he met with [] at D. C. Dioux Co. and during discussion with [] was told his brother owed the Cubans money and should pay them. He told them to pay the money and forget about it. He also told FANO that LUIS CHARBONIER was alright but that his brother was a no good "son of a bitch." He stated that [] completely reversed his former statements and now appeared to be on the side of the CHARBONIERs.

He had previously agreed to pay the money to the CHARBONIERs on Friday, October 16, but told RAUL that he would be able to make the payment on October 15. At approximately 2:00 PM on October 15 he started calling RAUL CHARBONIER's home and at intervals continued calling until approximately 4:00 PM. At 4:00 PM he placed a call to RAUL CHARBONIER's mother home and talked to RAUL CHARBONIER's father and was told that CHARBONIER had just left and was going home. He waited a few minutes and at approximately 4:30 telephonically contacted RAUL CHARBONIER and told him that he had the money. He told CHARBONIER that he was at the lounge and wanted to get together with with him. At this time CHARBONIER stated he did not want to meet at the lounge but would meet him outside on the patio. FANO told him that he had given him his word that nothing would happen and that RAUL CHARBONIER agreed to come over at 6:30 PM.

RAUL CHARBONIER came to the Temple Terrace Lounge at which time he told CHARBONIER that he wanted to have assurance that nothing would happen to his family or his brother and RAUL CHARBONIER promised that nobody would be hurt. CHARBONIER told him he did not want the police to know about it. FANO took the money and made him count the $8,000 which was all in $100 bills. RAUL CHARBONIER told him that they were waiting indicating PUPI, to catch the plane. At this time he invited FANO to attend a barbecue which they were having at the Char-Pal Lounge but he refused to accept the invitation.

On October 19, 1970 he met RAUL CHARBONIER at Touchstone Drug Store in a shopping center in Temple Terrace and he and RAUL CHARBONIER were sitting in a booth but before any conversation could take place, RAUL CHARBONIER's wife joined him and nothing was discussed.

On October 25, 1970 RAUL CHARBONIER called and said, "You and your brother are doing a lot of talking. FANO asked what he meant and RAUL CHARBONIER stated that FANO said that he, RAUL CHARBONIER, was buying stolen whiskey and the Federals are checking up on me and other boys." He further stated that if anything happened, they are coming after him. He asked FANO where he was getting the information and to tell his brother, GASPAR, to grow up and keep his mouth shut. Stated that nobody is supposed to know what happened and FANO told him that half of the people in Tampa know about it. He stated that he has not had any further contacts with RAUL CHARBONIER.

FANO was exhibited a group of photos which included the photo of [REDACTED] and EPIFANO C. TRAFFICANTE and COSME ROSADO. FANO, after viewing these photographs positively identified the photograph of COSME ROSADO as being identical with the individual that was introduced to him as PUPI at the Char-Pal Lounge.

GASPAR CIACCIO, 1209 W. Charter, was interviewed at the residence of his brother, FANO CIACCIO, at 3203 Perry Ave. and furnished the following information:

He advised that he and his brother, FANO, presently own the Temple Terrace Lounge as well as a package store located on Busch Boulevard in Tampa, Fla. He stated that he and his brother have operated the Temple Terrace Lounge for the past eight years and that his brother, FANO, operates the lounge during the day and he, GASPAR, is on duty in the evenings. At the present time they have a PAUL CAPPOLINO employed by them as well as [redacted] at the Temple Terrace Lounge.

He stated that he has known RAUL CHARBONIER, owner of the Char-Pal Lounge for the past 25 years, having grown up with him in Tampa, Fla. and has considered him to be a very close friend. He has known RAUL CHARBONIER's brother, LUIS, approximately the same period of time but has never been close to LUIS for the past two or three years. He stated that RAUL CHARBONIER visits with him almost on a nightly basis at either the Temple Terrace Lounge or he visits with RAUL CHARBONIER at the Char-Pal Lounge.

He recalled that latter part of May or first of June, 1970 he was approached by RAUL CHARBONIER in regards to placing bets on baseball games during the coming baseball season. RAUL CHARBONIER told him that he had a cousin in New York who was a big wheel in a union at the John F. Kennedy Airport who would furnish the "line" and there would be outstanding odds in favor of the bettor. He recalled that the cousin's name, according to RAUL CHARBONIER, was "PUPI," and that PUPI was to be released from prison in the very near future. RAUL CHARBONIER indicated that the odds that would be furnished to him and subsequently given to GASPAR, would be better odds than could be located anywhere in Tampa and it would be impossible to lose and that they could make a large amount of money. He told GASPAR that GASPAR would never have to put up any money, this was a sure thing and and they both stood to make a lot. GASPAR recalled as an example of the line that if New York would be playing a team that they would get odds of 20-13 whereas the local odds would probably be 15-13. RAUL CHARBONIER convinced him that he and his cousin in New York would only get the best baseball teams and the best odds and again told GASPAR that he would never have to invest any money and could not lose.

The proposition sounded so good that after discussing it with RAUL CHARBONIER he contacted a personal friend by the name of Dr. FELIX LO CICERO who RAUL CHARBONIER told him should also be in on the deal. The Doctor and he were joint partners in the venture and the winnings and losses if any, were to be shared equally. RAUL CHARBONIER also convinced the Doctor that he would never have to put up any money and because of the outstanding odds it was practically impossible to lose any money.

In June, 1970 the Doctor and he started to betting with RAUL CHARBONIER and quickly won between $7,000 and $8,000. In this regard had received a phone call from RAUL CHARBONIER every evening telling GASPAR what teams that they had and that the odds were also furnished to GASPAR. GASPAR usually would then relay this information to Dr. LO CICERO. According to GASPAR, there was no pick of teams but he was always furnished the team that he had by RAUL CHARBONIER and given the odds. From June up until the All Star Game they had received a total of $5,000 from RAUL CHARBONIER which was paid to he and the Doctor at the Temple Terrace Lounge and was in $100 bills. He recalled that the wrapper on the money indicated that the money came from the First National Bank of Tampa, Fla. GASPAR stated that on the All Star they were given the National League at 20-13 odds and they bet a total of $2500. They won and were paid $2500 even though this was not the correct payment according to the odds given them and they at this time realized that something was wrong. After winning the $2500 they again had run their winnings up to $7,000 or $8,000 and were wanting to be paid by RAUL CHARBONIER. RAUL CHARBONIER paid them $1000 in $5.00 and $10.00 bills and he recalled that these bills appeared to be old. After the All Star Game the odds seemed to reverse themselves and in the next two or three weeks they had lost all that they had previously won, paid back the $6000 and were now in the hole for what he assumed to be approximately $12,000 or $13,000.

In August, 1970 they stopped betting with RAUL CHARBONIER and have not placed any further bets. After they became indebted to RAUL CHARBONIER, he would call and come over demanding the money. This went on for approximately 2 or 3 weeks and RAUL CHARBONIER brought his brother, LUIS and LUIS told him that RAUL CHARBONIER was now out and that he was running the show and he wanted the money. GASPAR told him what RAUL CHARBONIER had promised him in regards to never having to put up any money and the fact that he had taken RAUL CHARBONIER at his word otherwise he would never have gone along with the betting. He stated that he, from talking to other individuals realized that he had now been taken and desired not to make any payments on this debt.

Sometimes just before Labor Day he was contacted by [] at his home on the phone and [] made arrangements to come and see him. He met [] for a short period of time and upon the initial contact [] asked him if he had been gambling. He knew immediately what it was about and explained to [] about the deal and [] told him the Cubans had him on the betting and he should not pay them but if it was the other way around and it was an Italian deal, he would have to pay.

[] told him that he personally was not supposed to come to see GASPAR, but that he, [] was supposed to send somebody else but since he knew GASPAR he came himself. He stated he was going to help him out but that they, indicating the Cubans, would leave him alone.

He stated that on the Friday prior to Labor Day that he, his brother, FANO, Dr. LO CICERO and [] had a meeting at the Valencia Gardens Restaurant and [] again convinced him as well as his brother, FANO, and Dr. LO CICERO that they should not pay the money and that he could take care of it.

He stated from this meeting with [] up until October 8, 1970 he had been contacted on numerous occasions by LUIS CHARBONIER and threatened and LUIS CHARBONIER has told him that he would see that his wife prostituted herself, killed the children and put him out of business.

On October 8, 1970, at approximately 11:00 PM LUIS CHARBONIER and another individual came into the Temple Terrace Lounge and sat in a booth. LUIS CHARBONIER told GASPAR that they wanted to see him and to come over to the booth. GASPAR told him that he was busy but would be over in a few minutes. He went to the booth, was introduced to an individual by name of PUPI and when he sat down PUPI stated that he wanted the money. GASPAR stated that he then realized that he was in serious difficulties but told them that he did not have the money at the present time. At this point a patron of the lounge came to him and told him that three other Cubans had just come in and he should be on the alert. He stated that he happened to look over where the Cubans were sitting and noticed one leave the booth and go toward the jukebox. After observing this man and immediately after, the next thing he recalled was that this individual had a gun in his ribs and that he had been surrounded by the other two Cubans who had entered with this third individual. These three Cubans and LUIS CHARBONIER with PUPI, marched him out of the lounge, took him across the street, to a service station where they had a car parked and put him in the back seat of this car. PUPI and one of the Cubans sat in the front seat and the other two Cubans were in the back seat with him. They immediately started hitting him in the face with their fists and struck him at least two occasions with the butt of the gun. Both of the Cubans in the back seat had guns with them at this time. From the Temple Terrace Lounge they proceeded to Char-Pal Lounge and while en route PUPI, who was driving the automobile, turned and slapped him across the face with his fist. When they arrived at the Char-Pal Lounge they told him to put his coat up high and to go directly to the backroom. Upon arriving at the lounge but before they entered he was still being "worked over" and he was able to hear one of the individuals make a statement in Spanish, "be careful you don't kill him, whereupon the other responded, "we could just take him and dump him in the waterfall across the street and the first individual said, "if we do that we wont get any money at all."

GASPAR stated that he recalled as he was being taken into Char-Pal Lounge that he observed an individual known to him as [redacted] or [redacted] who is an iron worker in Tampa, Fla. and is positive that [redacted] recognized and saw the individuals who took him in the lounge. GASPAR stated that he recalled [redacted] who is employed at Manger Inn and [redacted] (PH), were at his lounge and observed him being taken from the lounge at gunpoint. Also in addition to these individuals, [redacted] PAUL CAPPOLINO, and [redacted] were at his lounge and would have observed him being taken at gunpoint from the lounge.

b6

GASPAR stated that upon entering the Char-Pal Lounge he observed numerous customers and was taken directly to the space which Char-Pal utilizes for his office in a completely dark room and made to lay on the floor. While he was on the floor he was kicked by one of the individuals and both individuals in the backroom had guns on him. After being in the backroom for a few minutes he noticed that all of the customers had left from the front. He recalled that both of the individuals in the backroom observed someone in the front come in and they appeared to be excited and took the two guns and dropped them in a sink full of water. He saw his brother come in the Char-Pal Lounge and meet with LUIS and the individual whom he knew as PUPI. He was told that at no time was he to make any sound or start conversation. He heard LUIS CHARBONIER tell his brother that they wanted the $8,000 and heard his brother tell them that he was willing to pay but he wanted to be assured that his brother would be released. He stated that he also observed, in addition to LUIS CHARBONIER and PUP, RAUL CHARBONIER standing near his brother. After being in the lounge for a few minutes his brother left and evidently returned to the Temple Terrace Lounge and RAUL CHARBONIER took him, GASPAS, back to the Temple Terrace Lounge. He also stated that during the period that he was "in custody" of these individuals that LUIS and individual by name of PUPI, both spit in his face and actually participated in beating him.

At this point GASPAS stated that he recalled that when these individuals entered his lounge, the Temple Terrace Lounge, he realized that he was in trouble and called [REDACTED] told him not to bother him, that if he was in trouble to call the "locals."

Photographs of [REDACTED] Tampa Police Department # [REDACTED], EPIFANO C. TRAFFICANTE, Tampa Police Department #50331, [REDACTED] Tampa Police Department # [REDACTED] and COSME ROSADO, were given to GASPAS CIACCIO and he positively identified COSME ROSADO as the guy known to him as PUPI.

He furnished the following description of individuals participating in above:

#1, white male, about 30, 5'9", 180-190#, chubby build, baby face appearance, black hair, dark complected (individual that had ~~drawn~~ gun on him at Temple Terrace Lounge).

#2, white male, 5'6", to 5'8", 25 to 26, 140 to 150#, black hair, dark complected.

TP 166-1149

#3, white male, about 40, 6', husky build, dark blond hair.

In describing their clothing, CIACCIO stated that all individuals were neatly attired in dark suits or sports clothing and all wore shirts and ties.

He also recalled that as a result of the beating he had experienced, he had bled profusely and the interior of the car was a "bloody mess" and also that some of his blood had splattered onto the front of RAUL's shirt.

[In regards to JACK DE LA LLANA, he stated that he knows that DE LA LLANA is connected with the Intelligence Unit of the Tampa Police Department and that DE LA LLANA has been coming to the Temple Terrace Lounge for the past several years. He stated that DE LA LLANA always appears to have a large sum of money and on numerous occasions he has noticed him with $50 and $100 bills. He stated that he has no proof due to the close relationship between RAUL CHARBONIER and DE LA LLANA and he feels that DE LA LLANA in some way participated in the betting operation and is part owner of the Char-Pal Lounge since he observed him on numerous occasions at the lounge and also heard that DE LA LLANA took an extremely active part in the recent redecorating of Char-Pal Lounge, and reportedly hires and fires employees of the Char-Pal. He also stated that he understands that DE LA LLANA recently barbecued Italian sausages for guest of the Char-Pal Lounge along with DAVE GLASS, an employee of the State Beverage Department.]

GASPAR stated that after arriving back to Temple Terrace Lounge that he was taken to the University Community Hospital and a Dr. [redacted] took 21 stitches in the wound that he received from the beating with the gun. Since this he has been under the care of Dr. [redacted] also a plastic surgeon, for follow up treatment.

He stated that he has received information that [redacted] [redacted] in Belmont Heights, was betting with RAUL CHARBONIER and became indebted in approximate amount of $5,000.

b6
b7C

He also advised that since this time he has been contacted by COWBOY IPPOLITO at the Temple Terrace Lounge who was extremely upset that the Cubans would beat up an Italian and in the presence of JACK DE LA LLANA made the statement that we should take care of them.

On October 27, 1970 GASPAR CIACCIO made available a tape set forth below which he said that he prepared sometime after October 15, 1970 but does not recall the exact date that he prepared it.

My name is GASPAR CIACCIO. I live at 1209 W. Charter with [redacted] The following things which I am going to say are the events that happened to me on October 8, 1970, while I was at my place of business which is located at 8448 56th St., Temple Terrace, Fla. I have written down these things so my wife can remind me if I forget something while I am recording these things on the little recorder.

I work every night at the lounge, Temple Terrace Lounge, which I own and operate with my brother, FANO CIACCIO. On the evening of October 8, I was working with a girl and LUIS CHARBONIER came in with another fellow, LUIS CHARBONIER came in through the package store with another fellow, at approximately 11:00 or 11:30 PM. They came into the bar and LUIS, real tough, asked me for a drink and I said, "Wait a minute." "We haven't got time." I said, "Okay, LUIS." They ordered two drinks with this other fellow. They sat in the back lounge where there is an exit door. They sat at the table right next to the exit and waited a few minutes and I went back and said, "LUIS, what's the matter" and he said, "Well I want to talk to you about this debt you owe us" and I said "Okay, let me sit down." So I sat down and I said, "LUIS, who is this fellow?" and he says, "Who in the obscene do you think you are? It's none of your business who I am." I said, "LUIS, I wasn't dealing with you either, I was dealing with your brother, RAUL CHARBONIER." And LUIS says, "My brother doesn't have nothing to do with this" and I said, "Well he does. I was dealing with him, not with you, not with this other guy." This other guy said, "You're dealing with me now; RAUL hasn't got anything to do with this." I said, "But you're wrong, I was dealing with RAUL." LUIS says, "Well, you're dealing with us now." I said, "Well, I'm sorry," they said, "Well, let's go see RAUL." I said, "I'm not going to go see RAUL. I don't have nothing to do with this now. I'm busy, my lounge is full." In the meantime, [] that works for an electrical company, called me and said, "There's trouble isn't there?" "Well," I said, "You know LUIS, the one that came the other night with RAUL. He wants the money and I'm not going to give it to him." He said, "Well, GASPAS, watch out, you have trouble on your hands." I said "No, [] I think I can handle this." So I went back to the back of the lounge and sat down and this other guy said, "We're going to see RAUL and you're going to pay tonight." I said, "I haven't got the money, and RAUL knows I don't have the money because he told me that he promised me $50,000 in three months, that if I gambled with him, that the odds were good and all this kind of bull." I ate all this from RAUL and I told that to LUIS and I told that to this guy.

b7c

In the meantime [] calls me I had better watch out, three guys just came in the package store, one little thin guy, black hair, well-dressed, another guy, chubby, about 6' fat, another guy, dirty blond, tall, goodlooking guy came in the package store and sat, tough looking and [] knew I had troubles on my hands. So, [] said "You'd better call the law." I said, "No, I don't think these guys are all together." He said, "You'd better watch out." I said, "Okay []" so I went back to the table. When I went back to the table, this guy that was with LUIS said, "Are you going to go with us to see RAUL?" I said "No, I'm not going to go see anybody." He said, "You're a smart son of a bitch." I said, "No, I'm not smart, I'm just a little old guy. I don't want no trouble." So when I was sitting at the table talking to these fellows, [] called me again and as I was going back, this little fellow, he and his girlfriend, his name is [] and he works for I. W. Phillips, said, "GASPAS, you've got troubles back there." And I said, "No [] I know these boys," I meant LUIS, when I said these boys. [] said, "You'd better watch out, I think they're after you." He said, "There's three other guys that walked in that look tough." I said, "I know them, that's a bunch of crap."

Then I went to [] I just wanted to calm him down and a few other customers that were looking. That's why I told [] that I knew them but I didn't know them.

In the meantime I went back there and [] told me, "You're in trouble." I said, "No, []" so [] got the gun and there's PAUL CAPPOLINO there too, I think I mentioned his name. He hangs around there with me every night; he's a very good friend of mine and my brother. He's very trustful. He's an ex-cop from New York with 28 years service. He lives in Temple Terrace and he told me, "You'd better watch out." So I took for granted these three other guys but if I would have used my head, I should have called the law, that's what I should have done. Me, like a big shot, I went to sit down at the table. That is when LUIS told me, "Look, you obscene, we want the money." I said, "I haven't got it LUIS."

In the meantime, one of the 3 toughies that was sitting in the back of the lounge dance floor, got up, came to the jukebox, he looked around, turned to me at the chair I was sitting down, pulled the gun where nobody could see him from the door in other words and he said "Get up you mother obscene." I said, "What's the matter." He showed me the gun. I got up. I said, "What's matter?" He said, "You're going with us now." I said, "Where?" He said, "None of your obscene business." I said, "Okay, I don't want no trouble in here now, you understand." They got me, they took me outside through the backdoor. I'm walking out and there's a fellow I went to school with saw me walking out with them. His name is [] works for a plastic paper company in Port Tampa. I know [] real well; [] seen me. From the back I walked out the back door like I said, with them surrounding me. [] knew there was something wrong, so [] went right away. They had the gun on me and [] I think, saw the gun. I'm pretty sure because he ran and told PAUL. He told him, "They've got GASPAR." In the meantime [] and PAUL happened to look out the front door, seen me get in the car with these four guys. The ones that I don't know their names except one of the guys, the one that was sitting with LUIS, they call him "PUPI." He's related to them; he's a cousin of theirs.

They put me in the car. This car was parked across the street at the American Standard Service Station. Right across the street from our lounge. These four guys put me in the car like I said. LUIS got in his car, he backed up, I don't know what kind of car he had. I was already dazed. So LUIS gets in his car, stops at the stop sign. These four guys when they put me in the car they started beating me right then and there. We all got into the car and we went to the stop sign. From there LUIS took off and this guy, PUPI, was following LUIS all the way to Busch Boulevard and 56th Street. We got to the stoplight, they turned to the left. As we were going down one guy pulls out a gun and hits me across the head. The other one holds me in the back seat, the other two in the front stopped and they started beating me. The other guy hits me again with the gun, hits me in the head. The other guy hits me again on the head and the other says, in Spanish, "No, no, you're going to kill him, you're going to kill him." And I was saying, "Please, please, don't do this to me, I haven't done nothing wrong." He said, "Well, you're a no good Italian son of a obscene. You're not worth living in this world." In the meantime they're beating me from 56th Street all the way to RAUL's place, the Char-Pal, on Busch and 40th St., their place of business. They park in the parking lot. LUIS stops his car. This guy PUPI is driving the car. He gets out, this other toughie from the front gets out and there were two punks in the back seat and these two punks had two guns on me. They are watching me while they go inside and get RAUL.

In the meantime RAUL and LUIS and their cousin come back to the car. LUIS says, "This is the son of a bitch, RAUL, that doesn't want to pay us." And PUPI says, "Well this mother obscene is going to pay tonight." So I said, "Please RAUL, you see what they've done to me?" I said, "Call my brother, I haven't done nothing wrong. RAUL, you promised me you were going to make me a million dollars and these guys don't believe me." He says, "Well, I don't have nothing to do with that now." To show RAUL that they meant business and big shots like they were, they started beating me again. LUIS, with blood running on my face, I was bleeding like a pig, LUIS spit me in the face. This guy PUPI kicks me again. So they put me in the floor board of the back seat and they said, "Now you stay down." So they went back to the phone to call my brother. I figured this was about 12:00 PM.

So my brother gets all excited. He goes to the lounge. My brother goes to the lounge. In the meantime, let me go back now. When they get me in the car, PAUL and call Temple Terrace police and the tag number was 1E-7910 that PAUL had gotten. So I let that wait now. When they get me they made me wait in the car a little while and these two guys leave me in the car with 2 other guys, bleeding very badly, to make a phone call. I was bleeding all over this car. In the meantime, they go make the phone call and leave 2 guys at each door with guns. One of the guys says, "It won't pay us to kill this no good Italian son of a bitch, because if we do, we won't get our money." They wanted $8,000 and that's a bunch of crap. One of them said they were going to throw me in the river. Across the street from Busch, there's a little pond with water. One of them says, "You know what we should do? Is take him across the street and soak him and kill him. But that won't pay, we won't get our money." At this time the other three toughies came back. Four of them came back. They said, "Now get out of the car, you mother obscene." They said, "Put your coat over your head." By this time I had blood all over my shirt, tie, coat and handkerchief. They said, "If you see a certain individual who works for the Tampa Police Department, JACK DE LA LLANA, if you were to see him in there, keep your mouth shut and say you had a fight outside." They are personal friends with RAUL and LUIS. RAUL fixed his place inside and JACK helped him decorate the inside at night. In fact, I used to go there and help too. I said, "Don't worry I won't tell JACK nothing. I'll keep my mouth shut." They took me inside Char-Pal, RAUL's place, and we went all the way to the back to an office which is about 6' wide and about 30' long and they put me in there with the lights off. As I was walking in, this fellow that works for the iron union, his name is [redacted] he's a personal friend of mine, he hangs around my lounge. He asked me, "GASPAR, what's the matter with you?" I said, "Nothing happened to me." They marched me into the backroom and said "Now you sit down, you mother obscene" and all this time they had the guns on me all the time. They had the guns, I thought I was dreaming, I couldn't believe all this was going on. They sit me down on the floor, and started kicking me now. This guy PUPI, and LUIS, this big blond and the other three guys I think were outside watching.

b6

In the meantime they've got me back there and they're going to call my brother. Now I want to retract, when I left the lounge PAUL CAPPOLINO and [redacted] called my brother. They said, "FANO, they kidnaped your brother. Now get over here right now; it was LUIS, RAUL's brother, that was in here with another fellow. We don't know him." My brother got excited and ran to the lounge. So when he's at the lounge that's when RAUL when RAUL gets in the phone booth with his brother and this guy, PUPI, and they call my brother's house and talk to 5

[redacted] said, "No, RAUL, he's gone to the place because [redacted] called and said something is wrong over there." So RAUL must have waited a few minutes until he got ahold of my brother at the lounge, and RAUL told my brother, he said, "FANO, they are going to kill your brother if you don't pay up the money." He says, "Well, these guys here mean business, they're from New York." RAUL says, "You'd better come down to my place now because they mean business; they mean to kill him." My brother says, "Don't do nothing, RAUL, don't do nothing." So my brother takes off from the lounge. Let me go back now, PAUL calls the Temple Terrace Police. [redacted] or [redacted] comes over from the police department of Temple Terrace. PAUL tells him the whole deal, before my brother gets to the lounge. When the police gets there, this Lieutenant from the Temple Terrace Police, he asked PAUL what happened and PAUL tells him there were five tough guys in the back that got GASPARD and took him in a car. PAUL told them the number, it was 1E-7910. So they put a local call all over. A few minutes later was when RAUL called up the lounge and talked with my brother and then my brother or PAUL called the Temple Terrace police to cancel the call. Everything was all right, that I had gone to drink coffee. My brother was afraid they would kill me; that is why he cancelled the call to the police.

b6

While I was inside, like I said in the back, they were kicking me, they were threatening me, "Look, you mother obscene, if you don't pay us tonight your four kids, we know you have four kids, we're going to kill them or we're going to put them in a refrigerator and your wife is going to work for us. We'll show her the business. We'll show her how to work for us, she'll become one of us." I said, "You can't do that." That's when they kicked me on the side. I was on the floor. While I was in the backroom, they kept on and kept on that my brother was going to pay off tonight or they were going to kill me. I said, "My brother cannot get the money." So RAUL came back then and I said, "RAUL, please tell them that my brother will pay," and RAUL said, "No, I'm not going to pay for your debt." I said, "RAUL, you promised me this." This is when they started beating me again. I told RAUL, "Please, please," and he said, "No, I'm not going to pay it." I said, "But RAUL, you got to help me, these guys are killing me." He says, "No, you got into it, you get out of it." He said, "Your brother's going to pay for it. He's got the money." I said, "He doesn't have the money tonight, where is he going to get the money tonight?" He said, "That's tough. That's your baby, these guys will burn down your house tonight; they'll do anything to you tonight." I said, "RAUL, please, please."

In the meantime they're still hitting me but they won't put the lights on. They kept the lights off, they kept my head down and one of them would say in English, "What is he saying?" while I was telling RAUL in Spanish that they were killing me. He said, "That's your business, you got into it you get out of it now." I told these guys that RAUL got me into this and they didn't want to hear this. They said, "RAUL didn't get you into it, you got into it." I didn't know nothing about it. In the meantime, they wait on my brother because RAUL told them that "Your brother's coming, I just got a hold of your brother." I said, "Well, thank you RAUL, thank you." So we waited and waited. During this time, they were always hitting me, they never stopped, I was bleeding like a stuck pig, I mean a pig. So in the meantime, they're calling me all kinds of names, "You Italian son of a bitch, you don't belong to live here", and all this bull obscene.

They took me inside of the lounge and in the meantime RAUL runs everybody out of his lounge. His lounge is empty. In fact, the barmaid that works for him whom I didn't recognize, came into the backroom and she said, "Who's in here?" and I eased up and the guy said, "There's nobody in here, you get back outside." This guy wouldn't turn the lights on. I didn't say a word because he had the gun on my head all the time.. The gun was on my head, all the time I was laying on the floor like a damn fool, and they were just knocking the hell out of me. So the girl went outside again, into the bar. In the meantime my brother is supposed to be coming over. While I'm laying on the floor this toughie tells me, "Get up." I said, "All right, whatever you say, whatever you say." He says, "Let's go inside." So we went inside the lounge. He said, "Don't you move, don't you open your mouth." So we sat at a table next to a booth in the back and he has the gun on the table showing it to me. Everybody is out of the lounge now. There is nobody in there except the barmaid. So my brother comes in, but before my brother [redacted] comes in, RAUL runs to the door and says, "[redacted] get out." And [redacted] says, "Well, come on outside, RAUL, FANO is outside with [redacted] they are all outside." So my brother comes inside the lounge, I'm sitting at the back at the table, I see my brother come in. All these toughies are around me with guns and this particular one sitting by me said, "Don't you open your mouth while they're talking to your brother." I said, "Don't worry." [redacted] is outside, [redacted] is outside, they can't come in. So my brother comes in and says, "I'll put my hands on the table, now RAUL, tell me what happened." My brother sees RAUL's shirt full of blood and my brother automatically knew that I was in trouble. So my brother says, "Okay, RAUL, what's the trouble?" RAUL says, "Well, your brother got into a gambling debt with us." FANO says, "Well, RAUL, didn't you promise my brother the world?" RAUL says, "FANO, these boys mean business." He says, "You see my shirt?" He says, "These boys will kill your brother if you don't give them the money. My brother said, 'RAUL, whatever you say.' 'I'll get them the money.'" This guy, PUPI, said, "Now, RAUL, do you know this guy?" RAUL says, "Yes, I know him." PUPI says, "Is he good for the money?" He says, "Yes, whatever he says." PUPI says, "Well, let me tell you what, RAUL, I don't know him, I know you, RAUL." PUPI says, "This fellow here, I don't know him and you're gonna stand good."

b6

In the meantime they say Friday. My brother says, "Wait a minute, today is Friday. This was in Spanish. My brother says, 'Tell me in English so I can understand, I understand Spanish but I understand English better.' PUPI says, 'No, not today, we're going to give you one week to get the money, a week from Friday.'" So my brother said, "You don't mean this Friday, you mean next Friday." He says, "Yes, we're gonna give you a week to get the money."

In the meantime, I'm sitting in the back of the lounge and I'm watching the whole transaction and this hoodlum has got the gun on the table. Well, let me go back a few minutes. When my brother got there, they thought the Temple Terrace Police or Sheriff was there because they had put the alarm out that I was kidnaped. So when they saw all this commotion, these punks, hoods, got their guns, went behind RAUL's bar and they threw all the guns inside the water. They got scared. They all messed their pants. He told me not to open my mouth. He said, "I'll kill you right here." So that's when they got there and they made the transaction with him to get the money.

When my brother left, they took me to the backroom and started working me over again. They kept saying they wanted $8,000. It wasn't that much, but that's what they said they wanted. So they started kicking me again on the floor, they worked me over again. RAUL says, "Let me take him back." PUPI says, "No, we'll take him back." RAUL says, "No, no, no, let me take him back because I promised his brother that I would take him back if he would pay us the money next Friday." So these guys leave. RAUL says, "Come on, get in my car with me." So I said, "Okay, RAUL, I'll get in your car with you." So RAUL takes me back to the lounge and leaves me in front of the package store at about, I'd say 12:30 or 1:00AM or a little after.

I went inside the package store, I was bleeding and a bloody mess. My brother and everybody washed me up. I forgot to tell you. On the way back, RAUL was telling me, "Don't say nothing about this to JACK DE LA LLANA. Because you know him, he's a son of a bitch, he's this and he's that. All you tell him is that you had a fight like we told you from the beginning outside when we were taking you inside the lounge." I said, "But RAUL, do you see me, do you see me? The way that I am, how can I say anything." I was scared and I would not talk to RAUL. "RAUL, look what they've done to me." All he would say was, "I saved your life, I saved your life. I'm the one that did it. Nobody else wanted to listen to you." I said, "RAUL, I'm sorry, I don't understand what happened to me and I cannot believe it." All RAUL would say, "Give them the money, give them the money and it will all be over with. I told you that if these boys came from New York, they would do this to you." While this conversation is going on, RAUL says, "You know, if anything happens they'll take our liquor license away. Because you know you were gambling with me." I said, "Well, RAUL, how can they take my liquor license away from me when you're gambling, everybody does it every day." He says, "You know JACK, he's a son of a bitch, he's a bastard, but you know I treat him like a good friend of ours. He's your friend, too." I said, "Yes, he's a friend of mine, he hasn't done nothing to me."

When they washed me all up, my brother says, "You've got to go to the hospital, you've got to go to the hospital." I said, "No." I had ice packs on my head and my eye was as red as pepper. I was getting a black-eye and so [redacted] tells me, "Look, GASPAR, your brother is right. Go to the hospital, get a few stitches in your head and you'll be allright."

b6
b7c

I said, "Allright [redacted] I'll go but I want you to take me." [redacted] said, "Well, I'm going home now." PAUL said, "I'll stay here with FANO and we'll close up the place." My brother said, "Where are you going?" I said, "I'm going to the University Community Hospital, 31st someplace near Fletcher." So we took off.

b6

As soon as we got to the hospital, the receptionist asked me what had happened and I told her, "Young lady, all that happened to me was that I happened to fall against a car after I had had too much to drink." She says, "But that black-eye and bruise doesn't jive with that." So I said, "Well, I'm sorry but that's what happened to me." She said, "What's your name?" I told her and she said, "Let me see your driver's license." I said, "Do I have to show you my driver's license?" She says, "Yes." I said, "Okay." She said, "How do you pronounce your last name?" I said, "CIACCIO, GASPARD CIACCIO." She said, "All right." She said, "Do you want this internist to fix your head?" I said, "Let me see," and brought a mirror. She said, "You're going to have some stitches." So I told her, "Wait a minute, I want somebody that knows what he's doing." She said, "I don't blame you." She asked me if I knew any plastic surgeons and so Dr. [redacted] came to my mind, [redacted] I believe is his right name. I said "Let's call him up." She said, "All right." So they called [redacted] but he wasn't on duty that night so they had his partner, I think his name was [redacted]. Something like that, a very young doctor. So we got to the hospital, like I said, it must have been about 2:00AM. The doctor finally got there about 3:00 AM I would say. So he called me, the nurse put me on the stretcher, I mean on the bed in number 2 operating room, whatever you call it. They laid me down and told me I would have to have a tetanus shot. I said, "Give me something where I won't have any reaction."

The Doctor said, "How could you get a bump on your head and get a black-eye? Are you sure you didn't get in some kind of trouble? On the report I see you own the Temple Terrace Lounge." I said, "Doc, it's one of those things, I had too much to drink." I said, "It was one of those nights, I was celebrating." He said, "Okay." He took about 45 minutes to sew my head up. They had to go inside my skull and then get the skin on the outside, stitch that up. The doctor said, "Now tell me the truth." He said, "What happened?" I said, "Well I just fell down." So he said, "Okay, I'll take your word for it."

He says "I think something else happened to you." I said, "Okay Doc, tell me something, how about these bruises on my right side by my ribs. It hurts me." He said, "Yes, its black and blue already. He says, "Let me check it for you." So he checked my lungs and wanted me to spit up so I did. He said, "You had a fight." I said, "Well, sort of. Somebody got in trouble but I didn't want to say anything to the hospital about it because they might not admit me." He said, "I understand, when you own a lounge you get into trouble, bla bla." He said, "spit up again, so he made me clear my lungs but they still weren't cleared up. He said, "You got a good bruise, it's going to take a couple of weeks." He said, "Now let me check your left eye." It was red already, it was like a pepper. He said, "Well, that's going to take a couple of weeks to clear up also." He said, "You're going to have to take care of yourself, I know you have a bad cold." He says "There's nothing wrong, your lungs are okay. You're just going to have to take care of yourself." I paid my bill at the hospital, my bill was $32.00. [] took me back to the lounge.

Well, my brother came to the hospital before we left, we talked outside for a few minutes. [] took me back to the lounge to my car.

I want to go back to a few things. JACK DE LA LLANA has been coming by my place. I think it was Friday. He asked my brother, He said, "Where is GASPAS?" My brother said "He's at the beach." He said, "What do you mean?" He said "Yes, my brother didn't take a vacation this year so he went to the beach with his family, his wife and kids." JACK said, "okay." That's the deal there. I think Saturday he came back to the lounge and he says, "Hey, FANO, where's GASPAS?" My brother says, "Oh, he's going to take another couple days off at the beach." So, he asked my brother to do him a little favor. My brother did what he asked him to, make a phone call for him, something like that. I don't want to say.

By this Dr. LO CICERO meant the interior of the lounge where the customers sit.

He stated that in August, 1970 he quit betting with RAUL CHARBONIER since they had become indebted to RAUL CHARBONIER in the amount of approximately $16,000.00 and in addition to this they had paid back all the money that they had previously won. He recalled making a payment in the last week of August since he was contacted by RAUL CHARBONIER and told that they had to have the money and he made this payment just before he went on vacation. From August to October 8, 1970 he did not make any additional payments to RAUL CHARBONIER.

Dr. LO CICERO advised that after receiving the call from RAUL CHARBONIER on October 8, 1970 he called the Temple Terrace Bar and was told by someone that something had happened to GASPAR and this on top of the threat received from RAUL CHARBONIER, further concerned him and was responsible for him staying up all night. [redacted] was interviewed at his residence, [redacted] and made available the following information:

[redacted] advised he has known GASPAR CIACCIO and FANO CIACCIO, owners and operators of the Temple Terrace Lounge for practically his entire lifetime and for the past two years or so has considered himself to be a steady customer at the Temple Terrace Lounge making visits to that location practically on a daily basis.

He also advised that he has become fairly well acquainted with RAUL CHARBONIER, owner of Char-Pal Lounge, during this past two years period although he commented that prior to that time he was aware of CHARBONIER's identity and had seen him around town from time to time. With regard to LUIS CHARBONIER, he stated he could not recall ever having met with this individual although here again, he was aware of his identity.

b6

From his exposure to the aforementioned individuals it had always been his feeling that they were well acquainted with one another, not only on a business but social level as well and could certainly be considered as friends of one another.

Earlier this year he recalled that GASPAR CIACCIO had told him about a betting arrangement which he had with RAUL CHARBONIER. As it was explained to him, CHARBONIER had indicated he was doing GASPAR a favor as he was aware of the fact that GASPAR had befriended several individuals by co-signing several notes amounting to several thousand dollars for these friends and apparently RAUL indicated that his betting setup would be a sure thing where he could make anywhere from $25,000 to $40,000. GASPAR indicated that he personally did not think that in view of their existing friendship that RAUL would lie to him and this was the same position or feeling held by [redacted]

by SAS JAMES S. KINNE & ROBERT K. BURESH:RKB;ad Date dictated 11/2/70

[] stated that once this betting got underway which incidentally involved only baseball games, to the best of his knowledge, he, [] had been on the premises at the Temple Terrace Lounge on numerous occasions when RAUL CHARBONIER would actually make an appearance and discuss the selections and odds of baseball games with GASPAR. He recalls that CHARBONIER in conversation about this betting repeatedly made reference to his cousin "up North" in such a manner that [] felt he was actually the one that was behind this operation.

After a while [] began to question this betting procedure as it appeared that GASPAR did not have the opportunity to making his personal selections but rather it was CHARBONIER who specifically told him what selections had been made and the existing odds. It was not until sometime later that [] was made aware of the fact that this was a joint betting venture that also involved an acquaintance of GASPAR's namely, Dr. FELIX LO CICERO.

b6

[] stated that while being unable to recall the specific date it was the odds on this one game that led him to be strongly convinced something was wrong: In this instance the St. Louis Cardinals were playing the Atlanta Braves at Atlanta, Ga. PHIL NIEKRO(Atlanta's #1 pitcher) was slated to start and the Cardinals were going with a "Rookie" however, the odds on this particular game were still St. Louis two to one.

It was [] recollection that at first GASPAR and Dr. LO CICERO were winning however, almost overnight they started losing consistently. Throughout this entire activity RAUL CHARBONIER had been continually telling and impressing upon GASPAR that he could not lose and recalled one statement made by CHARBONIER to the effect that "if you lose, which you can't, don't worry about it, because I'll pay."

[] also recalled one occasion, exact date unrecalled, when all of the selections won for GASPAR and later that same date RAUL called GASPAR and informed him that by an oversight, he had given them the wrong side of the bets which meant that all of the winners changed to losers.

[] stated that at one time when the winnings had been run up to an amount of $7,000 he had personally accompanied GASPAR to the Char-Pal Lounge to discuss this entire activity. GASPAR's brother, FANO, kept trying to talk GASPAR out of further participation and [] himself when learning that GASPAR and Dr. LO CICERO had actually lost $7,000 that had been paid to them and were $14,000 or so "in the hole" he tried to emphatically impress on GASPAR to quit this betting as he certainly did not need this. It was apparent in [] mind that RAUL had really "screwed" GASPAR on the odds but was successful in having GASPAR get involved and continue to participate probably because of the fact that RAUL is a "good talker" to the extent he even had [] fooled.

A short time before his beating GASPAR had informed [] that he had no intention whatsoever of paying off this debt and had so informed RAUL, however, even [] did not really think that anybody would resort to strong-arm tactics.

b6

With regards to the physical beating experienced by GASPAR CIACCIO, he advised the following which he said had definitely occurred on a Thursday evening, approximately three weeks ago.

[] had been at the Tampa Greyhound Track, returned to his residence to change clothing and cleanup and thereafter proceeded to the Temple Terrace Lounge. As soon as he drove his car into the lounge parking lot, [] --- a young blond-haired boy, who is a steady patron, came running out of the bar and immediately informed him that five "guys" had taken GASPAR from the bar just a short time earlier. At this point [] made the statement that [] had been aware of GASPAR's previous betting activities. [] identified only one member of this group by name, that being RAUL CHARBONIER's brother, LUIS, and went on to describe the other "guys" as looking like "professionals." Upon hearing this [] went inside the bar and was immediately confronted by PAUL CAPPOLINO, an employee of the lounge, asking that [] do him a favor. CAPPOLINO said "don't get excited, just check out this license number." [] stated he was unable to recall the specific number other than to state the first number was "7" and it was a blue car. After this, [] and [] drove to the Char-Pal Lounge and onto the parking lot where they both observed the car in question to be parked on the lot. He recalled that

[] said it was a Ford, dark blue in color, however, [] could not identify the specific make as he was primarily concerned in verifying the number and quickly determined there were no individuals in the car. Finding this out, they immediately returned to the Temple Terrace Lounge and their arrival was almost simultaneous with that of FANO CIACCIO. When the passed on the information that the car in question was parked at the Char-Pal, FANO requested that [] and [] accompany him to that address, however, prior to their departure, FANO received a telephone call from RAUL CHARBONIER. [] was only able to hear parts of this conversation and was informed of the remainder by FANO CIACCIO wherein RAUL stated this matter was "out of his hands." FANO, in a manner, pleaded with RAUL as to why he had allowed his brother to become so deeply indebted as a result of his betting activities and RAUL's answer was "Your brother is no baby."

[] recalls the threesome, which included FANO, [] and himself left the Temple Terrace Lounge and proceeded to the Char-Pal located on Busch Boulevard and 40th Street sometime between 12:30 and 1:00 AM driving to that location in FANO's station wagon. He recalled that FANO had taken a gun of unrecalled description with him but had left the gun in the car. Upon arrival at the Char-Pal, FANO requested [] go inside to see whether RAUL was on the premises and if so, inform him that FANO wanted to speak with him. [] stated that as he entered the bar he had proceeded only about five or 10 feet when RAUL grabbed his arm, turned him around and said, "Don't get involved," after which time [] informed him that FANO was outside and wanted to see him. [] advised that due to the fact the interior of their bar is dimly lit and he only had an opportunity to take a quick glance at the persons inside, he could offer no positive identifications whatsoever other than to state there was a female barmaid behind the bar and four or five individuals at the bar whom he described as "unusual" in the sense that they were all wearing business suits, shirts and ties.

As he and RAUL were proceeding to the location where FANO was standing he had an opportunity to notice blood spots on the front of RAUL's shirt and when RAUL approached FANO, he also made this same observation. FANO immediately asked "Where's my brother" and by this time RAUL's brother, LUIS, had come out of the bar and as [] described it, had a "wild look" on his face and directed a statement to the group "Talk to them-- talk to them--- it is out of our hands." After this RAUL told FANO to go inside to talk to "these guys" and informed [] and [] that they stay outside. At this point [] openly made the statement to FANO that if he was not out in 30 minutes, he, [] would call the police.

As instructed [] stated that he and [] remained outside and related that [] who was apparently frightened, over this entire situation, walked out to the "divider or safety island" that separates east from westbound traffic on Busch Boulevard and remained standing there. While FANO was inside, [] observed that one of the persons inside was peering through the package store window in such a manner that [] could only vaguely describe this individual as Latin or Italian, about 5'6", 130# to 140#, with a heavy head of black hair.

A short while later FANO exited the bar as did RAUL CHARBONIER. As they were getting into the car and ready to leave this location, RAUL directed the statement to [] and [] "You didn't see anything." [] stated that he did not acknowledge RAUL's statement other than to stare at him however, recalls that [] said "I didn't see anything." The threesome returned to the Temple Terrace Lounge and en route FANO had told them that in discussion with RAUL, LUIS and a "stranger" he had guaranteed them the money reportedly owed them in exchange for the safe return of his brother and FANO further made the statement that RAUL was going to bring FANO's brother, GASPAS, back to the lounge.

Approximately 35 to 40 minutes later which would be around 1:30 AM, GASPAS walked into the lounge by way of the package store and all openly observed the fact that his clothing was drenched with blood, his eyes were red and puffed and that he had a deep cut in his forehead. It was obvious to [] and FANO that GASPAS needed immediate medical treatment, however, he was reluctant to go, but agreed to after [] and FANO insisted and practically demanded that he receive such treatment.

[] stated he drove GASPAS to the University Hospital and upon their arrival GASPAS made telephone calls to Dr. FELIX LO CICERO and another acquaintance, Dr. [] and as an end result it was decided that Dr. [] a plastic surgeon, and associate of Dr. [] would proceed to the hospital. While they were waiting for Dr. [] arrival, [] advised that GASPAR, speaking in Italian, proceeded to tell him about the entire series of events that had taken place earlier that evening.

GASPAR talked of being forced to leave his business establishment at gunpoint as well as the extensive physical beating and pistol whipping that was administered to him. He also talked of threats that were leveled, not only to himself but to his family to the effect that "his wife was nothing but a bitch, that they could force into working for them---his kids could end up in a freezer---that they could even bomb his place." He stated that adding insult to injury the one time when they were beating him, LUIS CHARBONIER spit in his face and called him "a no good Italian son of a bitch." GASPAR also commented that RAUL had made the statement to the other individuals involved that he felt he could guarantee that the doctor would pay but he could not be sure of GASPAR.

[] also had one further recollection that GASPAR had informed him that as he was being taken into Char-Pal's, he, GASPAR, had observed a frequent patron of the Temple Terrace Lounge leaving this bar. [] said he could not recall this person's name but that this individual had asked GASPAR what seemed to be the trouble and GASPAR, not wanting this person to become involved, merely said, "never mind" and proceeded on.

During the time GASPAR was receiving medical treatment at the hospital, FANO had appeared on the scene and upon completion of the treatment the threesome of FANO, GASPAR and himself further discussed this matter outside of the hospital. GASPAR kept repeating the statement "I can't believe what happened," but he continued to talk about refusing to pay this gambling debt. FANO said that due to the threats that were leveled at his brother and family, he was definitely going to take steps to pay them the demand of $8,000.

[] thereafter drove GASPAR back to the lounge where GASPAR had left his car. As result of the beating [] recalled that GASPAR did not work for a period of a week or 10 days and while he specifically asked him not to talk about what had transpired, it almost immediately became common discussion among patrons of the Temple Terrace Lounge as well as the other locations.

[] stated that aside from having been told by GASPAR that one of his customers named [] had become aware of his being in trouble at the Temple Terrace Lounge on the evening in question and had almost taken steps to intercede in GASPAR's behalf, this same individual had openly made this information available to []

FANO had personally informed [] that he was going to pay the $8,000 and subsequent to the payoff, made known this money was turned over to RAUL CHARBONIER and FANO had further related that it appeared RAUL was afraid to come over and pickup the money as FANO had experienced considerable amount of difficulty in locating RAUL on the date agreed upon for payment.

b6
b7C

[] stated that he was at the Temple Terrace Lounge on a Monday evening, approximately one week ago, when [] and "COWBOY" IPPOLITO appeared at the bar. There was no question in [] mind that they were fully aware of what had happened to GASPAR CIACCIO as they were "definitely mad" and making the statements "They would have never paid them a dime" and also "Don't be surprised if they don't try and hit you again because you paid off so easy before." [] also recalled on this same evening JACK DE LA LLANA, a lifetime friend of [] and known to be employed in the Intelligence Unit, Tampa Police Department, also came into the bar. Upon observing his presence, [] and IPPOLITO immediately changed their conversation from the beating to other matters.

[] described DE LA LLANA as a frequent patron of the Temple Terrace Lounge and also known to be a close associate of RAUL CHARBONIER and believed to spend a good bit of time also at CHARBONIER's bar.

[] stated that since the beating he could not recall one instance when DE LA LLANA made any mention whatsoever about what had happened although he personally felt that DE LA LLANA certainly had to have knowledge of this matter. [] could only assume that DE LA LLANA was taking this "no comment" stand because it had pitted two friends against one another and DE LA LLANA did not want to get involved or take sides.

[] advised he has seen DE LA LLANA possibly two or three times since the beating and about a week or 10 days ago DE LA LLANA had come into Temple Terrace Lounge, made known the fact he had lost the keys to his car and requested that [] drive him to the Tampa Police Department headquarters in order that he obtain a duplicate key. [] felt certain that DE LA LLANA would definitely make mention of the beating or ask [] what he knew about this, however, not one word along these lines was mentioned or commented upon.

b6
b7C

[] stated that while he could be completely wrong, he personally felt JACK DE LA LLANA has no interest in the Char-Pal other than the friendship which exists between he and RAUL CHARBONIER.]

In regards to the beating administered to GASPAR CIACCIO, here again, it was his personal feeling that this was not "local talent" that was utilized and he strongly felt that these individuals were probably brought in from out of town.

[] also recalled that a female named [] LNU who is employed at the Manger Motor Inn, frequently stops at the Temple Terrace Lounge and [] held the belief that she was in the lounge on the night that these individuals took GASPAR out, however, he could not be certain whether she had been there before, during or after this event.

Date 11/2/70

PAUL CAPPOLINO was advised of the identities of the interviewing Agents and of the nature of the interview. He then voluntarily provided the following information:

On Thursday night, October 8, 1970, at approximately 11:10 P.M., CAPPOLINO was working at the Temple Terrace Lounge Package Store and two men walked in through the package store and into the Lounge. The first man appeared to be leading the second and appeared to know his way around this building. CAPPOLINO said that both men were wearing tan suits, had dark kinky hair and appeared to be twins, approximately forty years of age, five feet eleven inches to six feet tall, and 190 to 200 pounds. CAPPOLINO turned to a customer, [redacted] last name unknown, and asked who these two men were and [redacted] said he did not know. He then looked into the Lounge and saw the two men seated at a table in the rear near the back door. They had asked GASPAR CIACCIO (owner and bartender) to sit with them.

b6

[redacted] told CAPPOLINO that three other men who were then sitting at a table next to the dance floor, had also come in at the same time these two men came in, these three having entered through the Lounge front door, and it appeared that all five of these men were together. CAPPOLINO said he could not distinguish what these men looked like, as it was too dark in the Lounge. Later, however, while sitting at the bar, one of these men came out of the men's room and stood next to CAPPOLINO and appeared to be listening to CAPPOLINO's conversation with the barmaid. He described this individual as a white male, Latin in appearance, age 30 to 32, five feet nine inches, 170 pounds, dark hair, clean-shaven, hair neatly combed back, pale skin, wearing a light checkered suit with shirt and tie. He said he believed he might recognize this individual if he saw him again.

CAPPOLINO said that during this period, he was taking care of customers in the package store and walking back into the Lounge while not busy. He said GASPAR sat with these two men for a while and then came into the package store, saying,

"I think I'm in trouble -- these guys want to push me around". CAPPOLINO asked GASPAR if he needed any help and GASPAR replied, "No, I think I can smooth it off". CAPPOLINO then went outside the building to look for any strange cars and saw a car backed up close to his in the American service station next door to the Lounge. He walked over to this car and felt the hood, determining that the engine was still warm and then noted the license tag on a piece of paper, tag number 1E-7910. He returned to the package store and GASPAR came back to him, advising he "thinks everything will be okay".

At approximately 25 minutes to midnight, [] opened the package store door, and looking outside, then told CAPPOLINO to call the police. CAPPOLINO stated he looked out the peak hole in the window and saw a group of men getting into the car, whose licences number he had just checked. He then walked out of the building and watched the car drive away north on 56th Street and then west on Busch Boulevard.

CAPPOLINO called the Temple Terrace Police Department and told them to dispatch a car immediately to the American service station. Two police cars came, one man in each car, and one officer introduced himself as Lt. [], approached CAPPOLINO and was told that five men had left with GASPAR. The lieutenant asked if they had done anything wrong or committed any crime and CAPPOLINO advised that they had not, to his knowledge, whereupon the officer told him he could take no action. The police left, at which point another customer, [] last name unknown, advised that GASPAR was taken out against his will, and [] entered and [] said that five men took GASPAR out the rear door of the Lounge, one in front, one on each arm and two in the rear. He said he believed that one of these individuals was the brother of the owner of the Char-Pal Lounge.

CAPPOLINO then called the Temple Terrace police again and spoke with Lt. [] advising him that GASPAR had been taken against his will by five men and asking the police to put out an alarm for him.

[] at CAPPOLINO's suggestion, then got into his car and drove to the Char-Pal Lounge, having with him a description and the license tag number of the car in which these individuals had driven away, and returned shortly after, advising CAPPOLINO that the car was now at the Char-Pal. CAPPOLINO then called Lt. [] and advised him that the car was at the Char-Pal and Lt. [] said that he had sent one car to the Char-Pal and one to the University Restaurant.

CAPPOLINO said he called GASPAS's brother, FANO CIACCIO, told him the story, and FANO arrived at the Temple Terrace Lounge shortly thereafter and picked up two customers, [] and [] last name unknown, advising CAPPOLINO they were going to the Char-Pal Lounge.

Approximately one hour later, the three of them came back and within fifteen or twenty minutes, CAPPOLINO responded to a knock on the package store door and found GASPAS at the door. CAPPOLINO said that the package store closes at 12 midnight and it was now about 1:30 A.M. He said GASPAS was taken to his office behind the package store and had a face covered with blood, as was his shirt, suit and tie. CAPPOLINO noted that he had approximately a one-inch cut bleeding profusely from his forehead; another cut bleeding in the back of his head and his left eye was severely swollen. GASPAS cleaned up and was given some ice packs and at approximately 2 A.M., [] and [] drove him to the University Community Hospital. FANO stayed with CAPPOLINO at the Lounge until 3 A.M., closing time, at which time CAPPOLINO went home.

b7C

CAPPOLINO advised that he had been told that GASPAS was betting on baseball games with RAUL CHARBONAIR, owner of the Char-Pal Lounge, and CAPPOLINO has seen RAUL at the Temple Terrace Lounge talking with GASPAS and a Dr. FELIX LO CICERO, on numerous occasions prior to this incident. He said that GASPAS had told him that Dr. LO CICERO was also betting with RAUL.

CAPPOLINO was unable to recall what other customers may have been present at the Temple Terrace Lounge when this incident occurred and said the only other employee was a waitress, [] last name unknown, who is no longer employed there.

Date 11/3/70

[redacted] was interviewed at his residence, [redacted] at which time he was advised of the identities of the interviewing Agents and he was told that they were investigating an alleged incident that occurred with GASPAR CIACCIO.

Mr. [redacted] advised that he is acquainted with GASPAR CIACCIO and his brother, FANO CIACCIO, as he is divorced and spends some of his time in local bars, particularly on weekends. He stated he has been dating a woman in Temple Terrace and has been patronizing the Temple Terrace Lounge since about January, 1970.

He stated he has not been going in there as much recently because he felt that since he was a good customer in there, the house should be buying him more drinks than they did and he has not gone in as frequently as he used to go in.

b6

He also advised he frequently goes to the Char-Pal Lounge and has been going there for the past few months. He stated he knows RAUL CHARBONAIR, who operates the Char-Pal and also knows his brother, LOUIS.

He was questioned as to whether or not he was aware that GASPAR CIACCIO had suffered an injury recently and he stated he was. He was asked what information he had concerning this and he said that he had noted GASPAR's absence from the Temple Terrace Lounge several weeks ago because he was in there at night and FANO was running the bar and he normally only works during the daytime. He asked someone where GASPAR was and was told that he was on vacation. [redacted] thought this was strange, as he knew GASPAR had had two weeks vacation not too long before that and he made some further inquiry and was told by someone that GASPAR had been beaten.

[redacted] stated he could not recall who told him this, but he thought no more of it, thinking that some husband had probably caught GASPAR with his wife and had given him a beating.

by SAS JOHN A. AMBLER and
JOHN R. BRETT:JRB/nh Date dictated 11/3/70

When questioned as to whether or not he might have been at the Char-Pal Lounge on October 8, 1970, he advised that Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights were his usual nights out and if October 8, 1970, was a Thursday night, he might very likely have been at the Lounge. He stated he could not recall any unusual occurrence at the Lounge that night, could not recall seeing GASPAR CIACCIO there any time in the past few weeks, did not recall seeing a group of men at the Char-Pal on that night, nor did he recall the bar being closed early or cleared of its customers at any time.

He was also asked if he was at the Char-Pal Lounge on October 15, 1970, and he again stated he could well have been there if it were a Thursday night. He was reminded that there could have been a barbecue, at which time sausage was cooked and he stated he was there the night they had barbecued Italian sausage for the customers. He stated there had been a band in the Lounge that night which is not unusual, as they sometimes bring a band in for Thursday, Friday or Saturday nights. They had also cooked this sausage and had served it to all the customers at the bar that night. When questioned as to who was present during that barbecue, [] said all he could say was "just people". He stated there was the usual number of bar customers present and he could not recall anyone particularly. He advised he does not know [] and does not know whether he was present and could not recall that GASPAR or his brother, FANO, was present.

He was questioned as to whether or not he is acquainted with JACK de la LLANA and he stated he did not know him. He was asked if he knew a policeman who is frequent the Char-Pal Lounge, and he advised there is a policeman who is frequently at the Lounge, but he knows him as [] (last name unknown). He described [] (last name unknown) as tall, maybe six feet, approximately 185 pounds, dark complexion, Latin appearance, wears glasses, sometimes clear and sometimes dark glasses, perhaps about 38 years of age. He could not recall who cooked the sausage the night of the barbecue and could not recall whether or not [] (last name unknown) was present and whether or not he did any of the cooking.

TP 166-1149

He advised the Char-Pal will usually have a couple of barmaids plus a couple of waitresses on the weekend nights, although Thursday nights are not as busy as Friday and Saturday nights and there may be only three girls present on a Thursday night.

He advised he had never seen or heard of any type of gambling taking place either at the Char-Pal Lounge or the Temple Terrace Lounge and had never heard of the CHARBONAIRS or the CIACCIOs being involved in any gambling activity. He stated further he did not know what the relationship was between the CIACCIO brothers and the CHARBONAIR brothers and he could furnish no further information concerning the injury suffered by GASPAR CIACCIO.

Subsequent investigation determined that the rental car was rented by subject CASEY ROSADO from Hertz. The vehicle in question was recently transported from Tampa to Miami, Fla.

According to the Tampa Office the victim reportedly bled profusely in the back seat of this automobile as a result of this beating.

On 11/6/70, the vehicle bearing Fla. plate 1E7910 was examined at the Hertz Rental Agency, 2181 N.W. 39th Avenue, Miami, Fla. Both the front and rear mats were observed to bear stains of undetermined origin. Color photographs of both the interior and exterior of this vehicle were taken and will be forwarded to the Tampa Office as soon as possible in order that they may be exhibited to the victims.

The FBI Laboratory is requested to contact appropriate examination in an effort to determine whether there are blood stains on these car mats.

It is requested that the results of this examination be furnished to the New York and Tampa Offices and the mats may be disposed of and not returned to the Miami Office.

"AS WE HEARD IT"

FLASH... whispered rumors have it that a big "stink" will break here within two weeks and the mixed ingredients are: A well known Tampa bar owner, badly beaten; FBI checking "kidnapping" caper; subpoenas being served for federal grand jury probe of the matter... and the big question is a high city policeman indirectly involved?

Are State Attorney Joe Spicola's investigators also checking out the allegations?

FLASH... Rumors from within Tampa's gambling fraternity seem to suggest that the federal people are interested, once again, in the gambling situation here and that a federal grand jury may probe into betting activities here... possibly starting November 17th.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 11/2/70

DAVID E. GLASS, residence address 1380, Virginia Avenue, Bartow, Florida, (telephone No. 533-2066), employed as an Intelligence Officer for the State Beverage Department, Tallahassee, Florida, was interviewed at the State Beverage Department Office, Tampa, Florida, which facilities are located in the Legal Center Building. SA's [redacted] and ROBERT K. BURESH identified themselves to GLASS and advised him of the fact this interview concerned gambling and related matters, involving persons affiliated with the Temple Terrace Lounge, and the Char Pal Lounge, Tampa, Florida. He was also furnished an "Interrogation, Advice of Rights" form which he read, indicated that he was in full understanding of its contents, and thereafter signed same. At this point, he stated he would offer his full cooperation and assist in any way possible.

GLASS advised having known GASPAR and FANO CIACCIO, Owners and Operators, of the Temple Terrace Lounge, for approximately the past two years, and also knowing RAUL CHARBONIER, Owner of the Char Pal Lounge, for the same period of time; however, commented that prior to this interview, had never known RAUL's last name. When asked if he knew RAUL's brother LOUIS, he advised that this individual is completely unknown to him.

GLASS advised that in all of the time he has known the aforementioned persons, he was not personally aware, nor did he receive, any information to indicate these persons were involved in betting or bookmaking activities of any description.

He stated that prior to this date, he was not aware of the fact that GASPAR CIACCIO had recently been the victim of a physical beating and pistol whipping, or the identity of any persons that may have been involved or responsible for same.

GLASS recalled last seeing GASPAR CIACCIO at the Temple Terrace Lounge about two or possibly three weeks ago. Shortly before that time, he had stopped at the lounge but was informed that GASPAS was vacationing at the beach. At the time of this last meeting, GLASS stated that he had no recollection of having observed any noticeable scars or cuts on GASPAS, but did recall GASPAS's eyes appeared "bloodshot and watery", and that there was a noticeable blood spot on one eyeball. He made some comment to GASPAS about his eyes, but GASPAS just passed it off by making a statement about having a "cold or something".

He advised last being at the Char Pal Lounge about two weeks ago on a Thursday evening, exact date unrecalled. The reason for his appearance on that occasion, was to assist in cooking at the barbecue the Char Pal was having and his presence there was by invitation of JACK DE LA LLANA, a Sergeant at the Tampa Police Department, who is assigned to the Criminal Intelligence Unit. He recalls he and DE LA LLANA left the Tampa Police Department together; however, drove to the Char Pal in their respective cars. Upon arrival, sometime around 7 or 7:30 P.M. they proceeded directly to the rear of the building, just outside the back entrance; thereafter started the charcoal fire and started cooking the Italian sausage. GLASS indicated he did not know who had purchased the sausage or other provisions for the barbecue, but estimated that there was about forty or fifty pounds of sausage. GLASS stated that during the period of time he was there and engaged in cooking RAUL CHARBONIER, the Owner of the bar, came outside a couple of times to check on the cooking, and also to take platters of sausage inside. He also commented that he, himself, had only gone inside the bar two times during the entire evening, and then only to get a glass of ice water, and in doing so, had conversed with only one person, that being the barmaid, name unknown. He related that while he could make out the fact that the bar was crowded, it was impossible for him to recognize or identify any of the patrons or persons present, due to the lack of any bright lighting inside the bar. GLASS also stated that while he and DE LA LLANA were engaging in cooking sausage on the grill, four or five men dressed in sports clothes, whom he recognized as police officers, but was unable to furnish any of their names, appeared on the scene, engaged in brief conversation with DE LA LLANA, outside of his, GLASS'S, hearing range, had a sausage sandwich, then left. GLASS also made the statement, he recalled that the parking facility was filled with cars, to further confirm the fact the bar was crowded throughout the evening.

In further explaining his presence at the Char Pal,

GLASS advised these barbecues previously were a monthly affair for a period of about four or five months, usually being held on a Thursday evening as a gimmick to draw in customers. These were discontinued for about two or three months, which he assumed was due to the fact that they were remodeling the interior of the bar, and this affair was the first to take place since the completion of this remodeling. GLASS stated that he had assisted JACK DE LA LLANA with the chore of cooking the sausage on each previous occasion at DE LA LLANA's invitation and most definitely not be invitation of the Owner, RAUL CHARBONIER. GLASS stated that actually his association and exposure to RAUL CHARBONIER could be considered limited, and went on to state that he, GLASS has never been able to hold an intelligent conversation with CHARBONIER at any time.

In departure from the Char Pal at about 9:30 P.M. it was recalled that DE LA LLANA had left at the same approximate time. GLASS was unable to recall whether he had made a stop at the Temple Terrace Lounge en route to his home, or had proceeded directly to Bartow, Florida.

GLASS stated he has had no contact with RAUL CHARBONIER or visited the Char Pal Lounge since the evening of the barbecue. He indicated having been in contact with JACK DE LA LLANA since that time, however, stated that absolutely nothing was mentioned by DE LA LLANA to lead GLASS to believe that DE LA LLANA was aware of GASPAR CIACCIO's beating or anything related to this.

GLASS admitted that from time to time, he has heard or been made aware of information indicating that JACK DE LA LLANA held some business interest or was in some way affiliated with RAUL CHARBONIER and the Char Pal Lounge, but it was GLASS'S personal belief these were nothing but unsubstantiated, ill-founded rumors. GLASS stated that all the information furnished was correct to the best of his recollection, and he would be willing to testify to same.

[redacted] was reinterviewed in the presence of [redacted] Attorney for State's Attorney's Office, Tampa, Fla. and [redacted] furnished the following information:

He stated that on October 8th or a night that he believes was October 8th because it was on a Thursday night preceding a barbecue which was held on October 15th and that he was in the Char-Pal Lounge having arrived at the lounge early in the evening. He stated that he was sitting at the end of the bar on a stool and at approximately 11:00 or 11:30 PM on this date, that he observed GASPAR CIACCIO with four other individuals go past him and go directly to the office of RAUL CHARBONIER at the Char-Pal Lounge. He stated that he recalled speaking to GASPAR but does not recall having any conversation with him. He stated that immediately after this that he was preparing to leave and evidently someone in the Char-Pal Lounge told everyone to leave inasmuch as all of the customers appeared to be leaving the lounge when he did. He does not recall who told the customers to leave and believes there were approximately 10 to 15 customers in the lounge at this time. He stated that this was at approximately 11:30 PM and he immediately realized something was wrong since the bar does not ordinarily close until 3:00 AM and since there were numerous customers in the bar. He left the Char-Pal Lounge and believes that he drove directly home although it is possible that he could have driven back by the Char-Pal Lounge and noticed that it was still closed.

b6

He stated that he believes that JACK DE LA LLANA was at the Char-Pal Lounge on October 8, 1970 and it is possible, although cannot say for certain, that DE LA LLANA was in the lounge when the customers were told to leave. He stated that the information previously furnished regarding his having seen DE LA LLANA on only two occasions was incorrect and that he has seen DE LA LLANA in the lounge on numerous occasions and that he considered DE LA LLANA to be a close friend of RAUL CHARBONIER.

He stated that on the evening of November 2, 1970 after having been issued a subpoena by State's Attorney's Office that he contacted RAUL CHARBONIER and told RAUL that he was drunk and did not recall anything that happened in the Char-Pal Lounge on October 8. He told CHARBONIER this because he is extremely worried about the safety of his 2 children and recalls that RAUL told him just to tell the State's Attorney's the truth. He stated that he has not been threatened by RAUL but because of the incident on October 8, 1970 which he described as being an incident which you would believe occurred during prohibition days, he is extremely worried about the safety of his children.

He stated that when GASPAR CIACCIO came past him in the Char-Pal Lounge that he recalled GASPAR having his coat collar pulled up rather high and that is the reason he did not observe GASPAR's face. He again reiterated that he has never been threatened and that the information furnished now was the complete truth.

She advised that on the specific date in question she was on duty at the Hertz counter at Tampa International Airport as was a co-worker, []. She stated there was very little activity in the terminal and consequently she and [] were seated outside the counter area in lounge chairs and stated they were just sitting and chatting or possibly playing cards. [] happened to glance toward the east end of the terminal and observed five or six males walking shoulder to shoulder and spanning practically the entire width of the walking area. [] stated that by the very appearance of this group and that they were well dressed, all wearing dark business suits, colored shirts and ties, and the fact they all appeared to be Spanish or Italian, she made the comment to [] "Oh, oh, look what's coming towards us -- it looks like a bunch of Mafia gangsters." She also recalled one or two individuals were carrying coats over their arms and one or two were wearing hats, however, she could not recall observing any of this group to be carrying any type of luggage.

She related that as this group approached the location of the Hertz counter one individual walked over to the counter, a second individual paused as if to wait for him and the remainder proceeded in a westerly direction towards the area where National and Delta Airlines planes

The first individual held out a key and [] took it from his hand. She then asked him for his copy of the rental contract and he told her he had left it in the car and that the car was left parked in the lot. He then left the counter and he and his companion continued walking towards the west end of the terminal.

She described this individual as white male, approximately 35 to 40, 180# to 190#, 5'11", well groomed, appeared to be wearing expensive business suit, dark in color with shirt collar open and tie pulled down a short way, green or brown eyes, rugged looking face.

b6

[] stated it was possible for her to recall this specific transaction because of the fact that without benefit of the customer's copy of the rental contract it was necessary for her to prepare the check-in report.

She advised that prior to preparation of this report it was necessary for her to check this car and ascertain the present odometer reading to determine charges on this rental. In doing so, she also checked the exterior for any dents or scratches as well as the interior of the car. She observed that the back seat was ajar and pushed forward approximately 4" to 6". [] stated she pushed the seat back into its proper position before leaving the car but could not recall any damages, marks or stains of any description inside the car.

FANO CIACCIO was interviewed at his place of business, Temple Terrace Lounge, 8448 56th Street.

CIACCIO advised that at approximately 11:00 or 11:15 AM on November 4, 1970 he had been visited by RAUL CHARBONIER and this meeting had taken place at the Temple Terrace Cutrate Liquors, 5326 Busch Boulevard. CIACCIO made known the fact that at the time of this meeting PAUL CAPPOLINO was also present in the store and was able to hear most of this conversation but could not understand same as the majority of this conversation was in Spanish.

CHARBONIER made it plain that he wanted to speak with CIACCIO and rather than converse in the sales area they carried on this conversation in the rear of the store in an area utilized as an office. CHARBONIER practically started this conversation by saying, "The Federals are investigating trying to find out what happened to GASPAR and they are talking to everybody including barmaids." As a follow-up to this CHARBONIER stated that should he, FANO, or GASPAR, be approached for interview, CHARBONIER told him to say "You don't know anything, and just say that GASPAR had gotten into some sort of trouble with some fellows and they had taken him somewhere and then they made a call to you (FANO)." CHARBONIER also made the statement, "Don't say who it was or what it was about -- just keep this quiet."

CIACCIO also recalled that CHARBONIER made the specific suggestion that he, CIACCIO, tell PAUL CAPPOLINO that in the event he should be contacted or interviewed to say he wasn't there and that he doesn't know anything about it. CHARBONIER also made the statement that "They are questioning JACK too."

In addition, CHARBONIER told CIACCIO that should

GASPAR be interviewed, he suggested that GASPAR make notes of what he says and then give these notes to him, CHARBONIER, so that they can keep their stories straight. In the form of further suggestion, CHARBONIER said that, "If you find out something, you let me know and should I hear anything, I'll contact you."

CHARBONIER also told FANO CIACCIO that he had been in contact with his attorney (--- [redacted] ---) who reportedly had told him, "If they take out papers, don't say anything -- if they want to put you in jail, let them put you in jail and call me - but don't talk."

CIACCIO stated that he had taken the initiative to terminate this conversation, as he was disgusted with not only CHARBONIER's appearance, but the text of his conversation concerning this matter.

demonstrators that the "hard hats" did not intend to allow any U. S. flag desecration or any flying of a foreign flag such as the Vietnamese flag. Source stated that the various labor organizations felt so strongly about this situation that they had arranged to meet at their various labor temples on Saturday morning, October 31st and thereafter proceed to downtown Tampa where the anti-war group were to meet. Source stated that one individual business agent namely DUTCH THOMAS, had contacted AUSA [redacted] and Dep. USM [redacted] to advise him of the "hard hats" intentions. Source stated that THOMAS had also attempted to contact Mayor GRECO and U. S. Congressman SAM GIBBONS had been unable to do so. Subsequently on 10/31/70 source advised that it was estimated that the "hard hats" contingent would number somewhere between 25 and 50 and that no violence was planned, however, the "hard hats" did not intend to stand by and see the American flag desecrated or the Vietnamese flag flown.

Juries Cite Four In Extortion Case

Federal and state grand juries each returned indictments yesterday accusing two Tampa and two New York men of charges involving kidnaping, assault, extortion and interstate gambling activities.

The FBI last night said agents in New York had arrested Cosmo Fosado, 41, president of a union, and James Burke, 39.

SOUGHT in Tampa were Raul Charbonier Jr., 44, operator of the Char-Pal Lounge and his brother, Luis Charbonier, operator of Ernesto's bar.

State Attorney Joe Spicola said last night the state charges surround attempts by extortion, kidnaping and assault on a Temple Terrace bar owner who allegedly owed the four men some $14,500 in a baseball book making deal.

The FBI said federal charges cover the same set of circumstances in which Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio was allegedly abducted from his bar in early October and beaten by the four men.

ADDITIONALLY the federal jury charges extortion involving the gambling debt owed by a Tampa doctor.

A federal charge of illegal extension of credit and interstate gambling applied to the charges concerning the doctor.

There apparently was no assault on the doctor.

Spicola confirmed a report to the Tribune that the doctor involved is Dr. Felix Lo Cicero. No state charges concerning that matter were filed, Spicola said.

Temple Terrace Police Chief Robert Childers confirmed one of his officers answered a call to the Temple Terrace Lounge last month.

HE SAID an employe, Paul Coppolino, made the call. The call said Ciaccio had been forcefully removed from the lounge by four men.

The request for help was later canceled by Ciaccio, who related he had no need of assistance and was unharmed at the time.

The double-barreled actions by the federal and state grand juries were timed for completion yesterday morning and apparently keyed to FBI arrangements for the arrests of the two New York defendants.

Spicola said last night that while the Charbonier brothers have not been taken into custody he has "been led to believe" they will surrender themselves today, probably with their attorney, reported to be Paul Antinori.

BONDS SET on the state charges total $25,000 for each man, Spicola said. Judge Ben Krentzman set $100,000 bonds in the federal cases.

The specific federal charges were interstate transportation in aid of racketeering — gambling; interstate transportation in aid of racketeering — extortion; and extortionate extension of credit.

A report to the Tribune that a Tampa City Police detective had knowledge of the alleged abduction and extortion was not confirmed yesterday but it is known local officials are aware of this possibility.

IN NEW YORK, Rusado is president of Local 71, Transportation Terminal Interplant and Commissary Food Employees Union.

Rusado and Burke were accused of attempting to extort $14,500 allegedly owed them as a debt and using violence and other means in an attempt to collect. The indictment accused them of interstate travel from New York City to Tampa "to cause violence and for the extortion of a person and to promote gambling."

Arrested in downtown Tampa

2 nabbed in extortion case

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Two Tampa men were arrested this morning in downtown Tampa in connection with the extortion-kidnaping of a local bar owner who, the state attorney's office said, was beaten and held for a week until a "gambling debt" was paid.

The charges, listed in Hillsborough grand jury indictments, stemmed from offenses committed 12 months ago against Gasper Ciaccio, owner of a Temple Terrace bar.

THE BROTHERS own the Char-Pal Lounge, North Tampa, and Ernesto's Lounge, Ybor City according to the local FBI officer.

Hillsborough grand jurors also indicted two New Yorkers, Cosmo Rosado and James Burke, on the same charges.

Rosado, 41, of Queens, president of local union 71-transportation terminal, interplant and commissary food employees union, AFL-CIO, and Burke, 39, of Queens, were arrested in New York yesterday by FBI agents on an indictment issued by a federal grand jury in Tampa, said local FBI agent in charge, Joseph Santolana.

Under the federal indictment, the New Yorkers — and the Charbonier brothers — were accused of interstate transportation to extort an extension of $14,500 credit to a

SANTOIANA said the four suspects were also charged with interstate transportation to conduct gambling and interstate use of telephones to gamble.

Bonds under the federal indictment against each New Yorker was set at $100,000, he said.

The two men are expected to be brought to Tampa to be tried in U.S. district court and in Hillsborough criminal court for respective alleged violations of federal and state laws, officials said.

All four men were accused of abducting Ciaccio from his bar Oct. 8, said Giglio. They are alleged to have hit the victim with pistols, fists and feet and to have held him until relatives paid the gambling debt, he said.

Investigations into the alleged offenses by the FBI and the state attorney both culminated yesterday in the grand jury sessions.

Bond under the state charges were set at $25,000 per man.

2 Tampons booked in kidnap case

Two Tampa men were arrested today and booked on charges involving an alleged extortion-kidnaping case probed by federal and Hillsborough County grand juries, amid indications of more witnesses being subpoenaed.

Being held in a federal detention facility here today were Luis Charbonier, 3309 14th St., and his brother, Raul Charbonier Jr., 5124 19th St.

In a new development, Tampa bail bondsman Sam Ferlita, brother-in-law of Luis Charbonier, was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury today.

THERE WERE indications of an unknown number of additional persons to be subpoenaed.

The Charbonier brothers were being held on $50,000 bond each. A hearing before the U. S. commissioner was delayed by an effort to have the bond lowered.

Indications were that the two men, booked and being held on federal charges this morning, would appear before U.S. commissioner Paul Crain today and be released on bond, then be taken into custody by state attorney's officials.

Assistant state attorney Vince Giglio said the men will then be booked on state charges involving the same case and held in lieu of bond totaling $25,000 each.

GIGLIO SAID the state charges and bonds on each man are assault to murder in the first degree, $5,000, kidnapping, $15,000, and extortion, $5,000.

Also arrested in the case were two men taken into custody in New York yesterday — Cosmo Rosado, 41, a union official, and James Burke, 39, both of Queens.

The arrests in Tampa and New York grew out of indictments issued by the Hillsborough County grand jury and the federal grand jury yesterday.

The two Tampa men were arrested about 8 a.m. today as they were on their way to the office of their attorney, Paul Antinori Jr.

THE ARREST was made by Giglio and two state attorney's investigators, Bill Taylor and Al Greco, and several FBI agents.

The charges in the case stemmed from offenses allegedly committed last month against Gaspar Ciaccio, owner of a Temple Terrace bar.

Under the federal indictment, the two New Yorkers and the two Tampans were accused of interstate transportation to extort an extension of $14,500 credit to Ciaccio and another local man, reportedly Dr. Felix LoCicero.

THE NEW Yorkers and the Charbonier brothers were accused of abducting Ciaccio from his bar Oct. 8, said Giglio. They are alleged to have hit the man with pistols, fists and feet and to have held him until relatives paid the gambling debt, he said.

The Charbonier brothers operate the Char-Pal Lounge and Ernesto's bar.

Key witnesses in the case were reportedly located by the state attorney's office.

A second New York city union official and another man not arrested and identified only by name, were indicted here yesterday by federal and state grand juries on charges connected with alleged strong arm tactics and extortion used to collect baseball gambling debts.

And there were strong indications that the arrests, now totaling six in a case in which a Temple Terrace bar owner was pistol whipped and a doctor victimized over gambling debts, will be followed by further arrests and indictments.

LUIS LOPEZ, 25 business agent for a New York city union local, was charged in a federal indictment yesterday with five counts of criminal activity, ranging from extortion to interstate gambling promotion.

Simultaneously Lopez was charged by the grand jury with kidnaping, extortion and assault to commit first degree murder.

Lopez was arrested outside the federal grand jury room in the post office building where he had appeared on a federal subpoenae.

Appearing before the grand jury, Lopez refused to testify, was federally charged, then was quickly charged by State Attorney Joe Spicola.

Also charged yesterday was another New York City resident, Henry Hill, not otherwise identified.

THE FOUR charged Tuesday on federal and state indictments were Cosmo Rosado, 41, president of the same New York union local Lopez is associated with; James Burke, 39 not otherwise identified and Tampa bar owners Luis and Raul Charbonier. Last night only Hill remained at large, as far as could be determined. Rosado and Burke posted $100,000 bonds in New York yesterday and were released pending trial.

Rosado, Burke and Lopez reportedly were working as members of a "muscle ring" at Kennedy International Airport, New York.

The union, of which Lopez and Rosado are connected, according to lawmen here, is Local 71 of the Transportation Terminal, Interplant and Commissary Food Employees Union, AFL-CIO.

Federal charges allege the six men sought, through extortion and threats of bodily harm, and character or business damage, to collect gambling debts, from Doctor Felix LoCicero and Temple Terrace bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio.

Four men, reportedly the four from New York, are alleged to have forcibly taken Ciaccio from his business place October 8, pistol whipped him, and forced payment of a 1970 season gambling debt, reportedly some $7,250.

CIACCIO, badly beaten in the assault did not report the incident to police and was sought out after local officials learned of the attack.

The state attorney's office said both Ciaccio and Dr. LoCicero paid the gambling debts. Dr. LoCicero's debt was about the same as Ciaccio's, the state attorney's office stated.

Reports are that the Charbonier brothers called in the New York "enforcers." They, as are the other four men face identical state charges of assault to murder, extortion and kidnaping. Bonds were set by the state at $25,000 each. The federal bonds are $100,000 per man.

Assistant U.S. District Attorney Bernard Dempsey said Lopez was subpoenaed for appearance here yesterday to give him an opportunity to make a statement, which he refused to do.

After his jury appearance, Lopez remained under watch of FBI agents, who, after the indictment was returned, arrested him.

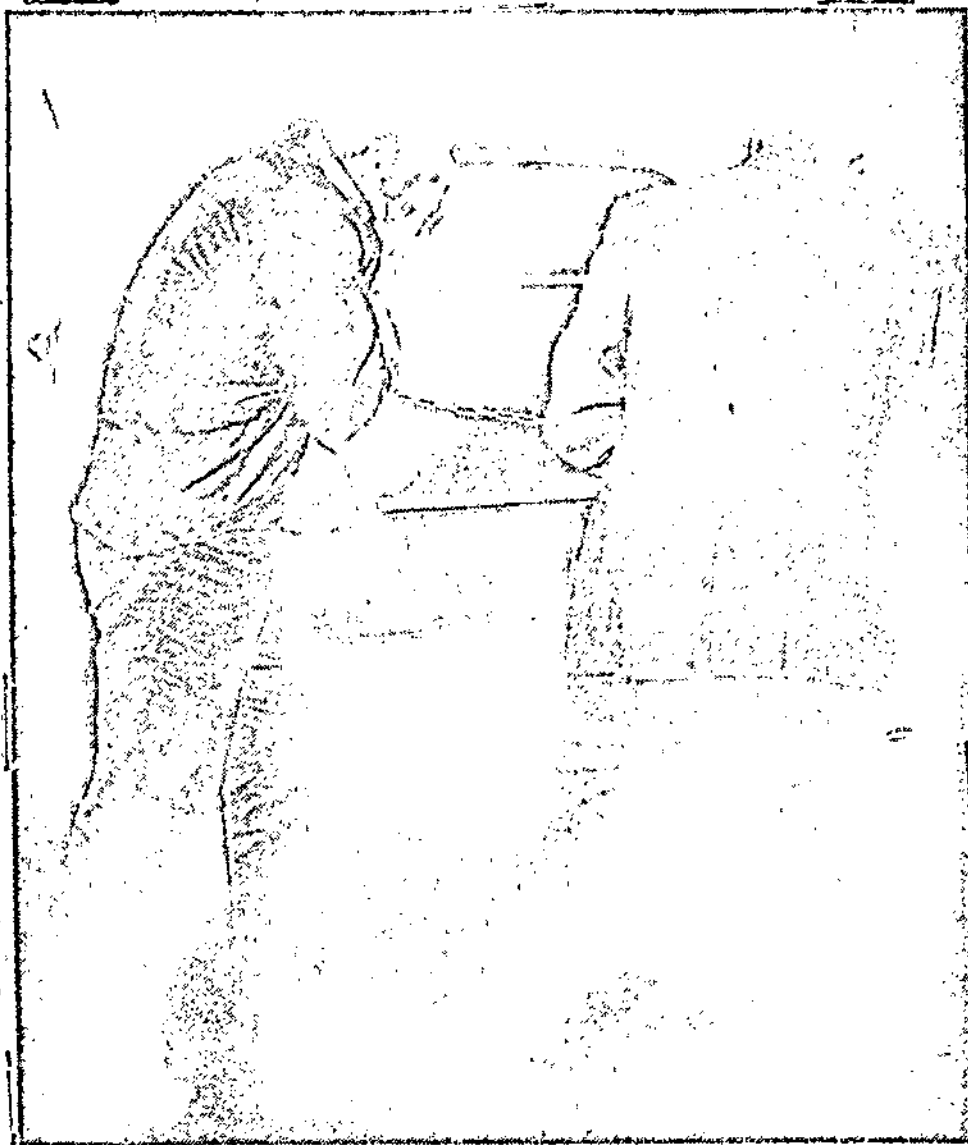

THERE ARE no state charges against the defendants on any matter concerning Dr. LoCicero, the state attorney said.

But the federal jury, in its indictment of each of the six men, said they forced payment of the debts by letting it be known failure to pay "could result in use of violence and other criminal means to cause harm" to them.

Reportedly Dr. LoCicero was warned, following the beating of Ciaccio, that he could expect the same if payment was not made.

Indications from officials were that the strong arm men had relied on fear to prevent disclosure of their actions and only word leaking back to lawmen brought the case to light.

The fact, reported by lawmen, that Ciaccio's family, highly regarded and a large one, includes three sisters who work for the sheriff's department, the county, and reportedly the local FBI office, may have had some influence on the matter surfacing for police action.

Cop named in extortion case testifies

De la Llana
... denies link to bar

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Sgt. Jack De la Llana, of the Tampa police intelligence unit, whose name cropped up in a kidnaping-extortion case yesterday, gave a statement to State Attorney Joseph Spicola Jr. today.

Vincent Giglio, Spicola's assistant, said De la Llana was not subpoenaed to appear, but was "requested to give a statement" and did so voluntarily.

De la Llana's name was brought up in federal court yesterday by deputy U.S. attorney Bernard Dempsey. Dempsey was questioning Raul Charbonier of the Char-Pal Lounge, on Temple Terrace Highway, when he asked if De la Llana had an interest in the bar. Charbonier denied this.

CHARBONIER, operator of the lounge, is charged in federal court with extortion of gambling debt money from Gaspar Ciccio and Dr. Felix LoCicero.

De la Llana told The Times he has "gone by there" (the Char Pal Lounge) but denied having any interest in the business. (Florida law prohibits a police officer having an interest in the liquor business.)

Ciccio testified in federal court yesterday during a hearing on a move to reduce bond on the six men indicted in the extortion case.

He told the judge of threats and beatings and said he was praying for his life while he was being beaten for not paying the gambling debt.

Charbonier and his brother, Luis, also indicted, sat silently in the chamber during the testimony.

The Charbonier brothers and four New York men have been arrested in the last few days under federal and state grand jury indictments charging them with various crimes from interstate transportation for extortion to kidnaping.

YESTERDAY'S HEARING before Krentzman was on a defense motion to have the two Tampan's temporarily freed on their own recognizance or for a reduction of their $50,000 bonds under federal charges.

Opposing bond reductions, assistant U.S. attorney Bernard Dempsey Jr. called victims of the accused to testify they have fear for their lives.

"I'm scared, scared for my family, my kids, my place, my livelihood," said handsome, well-dressed Ciccio on the stand.

Dr. Felix LoCicero, M.D., said he fears "retaliation" even though he said he paid a $4,004 gambling debt to Raul Charbonier Oct. 10, two days after Raul called him about the debt.

GASPER CIACCIO'S brother Fano, testified Raul Charbonier told him several times to say, if questioned by authorities, that his brother "fell down" and hurt himself.

Otherwise, he said Charbonier told him, "keep your mouth shut . . . if you go ahead and talk, we'll blow your house up and kill your family."

Krentzman said he would lower each defendant's bond to $15,000, after Dempsey's warning that there will not be a speedy trial if government witnesses in the case are not kept safe. Indications were that the decision would be finalized today.

The judge assured the "full force" of the federal government will be applied to those attempting to intimidate witnesses.

extorting an extension of credit totalling $14,500 from Gasper Ciaccio and Dr. Lo Cicero on Oct. 8 among the charges.

On the stand, Ciaccio said Luis Charbonier and four other men "took me with gun point" from his bar late Oct. 8.

Arriving there, "Luis hit me and spit me in the face . . . I was full of blood. Luis said 'you're gonna pay up,' he said.

"I was beaten up with a gun and fists," he said with anger. The wounds required "20 some stitches on my head . . . I was full of blood."

CIACCIO SAID 25 to 30 persons were in the bar when he was taken in towards a storage room where he said, he was again beaten. Raul was there also he said.

Later, he said he was taken back into the lounge side of the business to see his brother and Raul making a "transaction."

"They wanted the money right then and there," he said.

Ciaccio said no attempts were made on his life in the following weeks but "I've had some strange characters come to my lounge lately — very strange."

Fano Ciaccio testified he did not see his brother after he was led into the Char-Pal by Raul whose shirt, he said, was bloodied.

When his brother was returned to him at the Temple Terrace liquor business, he said Gasper's head was "cracked open" and was bleeding profusely.

"I couldn't believe it . . . just like in TV," he said.

BOTH CIACCIO brothers testified they had known the Charboniers for years prior to the night of the offense.

Raul Charbonier testified he and his brother were fishing when federal and state indictments were issued Tuesday.

He said both of them went to Tampa attorney Paul Antinori's office to surrender when they were arrested.

Dempsey argued that was not their intention, indicating they had misled FBI agents searching for them.

Jury Ties Stock Mart Probe To Tampa Cases

Luis Charbonier — Raul Charbonier — Luis Lopez their bonds were reduced — his wasn't

By CHARLES HENDRICK

One of six men indicted by federal and state grand juries here on charges ranging from extortion to kidnaping and assault to murder yesterday was linked by a New York federal grand jury to a Mafia crime organization with roots in Florida and that state.

The New York jury, named James Burke, confirmed by the FBI as one of six charged in the Tampa cases, as one of 16 men allegedly involved in an intra-state stock market infiltration in which beatings and threats were used to take over a Miami investment company.

Burke has been one of those who beat the owner of the Miami-based Imperial Petroleum Corp. and who stole shares of stock. The unregistered stock later was sold at inflated value through a discredited stock dealer.

In Tampa, Burke is charged in federal court with interstate gambling and extortion involving gambling debts owed by bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio and Dr. Felix LoCicero. State charges against him are extortion, kidnaping and assault to murder Ciaccio.

Further action in the local case came yesterday as Circuit Court Judge James Moody reduced the bonds on two other defendants, Raul and Luis Charbonier, but refused to do the same for New Yorker Luis Lopez.

Each of the three faces $15,000 bonds in federal court. The Charboniers' bail was reduced from $25,000 to $20,000 while Lopez remains under a $25,000 bond.

JUDGE MOODY told defense attorney Paul Amico Jr. and Nick Picarrotta: "I could certainly not release any of them on their recognizance — these are serious charges and I don't in any way want to condone them if these things did happen as charged."

The New York jury indicted along with Burke and 12 others, Carmine Tramunti, identified by the Justice Department as a Mafia chieftain in the New York family of the late Thomas Luchese; Vincent Alfio, a reputed Mafia captain in the Joe Colombo Mafia family; and John Dioguardi, now serving a five-year fraud sentence.

Another "strong-arm" type cited by the jury with Burke was Vincent Lombardo, son-in-law of crime figure Meyer Lansky. Miami gambler said by the FBI now to be in Israel. Lombardo was arrested in Miami Thursday.

The jury said the key figure in the stock market case is Michael Hellerman, a stock dealer who figured in the government's fraud case against Nathan Voloshen, the lobbyist, and Martin Sweig, suspended aide of U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack.

THE JURY also said employees of three New York brokerage firms figured in the stock profiteering plan masterminded by Hellerman.

The state attorney's office here has charged the Charbonier brothers, of Tampa, and Burke, Lopez, Cosmo Rosado and Henry Hill, all of New York, with the extortion by force of some $14,500 in gambling debts and the pistol whipping of Ciaccio.

Both Lopez and Rosado are top officers in a New York-based labor union.

In federal court Thursday, Ciaccio said he was bloody and bruised after a session with "strong arm" men and the Charboniers, who he said were seeking to collect a baseball gambling debt.

They did collect, U.S. District Attorney Bernard Dempsey said, both from Ciaccio and Dr. LoCicero, who testified he was told by Raul Charbonier that he could expect the same treatment if he did not pay promptly.

Also in court Thursday, Dempsey asked Raul Charbonier if Tampa police Sgt. Jack De la Llana had an interest in a bar Charbonier owns. The answer given was "No."

De LA LLANA is the police department's expert on organized crime activities in this area.

State Attorney Joe Spicola said he has questioned De la Llana, chief of the city intelligence unit under oath but "that matter is not concluded." He would go no further.

[] remarked that GASPAR definitely identified LUIS CHARBONIER as being present during the beating and that RAUL CHARBONIER had been at the Char-Pal. [] claimed that he had not wanted to hear anymore and told GASPAR so again telling GASPAR that he, [] was not involved; was not going to get involved; and again told GASPAR not to bother him again.

[] continued that on the following Saturday night he had been at the Hawaiian Village and LUIS CHARBONIER told him that he had to talk to him and wanted [] to come by Ernesto's on Sunday. He stated that he again told LUIS that he had nothing to do with the matter; had told LUIS before and told LUIS he had also told GASPAR that he had washed his hands of the whole affair. He related that LUIS kept insisting that he needed to talk to [] and [] finally agreed would come by in a few days. He remarked that he went by Ernesto's on Monday or Tuesday, LUIS not there so went back next day or so. He stated he again told LUIS he did not want to know - was not involved - had washed his hands of the whole affair and had told both sides. LUIS insisted on telling [] that some guys, thinks said three or four men had taken GASPAR out and beaten him - no names mentioned but did in Spanish say "afuera de aqui" meaning to [] "away from here" and that LUIS may even have specifically said New York. 6 face charges here in kidnap-extortion

The Hillsborough County solicitor's office has filed felony informations against six men — two of them Tampani — who were indicted last week on state and federal charges including kidnapping, extortion and gambling.

Three of the defendants, arrested by FBI in New York on federal charges yesterday, arrived in Tampa to face state charges.

Cosmo Rosado, 41, James Burke, 39, and Henry Hill, 27, all of New York, posted $25,000 bond each to get out of Hillsborough County jail pending their cases.

INFORMATIONS against the New Yorkers, Luis Charbonier, 43, Raul Charbonier, 44, both of Tampa, and Luis Lopez, 25, of New York, have been filed in criminal court, said Solicitor E. J. Salcines. The last three men arrested in Tampa are also out on bond.

The six defendants are scheduled to be arraigned on state charges next Monday, said Salcines.

All six also face trials in U.S. district court on federal charges stemming from the abduction-beating of Temple Terrace bar owner Gaspar Ciacchio on Oct. 8.

THE MEN were accused of extorting gambling debts from Ciacchio and Tampa Dr. Felix LoCicero.

Salcines said he asked State Attorney Joe Spicola yesterday for records and indictments against the defendants which were considered in a special Hillsborough grand jury session last week. That grand jury and a federal grand jury convened at the same time in Tampa.

Federal and state investigators have said their probes into the alleged offenses are continuing.

$160,000 bonds set on three

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Three men arrested in Tampa this week on state and federal charges involving abduction, extortion and gambling, have posted bonds totaling $160,000 to be released pending their court cases.

Luis and Raul Charbonier, Tampa brothers and owners of two local bars, yesterday posted $15,000 bond each to be released from federal custody and $20,000 bond each to be free under state charges.

In each case, bonds were reduced by judges following defense motions for lower bonds or release on recognizance.

LUIS LOPEZ of New York posted a reduced bond of $15,000 in federal court but had to post a full $25,000 under state charges.

The three men and three other New Yorkers were charged with abducting Temple Terrace Bar owner Gasper Ciaccio Oct. 8 and beating him until a gambling debt was paid.

They were also accused, among other charges, of extorting money from Dr. Felix LoCicero, M.D. the same week.

JAMES BURKE, one of the three other New Yorkers, was also indicted this week by a federal grand jury in New York on charges of setting up a massive stock fraud.

The defendant and 15 other persons — including alleged underworld figures — were accused, in a 72-count indictment, of conspiracy to violate the Federal Securities Act, sale of unregistered stock, wire and mail fraud and travel in interstate commerce in aid of extortion.

Assistant U.S. attorney Bernard Dempsey opposed lowering of bonds on the Charbonier brothers Thursday on grounds that government witnesses might be endangered if the men were released.

DEMPSEY CALLED Gasper Ciaccio and his brother, Fano, to the stand to testify they were told to keep quiet about the offenses under threats of violence.

Hillsborough circuit Judge James Moody yesterday heard bond reduction motions on the three men despite State Attorney Joe Spicola's protest that the matter rested with the criminal court judge who will try the cases.

Defense attorney Paul Antinori contended the matter could not be handled by criminal court since no information had yet been filed placing the cases in criminal court.

Extortion Beating Told

... 'We'll Blow Your House Up, Kill Your Family...'

By CHARLES HENDRICK
Tribune Staff Writer

Surprise testimony from a local bar owner telling a bloody tale of being pistol whipped and a Tampa doctor telling of sitting up all night in fear, after being warned he might face the same treatment over a gambling debt, unfolded in federal court yesterday.

And the introduction of the name of Sgt. Jack De la Lana, chief of the Tampa Police Intelligence unit, into the record raised new questions in a bizarre extortion case.

THE TESTIMONY came in a hearing in which two Tampa brothers, Louis and Raul Charbonier, sought reduction of $50,000 bonds set on federal charges involving extortion and interstate gambling.

The two were indicted Tuesday, along with four New York alleged "strong arm men."

The Charboniers and the other four face federal charges stemming from alleged extortion by force and threats of baseball gambling debts from bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio and Dr. Felix LoCicero.

Assistant U.S. District Attorney Bernard Dempsey called Ciaccio and Dr. LoCicero before Judge Ben Krentzman in a move to block bond reduction petitions from attorneys for the Charboniers.

The defendants remain under $50,000 bonds although Judge Krentzman agreed in court to reduce that figure to $15,000.

However, the state attorney's office said last night the judge had delayed his decision until today.

ALL SIX MEN face additional state charges of kidnaping, assault to murder and extortion, all charges stemming from force and threats used against Ciaccio.

The FBI, working closely with local federal and state prosecutors, have now arrested all four New York men, indicted jointly by the state and federal grand juries.

They are: Cosmo Rosado and Luis Lopez, both connected with a New York city union as officers, and James Burke and Henry Hill, the latter being arrested yesterday. They are held under $100,000 federal bonds.

The reference yesterday to Sgt. De la Lana came while Raul Charbonier was on the stand. Charbonier had testi-lied he alone owned the Char-Pal Bar, on Temple Terrace Highway.

Dempsey then asked: "Do you know a Mr. Palomino and a Sgt. De la Lana and do either of them have an interest in the CharPal Bar?"

Charbonier shook his head and answered, "No they don't." Dempsey would not elaborate on the reason for his question.

LOCAL COURT records show a Justo Palomino sold his interest in the bar to Raul Charbonier in 1936. The records make no mention of De la Lana. It would be illegal for a policeman to hold such an interest.

Ciaccio took the stand yesterday afternoon to relate incidents of the night of October 8, when he said he was forcibly taken from the Temple Terrace lounge he and a brother, Fano, own. He was abducted by the Charbonier brothers and the four out of state men, he said.

Ciaccio, who reportedly owed some $3,000 to the men, said he was forced into a car, pistol whipped about the head, beaten and kicked. A frontal head wound required some 21 stitches, the Tribune was told.

Appearing highly excited as he faced two of his alleged assailants, Ciaccio agreed he had known Raul closely as a friend for about six years.

But, he added, it was Raul who warned that night that he would get more of the same treatment unless he "came across" with the money owed.

WHILE TWO of the out of state men stood outside the auto with guns trained on him, Ciaccio said, Luis Charbonier hit him and spit on him at one point. Raul administered kicks, he related.

"These are bad guys, they'll bomb and kill you if you don't pay up" Ciaccio said Raul told him after the beating was administered.

Asked by Dempsey if Raul had told him that he would "get someone to get you" if the debt was not paid, Ciaccio answered "yes".

Fano Ciaccio, who was at another bar the brothers own, said Raul called him by telephone:

"He told me my brother was hurt bad and was in big trouble and to come on down to talk to him and some other guys and for me to get $3,000 and bring it with me."

Fano Ciaccio said he went around midnight to the Char-Pal Bar, which Raul Charbonier owns. "Raul came out and he had blood on his shirt and he was saying, 'look, look at the blood — this is how bad he (Gaspar) has been beaten up'."

"I went inside the bar and there was Raul and Luis and another man and they told me that if I didn't come up with the money they would take care of my brother worse than he is now."

Fano said he did not see his brother until early the next day, when Raul brought him to the Temple Terrace Lounge.

When he came in he had a big cut — wide open like this (gesturing) on his head and one back here and on the side and he was kicked in the side — bleeding like a pig. I was sick."

FANO SAID Raul had warned him that "you are putting the finger on me with these guys — the monkey on my back."

Later, after the night of Oct. 8, Fano said Raul warned him to "keep my mouth shut. There's been too much talk. Say he (Gaspar) fell down."

"He told me if you go ahead and talk to the law we'll blow your house up, kill your family and do the same to you we did to your brother."

Dr. LoCicero, after identi-lying Raul in the courtroom, said it was Raul who called him the night of Oct. 8. "He told me 'they want their money'. I told him I thought this was settled. Then he told me they had Gaspar in a car and want to come over to see me, but if I could pay up by Friday he (Raul) could keep them away."

Dr. LoCicero said Raul came to his office on Oct. 10 and he paid $4,004 to him.

BUT THE night of Oct. 8, Dr. LoCicero said he and his wife sat up all night with an alarm system turned on and all lights on, in fear of his life.

Asked by Dempsey if he was still afraid, Dr. LoCicero said "Yes", that he feared retaliation against himself or his family.

Both Gaspar and Fano Ciaccio said they too fear further attacks.

Defense attorneys Paul Antinori, and Nick Ficarrota, in asking lower bonds be set, called Broadway National Bank president Eddie Spoto as a character witness for the brothers. Spoto said his 25 year acquaintance with the Charboniers showed them to be "reliable and trustworthy."

Dempsey sought to get Judge Krentzman to impose direct restrictions on the Charboniers to stay away from the federal witnesses.

But Judge Krentzman noted that both men were represented by competent counsel and that he was certain they would be warned of the consequences of any threats or intimidation.

"IT WOULD seem to me," Judge Krentzman said, "that the defendants most of all would be concerned that all the witnesses would be secure. And I expect the full weight of the federal government to be brought to bear if anything does occur."

But, Judge Krentzman said, he could not order the defendants not to contact the witnesses. He then stated that both the Charboniers likely could post $50,000 bonds, if need be, thus the high bond was not really necessary to keep them on hand for trial. He then agreed to $15,000 bonds for the two defendants.

In light of the state attorney's report last night that the decision had later been put off by Judge Krentzman, a final determination is likely today on the bond issue.

3 N.Y. Men Surrender On Indictments Here

Three New York men wanted in connection with last week's state grand jury indictments for extortion, kidnapping and assault to murder, surrendered to Tampa officials last night.

James Burke, Henry Hill and Cosmo Rosado of New York were served arrest warrants by Chief Assistant State Attorney Vincent Giglio as they appeared at the county jail with their attorneys Frank Ragano and Raymond LaPorte.

THE THREE posted $25,000 bonds and were released.

A total of six men have now been indicted, arrested, and released on bond by both state and federal officials in connection with a "strong-arm" ring said to have extorted gambling debts from Gaspar Ciaccio, owner of the Temple Terrace Lounge.

Burke, Hill and Rosado were arrested last week by FBI agents in New York and freed on $100,000 bonds on federal charges.

Federal charges lodged against the six men include gambling, interstate transportation to extort and illegal extension of credit.

Arrested locally on both the state and federal charges were bar owners and brothers Raul and Luis Charbonier and, New York union official Luis Lopez, who was served while in Tampa on a federal witness subpoena.

LAST TO BE arrested on state charges, Rosado is said to be a union official (with Lopez), while Burke was named by a New York federal grand jury last week as one of 16 men connected with an alleged stock market infiltration that involved beatings and threats to take over a Miami investment company.

All six were technically scheduled for arraignment in criminal court yesterday on the state charges.

Criminal court records show that informations have not as yet been filed by the solicitor's office. Indictments, handled through the State Attorney's office, are the only documents presently on file.

According to law, the indictments are not sufficient for beginning prosecution. No date was set yesterday for their future arraignment.

FBI Makes Extortion Arrests

FBI agents in Tampa and New York City have made five arrests and are looking for a sixth person in connection with alleged extortion of two victims with large gambling debts.

Federal and county grand juries handed down indictments this week against six people involved in the incident.

According to agent-in-charge Joseph Santoiana, the six were charged with interstate transportation in aid of racketeering for purpose of extortion.

Santoiana's office said the two victims, not identified, ran up a $14,000 gambling debt. The creditors extended the payment period and added interest to the debt.

When they still couldn't pay, the New Yorkers came to Tampa to "punish with violence," and to show the victims that they "meant business."

Arrested in New York and being held in lieu of $100,000 bond each were Cosmo Rosado and James Burke.

Extortion witness said intimidated

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

A hearing to reduce bonds or allow two Tampa brothers to be released on their own recognizance on federal charges of gambling and extortion was continued this morning until later today when it was alleged one of the brothers sought to intimidate a witness in the case.

And in another development, FBI agents announced the arrest of a sixth man in the current investigation. He was identified by agents as Henry Hill, 27, an unemployed salesman from Queens, N.Y.

THE FBI said Hill was arrested today in New York City on charges of interstate transportation in aid of racketeering, gambling, extortion and extortionate extension of credit.

Assistant U.S. attorney Bernard Dempsey Jr., said before federal Judge Ben Krentzman that one of the brothers approached the witness prior to being indicted by a federal grand jury this week. Dempsey said the witness would be available for testimony this afternoon.

Attorneys for Luis and Raul Charbonier, owners of two local bars, were attempting to reduce $50,000 bonds on each defendant or have them released on their own recognizance.

THE ATTORNEYS introduced as a character witness, Edward Spoto, president of Broadway National Bank, who testified — based on an acquaintance of more than 25 years — that the brothers were "reliable and trustworthy."

Spoto said he knew nothing about Raul Charbonier being arrested three times in past years, when asked by Dempsey. However, the prosecutor noted that no convictions were apparent on the three previous arrests.

A fifth suspect in the alleged extortion ring which traveled interstate from New York to Tampa for gambling and extortion, Luis Lopez, New York was arrested in the federal courthouse in Tampa yesterday by federal and state officials.

LOPEZ, a New York union local business agent, the Charbonier brothers, Cosmo Rosado, president of the same New York union, and James Burke, of New York, have all been indicted by federal and Hillsborough County grand jurors on various felony charges.

Under the federal indictment, they are charged with making illegal extensions of credit to Gaspar Ciaccio, a Temple Terrace bar owner, and Dr. Felix LoCicero.

"... It was the understanding of the said defendants, the creditors, and Gaspar Ciaccio and Dr. Felix LoCicero, the debtors that the delay in making repayment or failure to make repayment could result in the use of violence and other criminal means to cause harm to the persons, reputations and properties" of the "debtors," the indictment said.

THE INDICTMENT also charged them with interstate transportation for gambling and extortion and interstate use of telephones for gambling.

State charges against the same men were assault to murder in the first degree, extortion and kidnapping.

The men were accused of abducting Ciaccio from his bar on Oct. 8 and beating him and keeping him for a while, not a week as reported by The Times yesterday, until a gambling debt was paid.

Bonds against the men on state charges were $25,000 each man while the bonds under federal charges ranged from $50,000 to $100,000.

Re Report of SA [redacted] dated 11/9/70 11/23/70

For the information of the Bureau and interested offices, JACK DE LA LLANA, Chief of the Intelligence Bureau, Tampa PD, and Chairman of the Tampa Bay Intelligence Unit, was interviewed by Special Agents of the FBI and by representatives of the State's Attorney's Office, Tampa, Fla., denied having any knowledge of the payment by GASPAR CIACCIO of $8000.00 to CHARBONIER Brothers and denied having any knowledge of the incident prior to talking to the FBI.

b6
b7C

At the request of the State's Attorney's Office (not known by the FBI) Mr. DE LA LLANA was afforded a polygraph examination by [redacted] of the firm Leonard Keeler, Inc., and the following questions were asked of DE LA LLANA:

- #26. Were you in the Char-Pal Lounge the night of October 8, 1970? Answer - No
- #27. Did you know of the attempt to extort money from GASPAR CIACCIO before the news broke publicly? Answer - Yes

- #28. Was DAVID GLASS the first to tell you of the incident? Answer - Yes
- #29. Have you received any money from the CHARBONIER brothers that was paid to them by GASPAR? Answer - No
- #30. Did you advise anyone against giving truthful answers to either the FBI or State's Attorney's Office? Answer - No
- #31. Did you advise DAVID GLASS not to say who was at the sausage party on the evening of October 15, 1970? Answer - No
- #32. Did you answer all questions truthfully that were asked by the FBI and the State's Attorney's Office? Answer - Yes

As a result of analysis of the subject's charts in this matter the examiner is of the opinion that the subject, JACK DE LA LLANA, did not answer questions #26, 28, 29, 30, 31, and 32 truthfully. In regards to question #27 it is known that DE LA LLANA was interviewed by the FBI prior to the new release and that would account for his yes answer.

It would appear that if analysis of the polygraph examination is correct that DE LA LLANA was at the Char-Pal Lounge on the night October 8, 1970 and that he did receive part of the money paid to the CHARBONIER brothers by GASPAR CIACCIO.

The Assistant U. S. Attorney [redacted] has been advised of the results of this examination and he stated that [redacted] before the next Grand Jury but prefers to have investigation conducted to attempt to establish information obtained as a result of a polygraph.

In this column of Nov. 6th, two weeks ago, we wrote:

"Flash... whispered rumors have it that a big 'stink' will break here within two weeks and the mixed ingredients are: 'A' well known Tampa bar owner, badly beaten; FBI checking 'kidnapping' caper; subpoenas being served for federal grand jury probe of the matter... and the big question, is a high city policeman indirectly involved?"

"Are State Attorney Joe Spicola's investigators also checking out the allegations?"

Needless to say, our "news flash" proved to be accurate and correct.

Both county and federal grand juries met this past Tuesday and after hearing testimony six indictments were issued and six persons have been accused and (five) booked on charges involving alleged assault, extortion and kidnapping.

The victim was Gaspar Ciaccio, owner of a Temple Terrace bar.

Another well known Tampan, Dr. Felix LoCicero, was also involved cited as owing a waging debt along with Mr. Ciaccio to those who collected by forceful methods.

Two of the six accused are well known Tampa bar owners and brothers. They are Luis and Raul Charbonier, Jr. The other four are Cosmo Rosado, James Burke, Luis Lopez and Henry Hill, all from New York.

Other arrests may follow.

Federal charges allege the six men sought through extortion and threats of bodily harm and character or business damages to collect gambling debts from Dr. Felix LoCicero and bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio.

The four New Yorkers are alleged to have forcibly taken Ciaccio from his bar October 8th, pistol whipped him and forced payments of a gambling debt.

Tampa liquor premises probed

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

The Florida Division of Beverage confirmed today that the state agency is conducting a concurrent investigation into an abduction-extortion case that resulted in indictment of a north Tampa bar operator.

State beverage department director Raymond Beary said today his Tallahassee headquarters is investigating all aspects of alleged strong armed offenses which occurred in Tampa last October. The department's local office is investigating what occurred on liquor licenses premises regarding the offenses, he said.

DISTRICT supervisor M. E. Futch said his office's investigation, focusing on the Char-Pal Lounge in north Tampa and Ernesto's Bar in Ybor City could result in administrative action against the bars' owners.

Federal and state grand juries this month indicted Luis and Raul Charbonier, owners of the bars, and four New Yorkers on charges including kidnaping, gambling, extortion and assault to murder in the first degree.

Federal and state investigations, said to be continuing, stemmed from the alleged abduction-extortion of Gasper Ciaccio, owner of the Temple Terrace Lounge on Oct. 3.

Besides being indicted in that offense, the six men were also accused of extorting of gambling debt from Tampa Dr. Felix LoCicero.

IN SUBSEQUENT federal court proceedings, the name of Tampa police Sgt. Jack De La Llana cropped up as possibly having interests in the Char-Pal, a violation of state law if true.

But there have been no charges to that effect.

Futch said his investigation is "based primarily on charges against them (Charboniers) by the state and federal government."

Any offense occurring in a licensed liquor establishment can be held against the licensee, he said.

Neither the Char-Pal nor Ernesto's have had any tangles with the beverage department in the past, he said.

Extortion probe winding up

State Attorney Joseph Spicola said yesterday a probe by his office, which resulted in kidnapping-extortion indictments against six men, has been concluded for the most part.

He said he does not expect any more significant developments in his investigation, although he said his staff is still checking into certain aspects of the case to leave no stones unturned.

Two weeks ago Spicola submitted the results of his probe to Hillsborough grand jurors who indicted Tampa bar owners and brothers, Raul and Luis Charbonier, and four New Yorkers on charges stemming from an alleged offense against Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gasper Ciccio Oct. 8.

THEY WERE CHARGED with kidnapping, assault to murder in the first degree and extortion of money from Ciccio who testified he owed them a gambling debt.

The six defendants also were indicted by a federal grand jury on various charges (including interstate transportation in aid of gambling and extortion) on the alleged offenses involving Ciccio and on an alleged extortion of a gambling debt from Dr. Felix Lo Cicero of Tampa.

Federal investigation in the case and a concurrent probe by the Florida Division of Beverages are continuing, according to federal and state officials.

Six plead innocent

Six men, indicted by Hillsborough grand jurors for kidnapping, extortion and assault to murder in the first degree, today pleaded innocent to the felony charges in criminal court.

Judge Carl Durrance accepted the pleas and set a Feb. 10 trial date in the cases of Raul and Luis Charbonier, of Tampa; Luis Lopez, Henry Hill, James Burk and Cosmo Rosado, all four of New York.

Frank Ragano represented the six defendants who were indicted last month for offenses allegedly committed against Temple Terrace bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio.

The six men are also expected to be arraigned soon in U.S. district court on federal grand jury indictments charging them with interstate travel to gamble and extort gambling debts from Ciaccio and Tampa Dr. Felix LoCicero.

DATE: 1/8/71

FROM : SA JOHN R. BRETT

SUBJECT: RAUL CHARBONIER, et al
ITAR - EXTORTION

b6

b7D

During a contact with SGT. JACK S. de la LLANA, Tampa PD, Intelligence Unit, on 1/7/71; he furnished the following information. He did not know whether or not we were aware of an incident that occurred at LUIS's bar, about one year ago. The safe in LUIS CHARBONIER's bar was burglarized and he was insured by Lloyds of London. There was some dispute on the money involved and the insurance company refused to pay. CHARBONIER sued and the jury found in favor of the insurance company. CHARBONIER appealed the decision and it is now in the appeal court. Attorney [redacted] is handling the case. There was money in the safe that was supposed to belong to [redacted] as de la LLANA recalls it and this was part of the area of contention between the co. and CHARBONIER.

de la LLANA also made available his file on the CHAR - PAL, pointing out a clipping from the Long Island newspaper ~~the~~ NEWSDAY, the 2/27/69 edition. This clipping was describing COSMO ROSADO as a "family associate", being part of the operation of PAUL VARIO, SR., a "soldier". During an investigation into the $30,000,000 yearly business of bookmaking and policy, operated by [redacted] ROSADO was jailed for four thirty day terms of contempt of court in the Nassau Co. Grand Jury investigation. [redacted] was described as active in extortion, shylocking, strongarm, bookmaking and many other business interests. ROSADO was also described on 11/22/68, by the Nassau Co. D.A. as an associate of [redacted] at Tampa.

[redacted] There were also photos of [redacted] residence in the same Long Island town that ROSADO lives in. DET. [redacted] of the Nassau Co. DA's office was working on ROSADO in 1968, because ROSADO was suspected of bookmaking at that time.

Information was recently received from Tampa PD that COSMO ROSADO has been alleged to be part of the operation of [redacted] a member of the LCN in New York. ROSADO was jailed for four 30-day terms for contempt of court in Nassau County, for refusal to testify in the investigation of the thirty million yearly business of bookmaking and policy which was reportedly operated by [redacted]

According to Tampa PD, Det. [redacted] who was with the Nassau County District Attorney's Office in 1968, conducted considerable investigation concerning ROSADO's participation and suspected bookmaking activities in that area. COSMO ROSADO is reported to be related to RAUL and LUIS CHARBONIER, both of Tampa, who have been indicted in this case.

Trial in this matter is scheduled for 2/8/71, in Tampa, Fla., and the AUSA desires to have [redacted] interviewed to determine if he has any current pertinent information that could definitely establish that COSMO ROSADO is a bookmaker in the New York area. (7)

For the information of the Bureau, trial in this matter is scheduled USDC, Tampa, Fla., 2/8/71.

In regards to Lab Report #PC F2747JM, a front floor mat and rear floor mat was examined by the Laboratory to determine if victim in this case who bled profusely, had caused blood to drip on the front or rear floor mat. Photographs of the rear floor mat reflects numerous brown stains. The FBI Laboratory conducted an investigation of the rear floor mat and advised that no blood was identified on either front or rear floor mat.

AUSA [] has requested that the Tampa Office obtain from the examiner his opinion regarding the possibility that the floor mat on the rear, which contained the brown stains, could have been washed with water and soap or other cleaning materials which would make it impossible to analyse these stains to determine if they were blood. He has further requested that if this is not possible to determine if the Lab was able to determine what caused the brown spots on the floor mat.

Reference your airtel 1/15/71, FBI Laboratory Report Number PC-F2747 JM dated November 24, 1970, sets forth results of serology examinations conducted by Special Agent Thomas F. Kelleher, Jr., on automobile floor mats submitted by the Miami Office in instant case. These examinations determined that no blood was present on the floor mats and in accordance with the instructions in referenced airtel, the floor mats were subsequently destroyed.

It is highly unlikely that profuse bleeding could have occurred on these floor mats and later been removed by washing without leaving some trace amount that would have been located during the Laboratory examination conducted. It is theoretically possible to completely remove a blood stain from a rug after it has been deposited in liquid form and has dried but this is an extremely difficult process and no indication of such rigorous activity was apparent from examination of the floor mats. In addition the stains present on the floor mats, which appeared to be rust stains, and the usual traces of grease and other common material frequently found on the floors of automobiles, showed no signs of having been cleaned or worked over.

Blood in liquid form may be removed from fabric if it is immediately and thoroughly soaked in cold water prior to the time that any drying or other chemical changes to the blood takes place. Once drying and other chemical changes occur, a blood stain, even in a small amount, is exceedingly difficult to remove.

It is pointed out the seats of the suspect's rented automobile were not submitted, and it is quite possible that blood from a victim could have been deposited on a seat and not on a floor mat.

Since the floor mats are no longer available as evidence almost any testimony regarding the mats, other than the negative results set forth in the Laboratory Report, would be purely hypothetical in nature and subject to all of the uncertainties characteristic of this type of questioning.

GASPAR CIACCIO, Owner of Temple Terrace Lounge, advised that he had had a meeting with Mayor DICK GRECO, Tampa, Fla., at the request of GRECO, and the meeting was to discuss JACK DE LA LLANA and the Char-pal Lounge.

According to CIACCIO, he related to GRECO circumstances of the beating that was administered to him on 10/8/70, and advised GRECO that prior to being forcefully taken into the Char-pal Lounge that he was told by LUIS and RAUL CHARBONIER that if JACK from the PD was there he was to tell him that he, GASPAR had been in a fight. He stated that he related to Mayor GRECO other incidents that had happened and as to DE LA LLANA's connections with the Char-pal Lounge.

According to CIACCIO, GRECO told him that DE LA LLANA's involvement in this matter was probably brought about, inasmuch as DE LA LLANA had been having family difficulties. CIACCIO was of the opinion that GRECO will not take any action against DE LA LLANA, in view of comments that GRECO made to him concerning JACK DE LA LLANA's family difficulties, the fact that he has been a long time employee of the Police Department and inasmuch as DE LA LLANA is respected by other police departments.

result of examination:

Specimens Q3 through Q17 were searched in the National Fraudulent Check File without effecting an identification. Copies will be added thereto.

It was concluded that the endorsements on specimens Q8, Q11 and the signature on specimen Q17 were prepared by LUIS CHARBONIER, FBI#5065330, based upon a comparison with fingerprint card signatures. In addition, similarities were noted in the second endorsement on specimen Q4 and the signatures on specimen Q6 and the available known writing of CHARBONIER.

Because of the lack of comparable known material, together with the presence of some unexplained variations, it could not be determined whether any of the remaining questioned writing on specimens Q3 through Q17 was or was not prepared by CHARBONIER, [redacted] FBI#635417N, or by COSME ROSADO, FBI#132297A, based upon a comparison with fingerprint card signatures.

The submitted material is returned herewith. Photographs have been made.

Mr. [] Foot, Cone, and Belding, Advertising Agency, 401 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, was interviewed at Cascade Pictures of California, 6601 Romaine Street, Los Angeles, California. [] advised as follows:

b6
b7c

He works for Foot, Cone and Belding Advertising Agency, Chicago, Illinois, and accompanies photographic teams to various locations in the United States on assignment by this company. He recalled that in early October 1970, he was a member of a photographic team consisting of four members who had several photographic assignments in Florida. He and the team arrived in Florida at the Tampa International Airport and rented a blue Ford car from the Hertz Company located at the airport.

He noted nothing unusual about the car and observed no marks or stains on the floor mats. He noted that their assignments took them to racing events at Orlando, Florida, and to a city adjacent to Cape Kennedy, name not recalled. There was rain and mud at both of these locations and the party tracked a considerable amount of mud into the car. The party was in and out of the car a great deal and could have tracked an amount of dirt or other debris into the car. The party also drank beer in the car on occasion and some beer could have been spilled on the mats.

Mr. [] said the group generally visited Winterhaven, Orlando, Gainesville, the unrecalled east coast city adjacent to Cape Kennedy, and Miami. The car was returned to the Hertz Company at Miami, Florida, the middle of October, exact date not recalled.

Mr. [] said no member of the group made mention of noticing anything unusual or significant about the car and made no mention of stained mats. Mr. [] said the group took turns driving the car and so he had occasion to ride in the front as well as the back. He said he rents numerous cars in the course of his business, generally is particular about these cars, and normally gives them a cursory check for general condition. He said he had no specific recollection of checking instant car, but probably made some check with negative results. Neither he nor any member of the group had the floor mats changed. No comment was made to the Hertz Company about the condition of the car upon its return to the Hertz Company at Miami, although the interior of the car was rather dirty and muddy.

By communication dated January 22, 1971 the FBI Laboratory advised that from their examination of the mat in the rear seat of the rental automobile in which victim, GASPAR CIACCIO, was transported from Temple Terrace Lounge to Char-Pal Lounge, failed to reflect any blood stains. At the request of U. S. Attorney the Lab in this communication advised that it would appear highly probable that blood stains could be removed in their entirety from the floor mat and they would be unable to testify other than the negative results set forth in the Lab report. For the information of the Bureau, trial in this matter was originally scheduled for 2/8/71 and upon motion filed by [REDACTED] attorney for all subjects in this matter, a continuance was granted until March 1, 1971.

On February 5, 1971 hearing was held before USDJ BEN KRENTZMAN who denied motions filed by [REDACTED] but at this time [REDACTED] indicated that he is presently scheduled for trial in the case entitled "FNU NORTH, JACKSONVILLE, FLA." and that this trial had a total of 24 subjects and is represented by 19 attorneys. [REDACTED] indicated to Judge KRENTZMAN that he would file a motion asking for additional continuance in this case.

On 2/9/71 information was received from Jacksonville that trial in case entitled "NORTH" was scheduled to commence on March 1st and that [REDACTED] was notified on November 18, 1970 that this trial would be held in USDC, Jacksonville. In view of this it appears highly probable that an additional continuance may be granted by Judge KRENTZMAN even though he had previously told [REDACTED] that under no circumstances would he grant him an additional continuance.

Circuit Judges Pledge Aid To Criminal Court

Hillsborough circuit judges have agreed to meet a request they help reduce a 400-case backlog in criminal courts here.

Presiding Circuit Judge John G. Hodges yesterday assigned all 10 circuit judges to serve a week each hearing criminal proceedings from March 8 to April 2. Also, Hodges said, Circuit Judge Carl Durrance, who recently moved to that bench from the criminal court, will serve during the week of Feb. 22-26.

The request came officially Wednesday from senior Criminal Court Judge Walter Burnside, who has borne the brunt of the criminal court load since assistant county solicitor Harry Coe III was appointed to take Durrance's spot on the bench. Coe is unable to preside in cases he helped prepare as assistant county solicitor.

IN ISSUING the order, Hodges made this statement:

"Pursuant to the legislative enactment last week conferring upon circuit courts concurrent jurisdiction with criminal courts of record to try non-capital felony cases, and recognizing that an emergency exists in the Criminal Court of Record in this circuit in the disposition of felony cases, I have this date assigned, with his concurrence, each of the circuit judges of this circuit to the Criminal Court of Record, for one week during the period from March 8 through April 2, 1971. With his consent I have assigned Honorable Carl C. Durrance, recently transferred from the Criminal Court of Record to this court, to also serve during the week of Feb. 22 through Feb. 26, 1971.

"IT IS THE FEELING of the judges of this court that this 'crash' program should alleviate any existing emergency situation in the Criminal Court of Record. The emergency arrangement, of course, requires cancellation of the trials of cases already set on our heavy civil calendar to the detriment and inconvenience of the litigants, witnesses and attorneys involved.

"The circuit court of this county has an outstanding case load of over eight thousand cases and in assuming the additional duties of the criminal court for this period of time we shall necessarily fall further behind in the disposition of these backlog cases.

"Although we are pleased to assist the judges of the criminal court in any way possible in carrying out the intent and purpose of the legislative enactment, our primary obligation should and must be the proper and efficient dispatch of the litigation pending before us in the circuit court.

"INASMUCH AS our case load is among the highest of any of the circuits in the state, if the judges of the criminal court feel that additional judges are still needed after the expiration of the emergency assignments, we believe that request therefor should be made to the chief justice of the Supreme Court for the assignment of active circuit judges with less work load or retired circuit judges. These assignments would be upon a temporary basis, however, and we strongly recommend to the legislature that sufficient additional judges be authorized for the criminal court on a permanent basis to insure the efficient administration of criminal justice in this county."

Judges Asked To Clear Court Jam

By KATHY SCOTT
Tribune Staff Writer

Criminal Court Judge Walter Burnside yesterday requested the assistance of Hillsborough Circuit Court judges in clearing up the backlog of criminal cases now pending in the county.

BASED ON a law enacted by the state legislature last week and under discussion by Burnside and presiding Circuit Court Judge John G. Hodges since that time, the request was followed by announcement that the circuit court judges will set aside about five weeks beginning March 8 "to clear up the emergency."

The Feb. 2 law authorized the presiding judge of the criminal court, if needed, to declare an emergency and on agreement by the presiding judge of the circuit court to transfer cases to the higher court for trial and assignment by that judge.

The schedule as prepared yesterday could mean as many as five cases could go to trial each day.

Judge Burnside said he expected the plan would alleviate many of the jail cases which have priority over others scheduled for the same day.

He said he was particularly interested, however, in ridding the dockets of the cases where persons are out on bond "because they are generally the ones that get delayed."

BURNSIDE ESTIMATED the backlog in the criminal court cases to be around 400, saying he would transfer the cases on a day-to-day basis.

"Making the transfers daily will mean that both criminal court judges will have taken cases for trial before a third case would be sent over to the circuit court," said Burnside. "If we just transferred a specified number, it is conceivable that a circuit court judge might have to try one of our cases while a criminal court judge had no trial in progress."

He said there often may be five or six cases set for trial but due to the unavailability of a witness or a conflicting appointment (such as a trial in another court) of an attorney, all of the cases might be continued or reset.

The transfer schedule provides for these circuit court judges to be available to accept transfer trials the week of March 8-12; two judges for March 15-18; one judge for March 22-26 and two judges for March 29 to April 2.

The availability of the circuit judges on these weeks will be in addition to criminal court judges Burnside and Harry Lee Coe III.

ADDITIONALLY, newly appointed Circuit Court Judge Carl Durrance has volunteered trial time for the week of Feb. 22-26.

Set for trial and transfer to circuit court on Feb. 22 is the case of six persons recently indicted for extortion, kidnaping and assault to murder in connection with alleged "strong arm" activities against a local bar owner.

It is expected that the case will be assigned to Judge Durrance, who recently moved from a criminal court judgeship to circuit court judgeship on appointment by former Gov. Claude Kirk Jr.

Charged in the indictment are James Burke, Henry Hill and Cosmo Rosado, of New York and local bar owners Raul and Luis Charbonier.

The charges against the six involve extorting $25,000 in debts from Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gaspar Ciacco.

Reportedly, quick passage of the law, under which the transfers are being made, stemmed from recent concern by the legislature over crowded jails which have figured in killings in two counties within the last couple of months.

Court delays extortion trial

A trial set for yesterday involving six defendants charged with assault with intent to commit first degree murder, kidnaping and extortion, was continued in Hillsborough criminal court.

The new date for the trial would be set for next month to be handled by visiting criminal Judge Rogers Turner of Orlando.

Defendants in the case, Luis and Raul Charbonier, both Tampa bar owners, and New Yorkers Luis Lopez, Henry Hill, James Burk and Cosmo Rosado — were indicted by state and federal grand juries late last year for alleged extortion of gambling debts from Gaspar Giacco, a Temple Terrace bar owner, and Dr. Felix LoCicero, a Tampa physician.

Trial for kidnap to start tomorrow

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

A kidnaping, extortion and assault to murder case involving two Tampa bar owners and four New Yorkers was expected to go to trial tomorrow before Hillsborough circuit court Judge Carl Durran.

Set to begin today, the case, involving bar owners Luis and Raul Charbonier, was continued until tomorrow when a criminal courtroom will be available, according to defense attorney Frank Ragano.

Ragano estimated that once under way the trial would last at least a week.

HE SAID his law partner, Raymond Laporte, would also help represent the six defendants after concluding a murder trial in Sarasota.

Ragano indicated he will call "a number of" defense witnesses during the trial.

Fifteen or more witnesses will be called by the state, said County Solicitor E. J. Salcines.

The solicitor and his assistants, Bob Knight and Mike Kavouklis, will represent the state in the trial.

THE CHARBONIERs, owners of the Charpal Lounge in north Tampa and Ernesto's Lounge in Ybor City, and the four New Yorkers, Luis Lopez, Henry Hill, James Burk and Cosmo Rosado, were indicted by the Hillsborough grand jury in November for kidnaping, extortion and assault with intent to commit first-degree murder in an alleged offense against Temple Terrace bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio last October.

The men were also indicted by the federal grand jury in November on various counts of extortion and interstate gambling stemming from an alleged extortion of gambling debts from Ciaccio and Tampa physician Felix LoCicero in October.

Trial on those charges is tentatively set for next Monday in U.S. district court.

Witness ill, trial put off till March 8

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Trial of six men on charges of extortion, kidnaping, and assault to murder was continued here today due to the reported illness of a key state witness.

Circuit Judge Carl Durance, handling the case by request of criminal court Judge Harry Coe, granted a motion for continuance filed by prosecutor Bob Knight.

The continuance was proposed by defense attorney Frank Ragano on grounds the delay imposed an unreasonable burden on the defense.

RAGANO SAID four defendants and some witnesses had to travel from out of the state to appear.

Defendants in the case — Luis and Raúl Charbonier, both Tampa bar owners; Luis Lopez, James Burk, Cosmo Rosado and Henry Hill of New York — are charged with kidnaping, extortion, and assault to commit first degree murder in connection with an alleged offense against Temple Terrace lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio last October.

The state asked for the continuance on grounds Ciaccio's brother, Fano Ciaccio, was ill.

KNIGHT ASSURED the court the witness, who he said is suffering from high blood pressure, probably would be able to attend the trial, which was reset for March 8.

Besides being indicted on the felony charges by Hillsborough County grand jurors, the six defendants were indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of extortion of gambling debts from Ciaccio and from Tampa physician Felix LoCicero.

Other federal charges deal with interstate gambling.

Trial on the federal indictments was set for next Monday but has been continued. No new trial date has been set, Ragano said.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 2/16/71

SANTO TRAFFICANTE, JR., residence address 740 N.E. 155th Street, Miami, Fla., Tampa address 2505 Bristol Avenue, was interviewed and being aware of the identity of SA JOHN A. AMBLER, and that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was conducting an investigation concerning COSME ROSADO and others, furnished the following voluntary information:

TRAFFICANTE stated that he has known COSME ROSADO, better known as CASEY, since ROSADO was a small youngster inasmuch as the ROSADO family resided in the same immediate neighborhood near 8th Avenue in Ybor City as did TRAFFICANTE. TRAFFICANTE stated that his association with ROSADO is a social acquaintance and that he has never employed ROSADO in any capacity nor has ROSADO ever employed TRAFFICANTE in any capacity. TRAFFICANTE stated that he has never visited the ROSADO residence in New York but did recall that during 1966, when he, TRAFFICANTE, was involved in an incident at La Stella Restaurant he may have had occasion to have lunch with ROSADO in New York. Likewise he stated that it is entirely possible that during this period of time there might have been telephone calls between ROSADO and himself from either Miami or Tampa to New York.

TRAFFICANTE stated that October, 1970 is a month that he can recall quite well for personal reasons and that he is absolutely certain that at no time around October 8, 1970 did he have occasion to see ROSADO either in Tampa or Miami and has no recollection of telephonically conversing with ROSADO around this period of time.

TRAFFICANTE commented that he has no recollection of having seen or talked with ROSADO at any time between Christmas 1969 and October, 1970 and recalls that until last Wednesday, February 10th, the last previous occasion when he was with ROSADO was about a year or 1½ year ago when both of them were in Miami and that ROSADO was apparently attending some type of convention. He stated that the occasion on Wednesday, when he saw ROSADO occurred when he, TRAFFICANTE, went to FRANK RAGANO's new law office and when he arrived he saw ROSADO and that he spoke to ROSADO, wished him goodluck and said goodbye and immediately left as he felt he should not be in ROSADO's presence.

TRAFFICANTE stated that he does not now recall the individual but does know that the individual who first made mention to him of GASPAR CIACCIO's alleged beating was not one of the individuals charged with the offense and was not a member of TRAFFICANTE's immediate family which would include individuals married to his nieces or nephews. TRAFFICANTE commented that as a matter of fact he is more acquainted with the CIACCIO family than he is with the ROSADOs.

TRAFFICANTE stated that he did not send [redacted] to see GASPAR CIACCIO concerning an alleged gambling debt involving CIACCIO and Dr. FELIX LO CICERO, RAUL CHARBONIER, and LUIS CHARBONIER and that he would positively state that he had not sent anyone to talk with any of these individuals concerning this matter and that he has had no personal conversation with GASPAR CIACCIO, FELIX LO CICERO, CASEY ROSADO, RAUL CHARBONIER or LUIS CHARBONIER concerning the incident. TRAFFICANTE added that he has not been consulted by anyone concerning the hiring of an attorney for ROSADO or the CHARBONIERs and again denied that he has ever discussed the incident with ROSADO.

TRAFFICANTE stated that he does not know HENRY HILL of New York; JAMES BURENE of New York, [redacted] official of a labor union in New York; nor does he know [redacted] of New York.

COSME ROSADO, Tampa Police Department #113215, taken December 29, 1964 and a photo of HENRY HILL, date taken unknown, and stated that the only individual he recognized was COSME ROSADO.

Bar Manager Is Attacked

Tampa police reported that the manager of a local lounge was attacked by a man wielding a tire iron and was robbed of an undetermined amount of cash early yesterday.

Robert Gonzalez, 46, told officers that he and one of his employees were closing the Char-Pal Lounge, 3711 Busch Blvd., at 3 a.m. when he was confronted by two men who had been drinking at the bar during the night.

One man had a tire iron and attempted to strike Gonzalez but missed and shattered a door window, Patrolman T. N. Howard said.

At this point the manager dropped a bag containing money from the cash register, the armed suspect grabbed it, and both bandits fled.

REFERENCE: Tampa report of SA [redacted] 2/10/71.

ADMINISTRATIVE:

For the information of the Bureau, State Trial in this matter charging each of the defendants with kidnaping, assault to murder, and extortion, was originally set by the Chief Supreme Justice of Florida for 3/31/71 before a visiting judge by the name of J. ROGER TURNER of Orlando, Florida. Trial in Federal Court was set, 2/8/71, but was continued when [redacted] attorney for the defendants, had previous trial commitments in USDC, Miami, Florida. Trial date at this time was continued on 2/8/71 to 3/1/71. On 1/14/71, the now chief presiding judge of Florida State Supreme Court and a reported friend of [redacted] rescinded the order absenting Judge TURNER and referred the case to Judge COE of Tampa for setting of trial. Judge COE set trial date in Tampa before Judge DURRANCE for the week of 2/22/71. Trial in State Court continued when FANO CIACCIO had slight stroke. New trial date set for 3/8/71 in State Court. [redacted] subsequently filed motion in USDC requesting continuance inasmuch as he was scheduled for trial in Jacksonville on 3/1/71 and he told Judge KRENTZMAN, USDC, that the defendants in this case as well as the defendant in the Jacksonville case would not permit any other attorney to handle the trial proceedings. Judge KRENTZMAN specifically asked [redacted] if his associate, [redacted] could not handle the case in USDC on 3/1/71 at which time [redacted] told him defendant would not permit this. Based on court trial scheduled in Jacksonville for 3/1/71, for [redacted] Judge KRENTZMAN continued trial in instant matter until 3/8/71. On 2/22/71, in State Court, [redacted] asked Judge DURRANCE that if he was not available for the trial on 3/8/71 in State Court that his associate [redacted] would handle the proceedings.

b6
b7C

This information was brought to the attention of Judge KRENTZMAN by AUSA [redacted] as to the discrepancies in the statements that the defendants would not permit his associate to handle the trial and Judge KRENTZMAN advised that he realized [redacted] lied to him but he would not issue contempt citation, but, inasmuch as he had granted the continuance, would abide by this decision. Judge KRENTZMAN stated that he would continue trial date of 3/29/71 but also has another trial scheduled involving medicare which is scheduled for the same date and is a much older case and he expects to try this case prior to the CHARBONIER case.

County Solicitor E. J. SALCINES is attempting proceeding with his trial in State Court on 3/8/71, however, the State is dropping the charge of extortion against subjects and will only be trying them on kidnaping and assault to murder charges which in no way could possibly constitute double jeopardy.

6 Go On Trial Today In Extortion Case

The trial of two local bar Henry Hill owners and four New York "muscle men" on charges of extortion, kidnaping and assault to murder gets under way in Circuit Court this morning before Judge Carl Durrance.

Defense attorney Frank Ragano and Assistant County Solicitor Robert Knight have estimated that the trial, stemming from alleged extortion activities which made "key witness" Fano unavailable, will occupy most of the week.

The state attorney's case, which saw both county and federal grand juries in Tampa return indictments in November, charges brothers Luis and Raul Charbonier, owners of lounges in north Tampa and Ybor City, and Felix LoCicero, who is expected New Yorkers Luis Lopez, James Burke, Cosmo Rosado and the week's proceedings.

Both state and federal trials set in the past month have been continued. No new trial date has been set in federal court, in which the six were charged under extortion and interstate gambling laws.

Last month's trial delay in the state's case was said to have been due to high blood pressure of "key witness" Fano, who is the brother of Temple Terrace lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio, alleged to have been one of the victims of the extortion activities.

Threats for gambling debts were also said to have been made against Tampa physician John Charbonier, owners of lounges in north Tampa and Ybor City, and Felix LoCicero, who is expected New Yorkers Luis Lopez, James Burke, Cosmo Rosado and the week's proceedings.

Six Men Go On Trial In Extortion Case

By KATHY SCOTT
Tribune Staff Writer

Selection of a six-member jury is scheduled to continue at 9:30 a.m. today in Hillsborough County Circuit Court where six men, including two brothers, are to go on trial on charges of kidnaping, extortion and assault to murder.

IN THE TRIAL scheduled to reconvene before Judge Carl Durrance, the defendants — Cosmos Rosado, Luis Charbonier, Luis Lopez, Henry Hill, James Burke and Raul Charbonier — will again take their seats in a courtroom which already has seen approximately 30 prospective jurors excused on challenges by the state and defense.

Jurors were questioned on possible acquaintances with any of the witnesses in the case and asked if they were familiar with the Temple Terrace Lounge or its owner, Gaspar Ciaccio, alleged victim of a pistol-whipping over gambling debts.

Labor union affiliation also was noted by attorneys who asked jurors if such connections would influence them.

Earlier information following indictments returned in Tampa by both the state and federal grand jury showed that Lopez and Rosado are officers of a New York union and Burke was named by a New York federal grand jury as one of 16 men connected with an alleged stock market infiltration that involved beatings and threats to take over a Miami investment company.

THE TWO Charboniers are brothers and owners of bars in north Tampa and Ybor City. The remaining four are New Yorkers, alleged to be the "strong arm" men.

Federal action on the six defendants, although as yet unscheduled since the March 1 trial date continuance, did contain bond hearings which saw Ciaccio and local physician Felix LoCicero (listed in federal charges as another victim of the same six men) testify to threats and fear of retaliation if they did not pay their debts.

LoCicero recounted that he was able to pay the $4,000 debt he owed on Oct. 10, 1970. Ciaccio is said to have owed approximately $8,000.

The trial is expected to take one week.

Trial for six under way

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Six defendants — including two Tampa brothers — went on trial today on charges of kidnaping, extortion and assault with intent to commit first-degree murder involving a Temple Terrace lounge operator.

Luis and Raul Charbonier, owners of the Char-Pal Lounge on Temple Terrace Highway and Ernesto's Lounge in Ybor City, and four New Yorkers, Luis Lopez, James Burk, Cosmo Rosado and Henry Hill, appeared in court this morning with attorneys Frank Ragano and Raymond LaPorte.

Present in a courthouse corridor leading to circuit court Judge Carl Durrance's courtroom were the men's alleged victim, Gaspar Ciaccio, and Tampa physician Felix Lo Cicero, listed in federal charges as another victim of the same six defendants.

UNDER THREE counts of a state grand jury indictment the six men were charged with offenses allegedly committed against Ciaccio Oct. 8 when he was taken from the Temple Terrace lounge to the Char-Pal and beaten.

Federal grand jury indictment against the six men accused them of extorting gambling debts from Ciaccio and Lo Cicero in October.

Trial on those charges has not been held but testimony in a bond setting hearing revealed details of the alleged offenses.

Both Gaspar and Raul Ciaccio testified in federal court that the defendants had threatened to eliminate their families if they testified against the defendants.

Both men recounted the assault on Gaspar Ciaccio in which Gaspar said he was beaten with fists, feet and pistols en route to the Char-Pal and inside the lounge.

Lo Cicero testified in the same hearing he feared "retaliation" even though he said he paid a $4,004 gambling debt to the defendants Oct. 10.

Federal indictment against the six men said they extorted a total $14,500 from Gaspar Ciaccio and Lo Cicero.

THE ALLEGED offense against Lo Cicero was reportedly not brought before Hillsborough grand jurors; the same week the offense was presented to federal grand jurors.

State indictments returned against the defendants involved only the offense against Ciaccio.

Police testimony expected

Tampa police Sgt. Jack de la Llana, whose name has been mentioned in connection with a bar involved in a kidnaping-extortion trial in circuit court, may testify for the state during the trial.

De la Llana, head of criminal intelligence unit, is listed among other state witnesses subpoenaed to testify in the trial against Luis and Raul Charbonier of Tampa and four New Yorkers, charged in alleged offenses against Temple Terrace bar operator Gaspar Ciaccio.

FEDERAL prosecutor Bernard Dempsey in a hearing involving the same defendants on federal charges asked Raul Charbonier if De la Llana had interests in Charbonier's Chap-Pal lounge where Ciaccio was allegedly beaten Oct. 8 for failure to pay a gambling debt.

Charbonier denied De La Llana having interest in the bar.

Under Florida beverage laws, law enforcement officers are prohibited from having interests in liquor businesses.

State prosecutor Bob Knight said today he might call the sergeant to the stand. But Knight declined to say what questions he would put to the high ranking officer.

Barman Tells Of Kidnaping, Beating

By KATHY SCOTT
Tribune Staff Writer

Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio yesterday told a Hillsborough County Circuit Court jury of an extortion, kidnaping and assault to murder trial that he had been beaten and pistol-whipped because he owed $8,000 in baseball gambling debts.

FOR MORE THAN four hours, Ciaccio recounted incidents of the night of last Oct. 8—incidents which led to both state and federal grand jury indictments against defendants Raul and Luis Charbonier (local bar owners), and New Yorkers Henry Hill, Cosmos Rosado, James Burke and Luis Lopez.

Saying he had become involved in the gambling at the suggestion of Raul Charbonier, whom he had known for many years, Ciaccio testified that Raul had assured him he couldn't lose and that he had in fact collected close to $3,500 and was "owed" another $7,000 to $8,000 before he started losing.

Admitting he had bet as much as $6,000 in a weekend, Ciaccio told jurors when he became $8,000 in debt he had been warned and threatened by both the Charbonier brothers that he must pay up. He was confronted at his lounge in October, after he had said he couldn't pay, he said.

Making appearances at short intervals, the defendants, according to Ciaccio, took him from his lounge by car to one of the Charbonier brothers' lounges, the Char-Pal in Temple Terrace.

Ciaccio said he was taken at gunpoint, beaten both physically and with a gun while in the car with the four New Yorkers and beaten again in the Char-Pal stockroom where he was taken until his brother arrived with the money that was demanded.

CIACCIO SAID at one point he was told he would be put in a freezer and his wife made a prostitute if he didn't cooperate and come up with the money. At another point he was told he would be killed and "dumped in the Busch Gardens fountain."

The lengthy account was attacked in cross-examination by defense attorney Frank Ragano in five specific areas of Ciaccio's story.

"When you started losing, why didn't you quit?" Ragano asked.

Ciaccio said Raul told him he would never lose. He said he didn't understand the betting and just took the teams that Raul suggested.

"Besides," Ciaccio said, "we found out the odds had been changed."

Ciaccio said he didn't understand the betting but he had been told that was why he was losing. He said Raul told him he didn't need any money to bet and, not having any, "that was why I couldn't pay when they wanted the money."

CIACCIO'S TESTIMONY indicated no money ever went from his hands to Raul's, only that winnings came to him until he was confronted for the debts he owed.

Ragano also questioned Ciaccio's statement that he never became unconscious despite all the beatings he said he received in the "head and ribs," Ragano asked, "How was it that the 30 or 40 people in the Char-Pal Lounge were not disturbed when, as you said, you were taken through the bar 'all bloody' and with a coat over your head?"

Ciaccio said one person he knew, Jim Peoples, recognized him and mumbled something as he was being taken to the stockroom.

Ragano also questioned the "threats" Ciaccio had cited, saying, "How is it you never told me about them when I questioned you in January?"

Ciaccio said he had not been asked and had forgotten them at the time.

"AND YOU SAY that at one point, when a friend of yours entered the Char-Pal later, three of the defendants threw their guns in a dishwashing sink full of water and later retrieved them?" Ragano asked.

Ciaccio said that because his brother, Tony Marchese, came in the bar.

Ciaccio told of returning to his lounge after the debt was paid in $2,000 amounts rounded up by his brother from four relatives. His injuries, he said, were treated first by his friends and later by a physician at University Community Hospital.

Ciaccio's brother, Fano Ciaccio, is expected to be the first witness when trial resumes before Circuit Court Judge Carl C. Durrance at 9:30 a.m. today.

Beating blamed on bets

BY DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Temple Terrace bar owner Gaspar Ciaccio yesterday testified he gambled on baseball and football games to make $50,000 with the understanding he wouldn't lose a cent.

Instead, he said he wound up with $8,000 in gambling debts and a brutal beating he attributed to six defendants in the criminal case.

Ciaccio, owner of the Temple Terrace Lounge, was the first state's witness to testify in the trial of Tampa bar owners and brothers Luis and Raul Charbonier, New Yorkers James Burk, Cosmo Rosado, Henry Hill and Bill Lopez.

During several hours on the stand, the handsome liquor businessman testified that he and Tampa physician Felix Lo Cicero were entangled in gambling and said he was beaten and his family threatened by the assailants.

In cross examination, defense attorney Frank Ragano attempted to damage the star witness' credibility by delving into Ciaccio's logic that he could get something for nothing in gambling.

Ragano also pointed out discrepancies in Ciaccio's testimony and in a previous sworn statement concerning amounts of winnings and mention of his family's being threatened.

Ciaccio testified he and Lo Cicero began gambling last June July under Raul Charbonier's direction.

He said he had "faith" in the venture.

He said he started betting $50 on each of several baseball games a day which later increased to $1,000 a game.

But after he said he had won $5,500 to $6,500, "the odds changed" and he and Lo Cicero "lost the whole $7,000 to $8,000 plus."

At mid-summer, he testified, Raul asked him for the money.

On Oct. 8, he said, Luis Charbonier and the four New Yorkers forcibly took him from his lounge to Raul's Char-Pal Lounge in north Tampa.

On the route, Ciaccio testified, he was pistol-whipped by Lopez and Hill and punched by Rosado, who he claimed threatened to put his children in a refrigerator and make his wife a prostitute.

"I was praying. I couldn't believe this was happening to me," he said.

Arriving at the Char-Pal, Ciaccio said he was kept in the auto while three of the men called his brother, Fano, to arrange payment of the gambling debt.

While waiting, Ciaccio said Hill told him he'd be drowned in a fountain in Busch Gardens near the Char-Pal, if the debt wasn't settled.

Ciaccio said then he was told to put his coat over his bloodied head to be taken into the Char-Pal which he said had 40 to 50 patrons at the time.

He named acquaintances who saw him in the Char-Pal, as well as others who saw him escorted from his own lounge.

On Oct. 11 in the Char-Pal stockroom, Ciaccio said, he was kicked and punched by "six elephants on me."

He said Raul later returned him to his lounge and that he paid the debt a week later through his brother.

A month after the beating, state and federal grand juries indicted the six defendants on a variety of felonies, including charges.

Trial on the state charges of extortion, kidnapping and assault to murder in the first degree continued today in circuit court.

'Crazy' Events Told At Trial

A young woman, who worked one night in October as a barmaid at the Char-Pal Lounge, told jurors in the extortion, kidnaping and assault-to-murder trial of six men that the evening's events were so "crazy" she quit.

Mrs. Joyce Kelly testified as one of the state's strongest witnesses, saying she saw a man "with his coal collar up over his neck" being helped into the lounge and later helped out, after he was taken into a storeroom "for more than an hour."

"I heard moaning and groaning coming from the room," she said.

Under questioning from Assistant County Solicitor Robert Knight, she additionally identified each defendant on trial, saying they had "gone in and out of the stockroom." She pointed out which men she served drinks to at the bar and which men she served drinks to at a table.

"I was told to stay out of the stockroom," she told the court.

"When I asked what was going on, I was told some girl had gotten beat up and they didn't want their wives to know and they had to get her out of jail."

IN THE TRIAL before Circuit Court Judge Carl Durrance, the state has maintained that two local men, owners of the Char-Pal Lounge in Temple Terrace and Ernesto's Lounge in Ybor City, and four New York "strong-arm" men extorted baseball gambling debts from Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio in an October beating and kidnaping sequence.

Frank Ragano is representing defendants Luis and Raul Charbonier, the local bar owners, Henry Hill, Cosmos Rosado, James Burke and Luis Lopez. The attorney was denied a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal late yesterday and is set to present his case this morning.

proximately 30 state witnesses recount, with varying degrees of contradiction, events they were involved in the night of Oct. 8.

Ragano, in cross-examining the state's witnesses, has shown that many observed "nothing unusual" about the "men in business suits," and nothing unusual about the appearance of Ciaccio after he was "supposed to have been beaten."

Regano additionally questioned a Temple Terrace police officer, called twice by Ciaccio's friends to come to the bar, who told Ragano that he was told "nothing was the matter," that the calls had been a misunderstanding.

ASKED IF SHE had seen any blood on Ciaccio, the barmaid said she had not.

Further testimony from Mrs. Kelly, that she had gone into the stockroom after everyone left, showed she had found "a lot of smoke and" a puddle of what looked like water.

"Did you find any blood in the storeroom?"

"No."

"Did you see any guns?"

"No."

Testimony from Ciaccio included accounts of being taken from his lounge at gun point, being beaten and pistol whipped in a car on the way to the Char-Pal, and being covered with blood; "I had to wipe it out of my eyes and it got on my shirt and my tie," Ciaccio told the court Tuesday.

OTHERS CALLED to testify in yesterday's court action included Dr. Felix LoCicero named as a second extortion victim in federal indictments stemming from the same incidents). The doctor said he performed plastic surgery on Ciaccio the morning of Oct. 9. Also testifying was the chief of Tampa Police department's intelligence unit.

Sgt. Jack de la Llana answered questions put to him by Knight on the layout of the Char-Pal Lounge and the stockroom in which Ciaccio said he was beaten. This testimony was objected to by Ragano who said the comments were "completely irrelevant to the case."

Knight additionally asked if De la Llana was in the lounge the night of Oct. 8 to which he answered, "no."

De la Llana was first mentioned in connection with the case when he was named in testimony during a federal court bond hearing for the Charbonier brothers.

At that time Raul Charbonier was asked by a U.S. attorney if a Mr. Palomino or a Sgt. De la Llana had any interest in the Char-Pal Lounge. Raul said they did not. The government attorney refused to elaborate on the reason for his question.

Dr. LoCicero told the court of a call from Raul the night of Oct. 8 during which he was told "they have Gaspar in the car and they have some gasoline and they are coming to your house."

LoCICERO SAID he assured Raul that he would have the $4,000 he owed on the baseball gambling debts to him in two days. He said he put the alarm system on at his home and left the lights on all night.

Asked by Ragano is his life was threatened or if he was threatened with beatings if he didn't come up with the money, LoCicero said, "No, but I was frightened."

All Six Acquitted Of Extortion

By KATHY SCOTT
Tribune Staff Writer

Two Tampa bar owners and four New Yorkers yesterday walked out of a criminal court trial for extortion, kidnaping and assault to murder as free men.

Eighteen verdicts of innocent were returned by a four-man, two-woman jury after an hour and 10 minutes of deliberation in the fifth day of trial before Circuit Court Judge Carl Durrance.

Luis and Raul Charbonier, owners of the Char-Pal Lounge in Temple Terrace and Ernesto's in Ybor City, and New Yorkers Henry Hill, Cosmos Rosado, James Burke and Luis Lopez each received three acquittals on charges which alleged the six had extorted baseball gambling debts from Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio in an October beating and kidnaping sequence.

THE SAME SIX men face trial in Tampa's federal district court March 29 for grand jury indictments of extortion and interstate gambling stemming from the same incident.

Had the six been convicted, they would have faced maximum prison terms of 40 years each.

Defense attorney Frank Ragano, after placing a single defendant on the stand, told jurors yesterday, "What this case boils down to is a brawl between two men who were involved in illegal gambling, but that's not what they're on trial for."

Ragano attacked the testimony of the state's two key witnesses — alleged victim Gaspar Ciaccio and his brother Fano — in a point-by-point description of apparent discrepancies in their stories, saying "if you believe these two men lied in a material statement ... you can disregard their entire testimony."

GASPAR, ON the witness stand for more than four hours Tuesday, told jurors he was taken from his bar at gunpoint, beaten and pistol whipped in a car on the way to the Char-Pal and beaten again in the bar's stockroom, until his brother agreed to come up with $8,000 in gambling debts.

Fano told jurors that he knew nothing of his brother's debts until the night of Oct. 8 when he was told to produce the money in return for his brother.

The state substantiated its case Thursday in testimony from one of their strongest witnesses, a barmaid at the Char-Pal, who said she saw Gaspar "helped" into the bar and heard "moaning and groaning from the stockroom."

Ragano placed only a single witness on the stand in presenting his clients' case yesterday — defendant Cosmos Rosado.

ROSADO TOLD of a similar set of events the night of Oct. 8 — events which included appearances of everyone called by the state as having been involved.

According to Rosado, he and his three friends from New York traveled to Tampa for a "four-day weekend, because it was Columbus Day and we wanted to get out of the hustle-bustle of the city."

Rosado stated that Tampa was his home, where his parents, cousins and relatives lived, and where he was born and lived until the 1950s. He said his family and his longtime friend Luis Charbonier knew he was coming.

Rosado said he met Luis at the Columbia Restaurant, was asked to go along with Luis who had an appointment to collect some gambling debts from a friend and stopped for drinks and conversation at the Temple Terrace and the Char-Pal lounges.

OR THE FIRST stop at the Temple Terrace Lounge, Rosado said Luis and Gaspar got into a heated argument with Luis asking for the money, Gaspar saying Raul had told him he didn't have to pay it, and Luis saying he'd "like to hear Gaspar say that in front of his brother.

"Gaspar agreed, so we all left his bar in one car and went to the Char-Pal where Raul was," Rosado told jurors.

Rosado said at the Char-Pal they had more drinks and the debt was brought up again.

"Luis and Gaspar were both angry and then a fight started in the stockroom. Raul and I pulled the two apart and calmed them down and then Raul got a towel with ice for Gaspar's face."

THE BARMAID WHO told jurors Thursday that she heard "moaning and groaning," said that after the men left she went into the stockroom and "found it very smoky and a puddle of water was on the floor."

When asked why they had not stayed the four days as planned, Rosado said that his friends had wanted to go to Miami and another friend had a call from a relative about an illness in the family.

According to Rosado they ate dinner at his mother's house very late and left Tampa about 6 a.m. the morning after they arrived.

Prosecutor Robert Knight called nearly 30 witnesses, requesting the jury yesterday to disregard minor conflicts of memories and dwell instead on the facts as they emerged in the total picture.

KNIGHT POINTED to the gambling debts and to Raul

Charbonier, saying "he operated like any good con man would — he gave Gaspar and Dr. Felix LoCicero a little incentive in the initial winning payments and when he had them hooked, the good luck disappeared and they continued to lose until they had large debts."

LoCicero, although a witness in the criminal court case, is named as an alleged victim in the federal case scheduled for trial the end of the month.

Witnesses stories vary in extortion case

By DANIEL ALARCON
Times Staff Writer

Liquor and vending machine businessman Frank Albano today testified Fano Ciacchio, brother of a Temple Terrace bar owner beaten for not paying gambling debts, knew about the debts before the Oct. 8 beating.

Ciacchio yesterday testified he didn't know about his brother Gaspar's $8,000 debt until Gaspar was allegedly abducted by five of six defendants in a criminal case and held until arrangements were set for a payoff.

State prosecutor Robert Knight was expected to rest his case today against the defendants.

So far, state's testimony has tended to show that Temple Terrace bar owner Gaspar Ciacchio, the alleged victim of the defendants, was escorted by five men from his bar before being beaten and held at another bar for failure to pay the debt.

But, inconsistencies in testimony of state witnesses among themselves or between their trial statements and previous statements, has given defense attorney Frank Ragano material to attack the state's case before six jurors.

DEFENDANTS are Luis and Raul Charbonier, Tampa bar owners and brothers, and Luis Lopez, Henry Hill, Cosmo Rosado and James Burk of New York.

Fano Ciacchio yesterday testified he promised to pay the defendants his brother's $8,000 gambling debt in exchange for Gaspar's return.

Fano Ciacchio testified he paid Raul Charbonier after, he said, Raul threatened to have the Ciacchio family killed.

Under cross examination by Ragano, Fano Ciacchio said he would never forget Charbonier's threat.

Ragano then asked the witness why he didn't mention the threat in a statement he gave Ragano only two days before.

CIACCIO SAID he didn't remember whether he related the threat but remembered not being asked specifically about it.

Fano Ciacchio denied having a gun when he and two other men went to Raul Charbonier's Char-Pai Lounge Oct. 8 to see Raul.

However, the two men who went with him testified Ciacchio had a gun in his station wagon's glove compartment.

Several state witnesses who patronized or worked at Ciacchio's bar Oct. 8 said they saw several men escort Gaspar Ciacchio from the bar.

WHILE SOME witnesses said they felt the departure was unusual, others testified they didn't think anything of it and forgot it until questioned by investigators.

Testimony of witnesses Fano Ciacchio, Tony Marchese,

Eugene Rivera and Paul Capolino, held that Gaspar returned to the bar with bleeding head wounds which required treatment at the University Community Hospital.

Gaspar Ciacchio testified Tuesday his gambling debt stemmed from bets he made through Raul Charbonier on baseball and football games.

He testified the defendants beat him after he told them he could not pay the debt.

Suspect denies beating charge

By DANIEL ALARCÓN
Times Staff Writer

New York union president Cosmo Rosado, a criminal case defendant, today testified he came to Tampa Oct. 8, to see his parents and not to kidnap and extort a gambling debt payment from a Temple Terrace bar owner.

Rosado, a native Tammpan and head of a New York — based airport and restaurant commissaries union, said he and codefendants Luis López, Henry Hill and James Burk planned to spend the four-day weekend here.

But, he said, he and the others decided to leave for Miami the same night after his cousin, Luis Charbonier had a fight with Temple Terrace Lounge owner Gaspar Ciaccio at the Char-Pal Lounge owned by Charbonier's brother, Raul. The Charboniers are charged, along with the New Yorkers with extortion, kidnapping and assault to murder in the second degree.

CONTRARY to Ciaccio's claim earlier in the trial that he made baseball bets through Raul and later could not pay gambling debts, Rosado said Ciaccio was the one who took bets Luis Charbonier made through Raul.

Rosado said he and Raul broke up a fight between Ciaccio and Luis Charbonier in the Char-Pal's stockroom and that Ciaccio was later returned to his own bar.

Rosado denied he and the others forced Ciaccio from his own bar earlier that evening or beat him in a car or in the Char-Pal.

The witness testified he and his friends had accompanied Luis Charbonier to Ciaccio's lounge so Luis could collect money from Ciaccio.

When Ciaccio told Luis he would not pay without consulting Raul, Rosado said they took Ciaccio to the Char-Pal to see Raul.

Attorney Frank Ragano yesterday argued Ciaccio was not kidnaped Oct. 8, since he was not kept in "secret confinement." He said the Florida Supreme Court has ruled such an element is necessary in an offense to legally make it kidnapping.

Ragano also attacked the logic of the other charges against his clients.

IF A CULPRIT beats a victim to extort money from him, the culprit will not seek to murder the individual if he expects to get the money, reasoned Ragano.

If this is what occurred in the case involving Ciaccio — which Ragano did not concede — then the charge of assault with intent to commit first degree murder is inappropriate, he said.

Refusing to free the defendants, circuit Judge Carl Duran said he will leave deliberation on the charges to six jurors hearing the case.

EARLY YESTERDAY, a young woman, testifying for the state, said all the defendants were at a north Tampa lounge where they were accused of holding and beating Ciaccio for not paying an $8,000 gambling debt.

Her testimony was the first of any other employee or patron of the Char-Pal or Ciaccio's lounge to identify all defendants and place them at a scene of the alleged offenses.

Miss Joyce Kelley testified she worked one night at Raul Charbonier's Char-Pal Lounge Oct. 8, a night she characterized as one of "confusion."

Miss Kelley said she saw the defendants take a man, similar in appearance to Ciaccio, through the lounge into a stockroom-office.

SHE SAID THE MAN who appeared to be Ciaccio entered the bar with his coat covering his face and seemed to be sick or hurt.

After the individual was taken into the stockroom, Miss Kelley said she heard "moaning, groaning type sounds" coming from the room.

"I wasn't allowed to go in there," she said.

Meanwhile, the men who escorted the individual walked in and out of the stockroom, "running around" the bar and having drinks, she said.

MISS KELLEY SAID the men she identified as the defendants conversed excitedly in Spanish, "embracing" and "kissing each other."

"It was unusual," she said.

When the men brought the individual out of the stock-room, they held him under the arms, she said.

No one asked why the young woman worked at the bar for only one day.

Prosecutor Bob Knight rested his case yesterday after calling his last witness, Tampa Police Sgt. Jack de la Llana, head of the force's criminal intelligence unit.

ASKED IF HE WERE at the Char-Pal Oct. 8, the officer replied, "no sir, I don't recall being there."

But, De la Llana said he has been in the bar in the past.

Ragano asked Durrance to take the policeman's testimony off the record on grounds it was unrelated to the case.

KNIGHT SAID IT was relevant on grounds the officer's name had previously come up in the trial, but did not pursue the matter after Ragano asked when.

DE LA LLANA'S NAME came up in connection with the Char-Pal last November in a federal court hearing involving other charges against the same six men.

A He stayed for a couple of days, I think.

Q A couple of days. Was his wife with him at the time?

Q Right.

A -- Cleaning.

6 Accused Of Perjury In Jury Action

By KATHY SCOTT
Tribune Staff Writer

An extensive probe into area gambling and racketeering produced six arrests for the FBI yesterday as the result of federal grand jury indictments returned Wednesday.

The six are accused in perjury indictments of giving false information at previous grand jury sessions in Tampa.

Contents of seven other indictments also were disclosed yesterday. Two gambling figures were named. Three persons were cited on counterfeiting charges and another was accused of bank robbery.

AMONG THOSE named in the perjury indictments was Frank Rosado Sr., 69-year old Tampa resident and father of Cosmo Rosado, identified by federal authorities as a New York union president awaiting trial in Tampa on charges of extortion and interstate gambling.

The four-count indictment against Frank Rosado is based on questions asked him in connection with a visit by his son in October, 1970. He was released from custody under $2,500 bond.

Cosmo Rosado is accused in state charges of participating in the beating of a Temple Terrace lounge operator in what state officials termed an attempt to "extort" payment of gambling debts.

INDICTED FOR perjury in other cases were:

— Richard Peter Aceto, owner of A-1 Bargain Store, 8518 Nebraska Ave., arrested because of testimony given to the grand jury in December.

— Thomas Muri Deemer, 309 South Fremont, arrested on a three count indictment for "false information" given in connection with a gambling probe. He was said to have denied knowledge of certain gambling operations.

— Aubrey Woodard, 570 Lake Bonny Drive, Lakeland, charged with one count of perjury in connection with book-making activities in Lakeland.

— Onelia Cenal, 4021 North Glen, for three counts of perjury in December. She additionally faces state felony lottery law violations based on a 1970 wire-tap investigation.

— JOE PLESCIA, Jr., 206½ North MacDill Ave. The indictment stated the perjury involved relating to his possible connections with gambling.

Other indictments included charges of a felon in possession of a firearm, naming Roland Rodriguez, who faces two state felony lottery trials based on wire-tap investigations.

Also indicted:

— James Donofrio, Tampa liquor businessmen now serving time for a federal conviction. Following a recent dismissal, charges of perjury in connection with a local firm's bankruptcy proceedings were renewed and new charges of tax fraud were filed.

— OLIVER LEE Clouser, charged with the $7,000 robbery of the Capital National Bank in Tampa in March.

— Harold Dean Audsley, charged in a two count indictment with having transported from New York 5000 shares of stolen securities (Texas Gulf Sulphur Co.) in the amount of $101,250 and attempting to secure a loan with them.

— Wayne Hunter Carlton, 807½ E. Genessee St., possession of counterfeit notes after federal agents recovered $53,820 in currency and plates.

— Donald Ray James and Sue Graham Holt of Texas for possession of $2,700 in counterfeit $20 bills.
