10 MAFIA FIGURES BALK AT QUESTIONS

Crime Grand Jury Fails to Get Any Answers at All

Guests at a lavish Long Island wedding last month appeared yesterday before a Federal grand jury interested in whether they had found more time to discuss underworld business than the bride's gown.

Ten of the 500 persons who were at the wedding are Mafia figures who appeared before the grand jury and, in typical underworld fashion, refused to discuss anything, including what they wore at the wedding.

Almost 100 witnesses have appeared before the grand jury, which is investigating organized crime and seeking to unravel the disappearance of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, the reputed former leader of a Mafia group. Bonanno has been missing since Oct. 21, 1964, when he was allegedly abducted by two armed men the night he was to appear before the same grand jury.

Members of the two Mafia families were among the guests at the wedding Nov. 14 at the Huntington Townhouse, Huntington Station, L. I. The bride, Kathleen Di Gregorio, was married to Louis Calluccio. The bride's father, Gaspar Di Gregorio, is the man allegedly selected to replace Bonanno.

Most Wanted Guest

The one guest at the wedding the Government wanted most to appear before the grand jury was Steve Maggadino, who heads the Mafia family that allegedly controls underworld activities in the Buffalo area. He did not appear.

United States Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau said that Maggadino had been served with a subpoena last Friday ordering his appearance yesterday. Maggadino's lawyer said his client would be unable to appear because he was confined to his home in Buffalo with a heart ailment.

Mr. Morgenthau said the Government would seek the appointment of a physician to determine Maggadino's condition. When Maggadino was ordered to appear before the same grand jury last March he entered a hospital, allegedly with a heart condition.

Last June, when Di Gregorio was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury, he, too, entered a hospital.

10 In Mafia Appear

Ten Mafia figures appeared before the grand jury yesterday, including five from Buffalo. The five from Buffalo were Maggadino's son, Peter; Maggadino's son-in-law, Vincent Sero; Fred Randaccio, underboss; Joseph Bongiorno, and Samuel Rangtore.

The five others who appeared were Salvatore Bonanno, son of the missing underworld boss; Joseph Notaro; John Joseph Morale, also known as Johnny Burns; Paul Sciacca, and Carl Samari.

On the afternoon of 11/30/65, at approximately 1:28 p.m. the writer observed GASPARE DI GREGORIO and his wife as they entered 737 5th Street, West Babylon. They had arrived at this location in a late model gray Sedan bearing NY license 3173SB. It is believed that this plate number is known to the NYO and is registered to DI GREGORIO and/or his family.

It was also noted that on this occasion a vehicle closely resembling the old blue Dodge formerly operated by the DI GREGORIO family was observed at the Sunoco gas station located at the intersection of Rt. 109 and 6th Avenue, which is several blocks removed from the DI GREGORIO residence. This vehicle bore NY license SQ1026. It is believed that this vehicle has been previously reported to the NYO and the registrant of this number is known.

According to [redacted] VINCENT DI GREGORIO advised he was going to New York City on 11/10/65 to attend a "funeral" of a relative.

VINCENT DI GREGORIO is a nephew of STEVE MAGADDINO, born 2/20/14 and married to [redacted]

[redacted] VINCENT DI GREGORIO, residing at 4242 Crescent Drive, Niagara Falls, N.Y., was last known to drive a 1958 white Ford bearing New York License 7E334. This car was not observed in the Niagara Falls area on 11/12/65.

b7C

Previous investigation disclosed that [redacted] by marriage, and residing at the Sleepy Time Motel, 6831 Pine Ave., Niagara Falls, N.Y., drives a 1962 Ford bearing New York License [redacted] This car could not be located in the Niagara Falls area on 11/12/65.

BU 92-576

Spot checks of the residence of MAGADDINO and his

[redacted]
were made on 11/12/65. Spot checks were also made of the parking lot of the Camellia Linen Supply Company, Inc., Fillmore and East Delavan Sts. in Buffalo, N.Y.

It was noted that the car normally driven by VINCENT A. SCRO, a son-in-law of STEVE MAGADDINO and known to have New York License 7E8072 was not observed at his home or the parking lot of the laundry in Buffalo, N.Y. It was noted that the car normally driven by [redacted] and bearing New York Registration [redacted] was parked at the laundry during the afternoon of 11/12/65.

On the afternoon of 11/13/65, Senior Investigator [redacted] New York State Police, Lewiston, N.Y., advised that he had caused spot surveillances of the home of STEVE MAGADDINO on Dana Drive in Lewiston, N.Y., and at the Magaddino Memorial Chapel in Niagara Falls, N.Y., on Saturday, 11/13/65. He stated that there was no indication during these spot surveillances that STEVE MAGADDINO was planning to leave the area.

The New York Office advised that the Suffolk County Police Department was planning to establish photographic coverage of the wedding and that the New York City Police Department was planning to furnish discreet physical and possibly photographic coverage of the wedding. In order not to compromise these surveillances in New York City, no open inquiries or additional surveillances were conducted of members of the "Magaddino Family" during the period 11/11 through 14/65 in the Niagara Falls area.

SHOOTING INQUIRY IS JOINED BY F.B.I.

Mafia Background Sought
For Mystery in Ridgewood

By CHARLES GRUTZNER

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has joined the search into the possible Mafia background of last week's mysterious shooting spree in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn, it was learned yesterday.

Local police are checking the Federal agency's nationwide files of stolen weapons for a clue to the origin of the seven guns of various types found near the scene. More than 20 shots had been fired around 11 P.M. on Jan. 28 in the vicinity of 283 Troutman Street apparently without having hit anyone.

Detectives of the Wilson Avenue squad have found, from city police lists, that the weapons had neither been stolen nor registered here. It was learned that the F.B.I., in addition to making its nationwide lists available to the police, is conducting an inquiry of its own into the struggle for control of the Mafia "family" of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, who vanished Oct. 21, 1964, on the eve of his scheduled appearance before a Federal grand jury that was investigating his underworld empire.

John W. Malone, assistant director in charge of the F.B.I. here, made the stock reply of "no comment" to questions about his agency's role in the inquiry. It was learned from other sources that the Federal agents are actively seeking the answer to the Brooklyn incident.

Several former business associates of Joseph Bonanno and underworld characters have in the last few days deserted their homes and other haunts in the Ridgewood district where Bonanno took the first steps on the crooked path that was to lead him to the top of an underworld empire ~~he later~~ ruled from Tucson, Ariz.

Many families, including some relatives whom Bonanno continued to visit long after he had burst the bounds of Ridgewood, have lived in the same homes for 30 and 40 years. On the night of the shooting police questioned more than 100 persons in the predominantly Italian vicinity. The only one who admitted having seen anything was a woman through whose apartment a fleeing figure ran to escape through a back yard. The others said they thought they heard firecrackers.

The F.B.I. and police are investigating, among other things, an underworld report that the shooting had been directed against Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno, 33-year-old son of Joseph, with the intent either to kill him or prevent him by intimidation from influencing the choice of his father's successor. Police of Nassau County, where the younger Bonanno lives in East Meadow, said they had been keeping a "loose surveillance" on him because of his "association with notorious characters," but that they had not seen him in recent weeks.

Gangland Bloodbath in Broc

By MURRAY NELSON

District Attorney Aaron E. Koota of Kings County has issued "a large number" of subpoenas to underworld figures to head off what he believes is an imminent gangland bloodbath for control of gambling and other interests in Brooklyn.

It was learned yesterday that the subpoenas had been issued to members of two rival factions battling for the underworld empire that had been headed by Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno until his mysterious disappearance on Oct. 21, 1964. Bonanno was reportedly seized by two men and hustled into a car on Park Avenue on the eve of his scheduled appearance before a Federal grand jury.

No one in the Kings County District Attorney's office would comment yesterday in the issuance of the subpoenas, but it was learned that Mr. Koota believes that the simmering underworld war arises from a conflict between Bonanno's oldest son, 33-year-old Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno, and Sam D. Gregario, who was not otherwise identified. The two are said to be competing for leadership of underworld interests in such Brooklyn areas as Greenpoint, Ridgewood and Williamsburg.

In what was believed to be a related action yesterday detectives from Mr. Koota's office arrested three men described as "lieutenants" in the underworld Colombo-Gallo family. The three, who were picked up at 5:30 P.M. at 51 President Street, Brooklyn, said to be a Gallo meeting place, were booked at the 76th Precinct for "consorting with known criminals." They were identified as Frank Illiano, John Cutrone and Michael Forcile.

Prosecutor Issues Subpoenas to Forestall Bloodbath for Holdings of Bonanno

According to an informed source, Mr. Koota's belief that a new gang war is imminent in his borough is based, at least in part, on a recent "shootup" on a street in the Ridgewood district.

More than 20 shots were fired about 11 P.M. on Jan. 28 by a gang on Troutman Street, between Knickerboker and Irving Avenue. Bullets were found imbedded in buildings and seven weapons were left behind, but no victims were found, nor any bloodstains. Residents were unable to shed any light on the occurrence, which reportedly left the police baffled.

The shooting, it was said yesterday, was "an attempt by one of the groups to kill one of the principals" in the battle for control of the old Bonanno's underworld empire. The Kings County District Attorney's office has been conducting an investigation of gang rivalry in Brooklyn and the issuance of the subpoenas is a result of the inquiry.

The subpoenas, it became known, call for appearances on March 22 before the Kings County grand jury in the State Supreme Court Building at the Brooklyn Civic Center.

It was also learned that Mr. Koota had assigned Chief Assistant District Attorney Elliott Golden and Assistant District Attorney Irving Seidman to continue the investigation into the underworld rivalry. Both officials have had many years experience in anti-racketeering activities and prosecutions of gangland figures in Brooklyn. The District Attorney's office was said to be working "very closely" with the Police Department's Criminal Investigation Bureau.

Joe Bananas' Troop Shoot-Out

By WILLIAM FEDERICI and HENRY LEE

That ear-splitting but harmless shoot-out in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn a month and a half ago was a three-way collision of ganglets seeking control of the mob formerly run by the missing Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonnano, investigators disclosed yesterday.

With marksmanship that would have shamed a reasonably experienced den of Cub Scouts, the three groups let go with more than 20 shots from at least seven revolvers and a 12-gauge shotgun the night of Jan. 28 near 283 Troutman St.

However, the most serious injury seems to have been the severe fright suffered by Bananas' son, Salvatore (Bill) Bonnano, leader of one of the three ganglets.

Through the Window

At the time, neighbors talked vaguely of having heard fire-crackers popping in the street, but did go so far as to admit one shadowy figure fled through a private home, crashing right through a storm window in his panic. The shoot-and-run individual was young Bonanno, investigators now report.

According to both federal and local investigators, Steve Maggadino, the Costra Nostra boss of Buffalo, was instrumental in installing an in-law, Gasperino DiGregorio, as Joe Bananas' successor.

However, Bananas' son and his supporters and a third group opposed DiGregorio and each other.

Finally, the night of Jan. 28, a peace meeting was fixed for Troutman St., in the heart of Bananas' territory. The investigation indicates that DeGregorio's crowd and the third unit arrived in separate cars—both heavily armed.

When the two cars disgorged their troops, shooting erupted from fire escapes and doorways in what was apparently an intended ambush by young Bonnano's troops.

The visitors fired back and the slugs ricocheted as wildly as ping-pong balls—and just as harmlessly. After a few minutes, the three ganglets fled in three directions.

Now that they have caught their breath, Brooklyn District Attorney Aaron E. Koota is calling all known and suspected participants before a grand jury, probably next week.

From top names in Cosa Nostra to modest ones, he has issued 41 subpoenas. When attempts were made to serve DiGregorio at his home in West Babylon, L.I., relatives insisted he was not there.

However, the cops waited, and after a while a doctor and an ambulance showed up, and DiGregorio, reportedly suffering a heart attack, was wheeled in a stretcher to the ambulance. Enroute, the cops served him with the paper.

Joe Bananas disappeared Oct. 21, 1964, on the eve of a scheduled appearance before a federal racketeers grand jury. His lawyer, William Power Maloney, said two men kidnaped Bananas on Park Ave. after pegging a shot at Maloney.

23 in Underworld Answer Subpoenas In Brooklyn Inquiry

Twenty-three of 39 underworld figures responded yesterday to subpoenas issued by Brooklyn District Attorney Aaron E. Koota, who seeks to head off a gangland war for the control of gambling and other interests in Brooklyn. However, their scheduled appearance before a grand jury was deferred until next Monday.

Among those who came in were Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno, 33-year-old son of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, who headed an underworld empire until he mysteriously disappeared Oct. 21, 1964. The elder Bonanno was reported to have been seized and forced into a car on Park Avenue on the eve of an appearance before a Federal grand jury.

Salvatore Bonanno and lesser-known figures marched up the steps of the State Supreme Court Building but none entered the grand jury room. Instead, they were advised of their rights and were given an opportunity to consult with counsel. They were told to be ready to testify next Monday.

Police authorities, including state troopers and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, stationed themselves in front of the building and made photographs of many of the gangland hierarchy. Some of the later appeared with their lawyers.

Mr. Koota's investigation is believed to have been spurred in part by a recent "shoot-up" on a street in the Ridgewood section. More than 20 shots were fired about 11 P.M. on Jan. 28 and seven weapons were left behind, but no victims were found. The shooting was said to have been an attempt to kill one of the principals in the battle for control of Bonanno's underworld empire.

MAFIA SHOOTING: REVISED VERSION

Police Call Encounter First Battle for Bonanno Empire

By CHARLES GRUTZNER

A new version of the circumstances under which the first shots were fired in the war for control of the Mafia "family" long headed by Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno emerged yesterday.

The encounter, in which more than 20 shots were fired on the night of Jan. 28 on Troutman Street, in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn, is under continuing investigation by the police, the Brooklyn District Attorney, the United States Attorney and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

For some time, investigators believed the battle had been an ambush of the missing Bonanno's eldest son, Salvatore, who fled unharmed.

As reconstructed on the basis of new information, it was a two-way battle in which bodyguards of Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno shot back at gunmen supporting the leadership of Gasperino Di Gregorio.

The police arrived minutes after the shooting ended. Apparently no one was injured, but seven firearms were found on the scene.

About 100 neighbors were questioned and all but one said they had seen nothing. Troutman Street is in a closely knit Italian neighborhood where Joseph Bonanno began his career and where some of his relatives still live.

New Version Given

The events leading to the shooting are now believed to have been as follows:

When Joseph Bonanno disappeared on the eve of a scheduled appearance before a Federal grand jury in October, 1964, he designated Frank La Bruzzo, his brother-in-law, as his successor to administer his far-flung underworld and legitimate enterprises, and said Salvatore was to assume the post of "councilor."

But Mafia leaders at a meeting in January, 1963, chose Di Gregorio to head the Bonanno "family."

Di Gregorio, who had been best man at Joseph Bonanno's wedding, was also godfather to Salvatore. He lives in a modest home in West Babylon, L. I., owns a garment factory in Brooklyn and has no police record.

Salvatore Bonnano and several of his father's lieutenants refused to recognize Di Gregorio as leader, contending that his election had been dictated by Steve Maggadino, a member of the Mafia's national council and leader of an area extending from western New York into the Ohio Valley. Maggadino is Di Gregorio's father-in-law.

Although most of the "family" is believed to have accepted Di Gregorio's leadership, some old Bonanno lieutenants who held franchises for various operations have refused to make terms with the new leadership.

23 Witnesses Subpoenaed

A Brooklyn grand jury that has been investigating the Troutman Street shoot-up has issued subpoenas to 23 witnesses to appear next Wednesday. Salvatore Bonanno, who appeared before the grand jury two weeks ago, is to be questioned further.

Di Gregorio, also under subpoena, is not expected to be reached for questioning until later in the investigation. A detective who went to his home to serve the subpoena was refused admittance by his wife, who said her husband was ill. Shortly afterward an ambulance drew up and took Di Gregorio to a hospital. The detective served the subpoena on him as he left his home.

Assistant District Attorney Irving Seidman, who is presenting evidence to the Brooklyn grand jury, said yesterday that the inquiry would go into all the aspects of control of the former Bonanno empire that might have any bearing on the Jan. 28 shooting.

Jury in Brooklyn Questions Si About January Mafia Shooting

By CHARLES GRUTZNER

A former candidate for justice of the peace on Long Island and the operator of a flower shop in Manhattan's "Little Italy" were questioned by a Brooklyn grand jury yesterday about a January shooting fray in the former Mafia family of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno.

Sereno Tartamella of East Northport, who ran unsuccessfully for justice as a candidate of the Liberal party in the Town of Huntington in 1963, was a guest at the wedding last November of Kathleen Di Gregorio to Louis Colluccio.

The wedding, in the Huntington Town House, had as uninvited guests policemen and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. They photographed several invited guests.

The bride's father was Gasparino Di Gregorio. According to the police, he succeeded to the family leadership left vacant when Joseph Bonanno vanished in October, 1964, on the eve of his scheduled appearance before a Federal grand jury.

Choice as Leader

The choice of Di Gregorio was allegedly dictated by Steve Maggadino of Buffalo, a member of the Mafia's national council.

Maggadino and other known Mafia members were photographed by the police and F.B.I. agents as they arrived for the wedding last fall. Mr. Colluccio is a beauty culturist, and Mr. Tartamella is secretary of Local 155-A, Affiliated Journeymen, Hairdressers and Cosmetologists and Proprietors International Union, an unaffiliated group.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Elliott Golden and Assistant District Attorney Irving Seidman, who are presenting evidence to the Brooklyn jury, declined to say in what way the witnesses might be connected with the inquiry.

"We are questioning everyone who we believe may be able to shed any light on the Bonanno feud and the shooting fray of Jan. 28," said Mr. Seidman.

More than 20 shots rang out in Troutman Street at about 1 o'clock that night. The police found seven abandoned fire arms in the street, but no victims. They believe the skirmish was between supporters of Di Gregorio and those of Salvatore Bonanno, son of Joseph Bonanno.

Among other witnesses yesterday were Rosario Morale, florist, of 235 Elizabeth Street, and his brother, John Morale of Little Neck, L.I. The Morales are said to be related by marriage to Joseph Bonanno. Another witness was Frank Labruzzo, a brother-in-law of Bonanno.

Joseph Notaro and a witness whose identity could not be learned also testified.

U.S. Tax Agent Cleared

Patrick Gallo, 37 years old, of White Plains, was acquitted yesterday by a Federal Court jury of the charge of accepting a $750 bribe from a certified public accountant while Mr. Gallo was a field-audit agent of the Internal Revenue Service. Herbert C. Kantor, Mr. Gallo's lawyer, said that the defendant had been charged with accepting the bribe in 1963 to give a favorable tax audit to a client of the accountant.

On December 1, 1965, NY T-2 advised that he recalled that the subject's brother, MATTEO, was extremely ill several years ago, and believed that he has since died. However, the informant advised that even if MATTEO were still alive he felt that he would be of no concern to law enforcement since his health would have prevented him from being active. The informant did not advise whether or not MATTEO was actually in "La Cosa Nostra."

The "NY Times" on February 1, 1966, carried a newspaper article regarding a shooting which occurred on January 28, 1966, which may have been a skirmish between factions to take over the underworld "family" of the missing JOSEPH BONANNO. Reportedly, police recovered several bullets imbedded in the building at 283 Troutman Street, Brooklyn. Two revolvers found in the doorway and another gun in the kitchen. Police also found six more weapons that night in the immediate area.

19 Bananas Pals Draw 30 Days, Fine in Clamup

Nine members of the Cosa Nostra family of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno—including his son, Salvatore — were sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $250 yesterday for clamming before a grand jury probing a Jan. 28 shootout which was apparently for Bananas' empire.

But two of Big Joe's little fraternity did testify, and will return for more of the same next Wednesday, according to Assistant District Attorney Irving Seidman.

Seidman said it was the first time any of Bananas' brash family had testified before such a body as a grand jury.

Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice J. Irwin Shapiro set penalties on the nine for contempt of court in refusing to testify. But he stayed sentence until July 27 to give the nine an opportunity to appeal—or change their minds and sing.

Under investigation is the outbreak of gunfire at Troutman St. and Knickerbocker Ave., Ridgewood, last January. More than 20 shots were fired, and later cops found seven guns at the scene. But not a skin was pinked by the flying bullets.

Seen as Fight for Control

Nevertheless, police and the FBI believe the battle was an attempt to gun down Salvatore Bonanno, who was in a tussle for power with his father-in-law, Gasparino DiGregorio, in the absence of Joe Bananas, who had disappeared in October, 1964.

Seidman identified yesterday's witnesses before the grand jury as Frank Bonomo of 75 Nottingham Ave., Valley Stream, L. I., and John Fiordilino, of 301 Stanhope St., Brooklyn.

Those Sentenced

Sentenced for contempt were young Bonanno, 1555 Tyler Ave., East Meadow, L.I.; Peter Notaro, 1574 Seminole St., Bronx; John Morale, 39-30 Glenwood St., Little Neck, Queens; Nicholas Marangello, 2515 Trotman Ave., Bronx; Pasquale Gigante, 50-26 65th St., Woodside, Queens.

Also Sereno Tartamello, of 37 Gildar Drive, East Northport, L.I.; Rosario Morale, 235 Elizabeth St., Anthony Lisi, 1 Essex St., and Michael Consolo, 61-05 76th St., Middle Village, Queens.

The elder Bananas, when he disappeared on the eve of a scheduled appearance before a federal grand jury looking into narcotics, reportedly left the reins in the hands of a brother-in-law, Frank LaBruzzo, and designated son Sal "councilor."

New Gang War Feared Here

By IRVING LIEBERMAN and G. BRUCE PORTER

Frank Mari, a Mafia hoodlum, was shot in Brooklyn Wednesday night because he had defected from the Cosa Nostra family led by Joseph (Joe Bonannas) Bonanno to join a mob led by Gasperino DiGregorio, a top federal law enforcement officer said today.

The officer said that Bonanno, who was kidnaped in October, 1964, and turned up again last May, had his life spared for the promise that he would surrender control of his rackets to DiGregorio.

"We have information that Bonanno is going back on his word and he is determined effort to wipe out the hard core defectors of his mob," the officer said.

"This may be the beginning of a lot of bloodletting. The stakes are high."

Mari, 39, who is recovering in Maimonides Hospital from a bullet wound under his arm, was shot at 14th Av. and 68th St. in the Borough Park section as he was sitting in a car reportedly with George (Little George) Filipone, who is still being sought.

Asked for details, Mari replied:

"I don't know. It happened too fast. I don't know who shot me."

Police said Mari is tied in with loan shark operations on the Lower East Side.

After Bonanno was kidnaped in 1964, DiGregorio was installed as his successor by Steve Maggadino of Buffalo, a member of the Mafia's national council. But Bonanno's son Salvatore vowed to keep his father's rackets in the control of his family.

This vow is said to have resulted in an attempt on Salvatore's life last Jan. 28 in a gun battle on the corner of Troutman St. and Evergreen Av. in Brooklyn.

When police arrived, however, all they found on the street were seven guns—no victims. A car traced to Salvatore was found in the neighborhood.

Yesterday, Mari and Carmine Castellano, of 2629 Batchelder St., Brooklyn, the owner of the car in which Mari was shot, were served subpoenas to appear next Wednesday before the grand jury to which Asst. District Attorney Irving Seidman has been presenting evidence in the Troutman St. shooting.

Mari, who lives at 1310 62d St., Bklyn., was also among the more than 200 mobsters called by U.S. Attorney Morgenthau to testify before the federal grand jury probing Bonanno's kidnaping and his subsequent appearance and surrender.

II. UTILIZATION OF TOP ECHELON CRIMINAL INFORMANTS

During the month of July, 1966, there were [] top echelon criminal informants being actively handled under this program.

b7D

As of July 31, 1966, the New York Office was handling a total of [] under the TECIP.

III. IDENTIFICATION OF "LA COSA NOSTRA" MEMBERS

COLOMBO "FAMILY"

New York is origin in 78 cases of LCN subjects who have been identified as members of the COLOMBO "family".

DI GREGORIO (formerly BONANNO) "FAMILY"

A review of the membership list of the GASPARE DI GREGORIO "family" of LCN reflects that the NYO is origin in 75 cases of subjects who have been identified as members of that "family". These 75 cases include two known members residing in Canada as well as two known members residing in Italy.

JOHN TARTAMELLA, SR. has been deleted as a member of this "family" due to his death on 7/13/66.

b6

On 7/13/66, [] acting "caporegima" in the DI GREGORIO "family", was target for approximately ten shots which came from a passing car, while he and an unidentified companion were sitting in a parked car in Brooklyn, NY. [] and companion reportedly returned fire at attacking car, and apparently wounded one of the attackers. New York sources indicate shooting caused by an internal dispute in DI GREGORIO "family", between BONANNO "faction" and DI GREGORIO "faction".

b7C

GAMBINO "FAMILY"

New York is origin in 165 cases of LCN subjects who have been identified as members of the GAMBINO "family".

GENOVESE "FAMILY"

New York is origin in 142 cases of LCN subjects, who have been identified as members of the GENOVESE "family".

LUCHESE "FAMILY"

New York is origin in 43 cases of LCN subjects, who have been identified as members of the LUCHESE "family".

It will be noted that the above membership lists are not in exact conformity with those set forth in referenced airtel. The discrepancy in these figures is attributable to deletions of individuals formerly carried as members but who have been deleted inasmuch as their inclusion would not be in conformity with Bureau's criteria for inclusion. These figures coincide with those figures set forth in referenced report in which all members of the respective "families" as well as the identifying sources are listed.
