GROGAN: Oh.

PETERSON: Appreciate though.

GROGAN: Um let's see, what else was I gonna give ya? Hang on here. Oh, I wanted to see if I could get that ah mailman's name—

GROGAN: do you have it there?

PETERSON: Oh sure, hold on, let me dig out that paper. Hold on just a minute. (Papers rustle) Okay ah, Russell GRAYBILL.

GROGAN: Oh. Hang on here.

GROGAN: I think I'm writing on my face with my face with my pen, hang on here—

PETERSON: (Laughs)

GROGAN: This cell phone is hard to hold on to and—

PETERSON: Yeah

GROGAN: Okay, Russell?

PETERSON: Yeah, Russell GRAYBILL.

PETERSON: Uh-hunh (affirmative)

GROGAN: Okay ah —

PETERSON: Number he left is ah [REDACTED]

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: And he left me ah—or left you rather—the detail of ah parcels that he scanned while he was deliverin' in the area?

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: And it says here ah well basically, I was there between 10:35 and 10:50.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: Um I'll hang on to this until I see ya or you send someone for it.

GROGAN: Yeah, I'll probably give him a call set up ah an interview with him but ah—wanted to ask you I think about that jewelry also ah—

PETERSON: Yeah.

GROGAN: She had on that morning for sure the diamond earrings, right?

PETERSON: Yeah.

GROGAN: And she had on a wrist watch that is diamond encrusted I have—

PETERSON: I believe so.

GROGAN: around the side. What's the metal on that though, is it silver or gold or—

PETERSON: Um, I don't know, she had a couple of 'em —I think she has a silver one and a gold one? A couple of gold ones.

GROGAN: She had two gold ones?

PETERSON: Think so. So _____

GROGAN: (Overlaps above) The one she had on it would be gold, probably, the metal?

PETERSON: Yeah.

GROGAN: Alright.

PETERSON: Probably. (Coughs) Better chance that than anything else.

GROGAN: What about dental records?

PETERSON: Oh yeah, I meant to go—I'll um, I'll go by there-- dental office today and get the --the name of it.

GROGAN: Okay. You seen _____ by then?

PETERSON: Yeah, I just know where it is, you know, it's like—drive there.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: But I don't know the guy's name.

GROGAN: Alright ah—

PETERSON: I didn't go by yesterday.

GROGAN: One of the things I noticed when I was out at the house is you had like ah four ah degrees or something up on the wall? Are all those yours?

PETERSON: What's that?

GROGAN: You had like four college degrees up on the wall?

PETERSON: Well that was a joke from Laci. We have our um degrees from Cal Poly up there?

GROGAN: Yeah.

PETERSON: And ah the rest of 'em were jokes that she set up for me because I went to all those schools but oh—to study those things --it is ah kind of a running joke because I went to school for so long?

GROGAN: Oh, okay.

- PETERSON: Took so many different classes— 'cause that--
- GROGAN: They look kinda real though, I mean they look—they look like—
- PETERSON: Yeah, she got 'em at a someplace that (chuckles) makes 'em look real but ah
- GROGAN: Okay. So you went to all those schools but the only one that's a real degree is the —the one from ah—
- PETERSON: San Luis-
- GROGAN: San Luis--
- PETERSON: Yeah, agriculture, yeah.
- GROGAN: Alright.
- PETERSON: Yeah she makes fun of me for—
- GROGAN: (Coughs)
- PETERSON: studying so many different things.
- GROGAN: Okay um—let's see—the ah —wanted to ask you about ah—did—do you know if she had ever driven your truck?
- PETERSON: Oh sure.
- GROGAN: Okay, so Laci has driven it?
- PETERSON: _____, oh yeah.
- GROGAN: And is that—I don't even remember—I didn't look in there—is it a stick shift or ah—
- PETERSON: No it's Automatic.
- GROGAN: Auto—okay.
- PETERSON: Yeah she liked it because it _____ up and down?
- GROGAN: Okay. Ah either one of ya ever been injured in the truck or anything? You ever been in an accident in it or anything like that?

PETERSON: No, never been in an accident. Might find blood climbing in it but-

GROGAN: You know what that was from?

PETERSON: well I mean I -cut my hands every day.

GROGAN: Okay. Ah

PETERSON: _____ I cut my hand that day.

GROGAN: You cut your hand that day?

PETERSON: Yeah.

GROGAN: How'd that happen?

PETERSON: Um reached in that side ah pocket in the door?

GROGAN: What cut ya?

PETERSON: I mean I know Allen looked at my hands and I know he noticed cuts on my hands so -he knows.

GROGAN: Okay. What ah—ah I didn't notice any there that night but—did ah—what was in there that cut ya?

PETERSON: I don't know what it was, it was probably just ah door or the pocket or somethin'. _____ knuckle. Still my hand I—you know—I keep cuttin' it handin' out flyers so—that's the reason I—keep rememberin' it.

GROGAN: So you just had like a scuff on your knuckle or something?

PETERSON: Yeah, yeah. Still here.

GROGAN: Alright. So that would be your—which—which hand?

PETERSON: Ah left hand, index finger—

GROGAN: Okay. Well that can explain some of that ah—um about ah Laci, she ever been injured in there?

PETERSON: I don't think so.

GROGAN: Alright. There was—

PETERSON: (Overlaps above) She doesn't ah, you know, work—head towards the yard and stuff but doesn't work like I work so—I don't know if she stopped in there with (coughs) cut hands or not but we never had an accident or anything like that.

GROGAN: Did ah—did Laci know you had that boat?

PETERSON: Yeah.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: Of course. Can't go out and buy somethin' you know, without tellin' your wife.

GROGAN: Okay. Did she go with ya when you bought that or—

PETERSON: Not when I bought it, she came and saw it at the warehouse.

GROGAN: Okay. So she's been at a warehouse before?

PETERSON: Oh yeah.

GROGAN: And ah—was that then—you bought it like two weeks before that? So she would a been at the—

PETERSON: Yeah—

GROGAN: at the warehouse around then?

PETERSON: Yeah um—I don't know, I mean I had it for a few days before she came and saw it.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: If you need the date I've got the title and the bill of sale at the warehouse.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: Unless you have that already.

GROGAN: Um well we might but—they took a lot of paperwork over there, I don't know what all they took. (Coughs) So she would have ah—would that have been the last time she was over there, though?

PETERSON: Ah—

GROGAN: Few days _____ boat?

PETERSON: No, she came over you know, when I was workin'

(Cough)

PETERSON: and she'd stop by and have lunch, or what not.

GROGAN: Okay. Can you—can you say when the last time she was in there was?

PETERSON: Ah probably ah —it's probably Friday.

GROGAN: Okay. So just a few days before she disappeared?

PETERSON: Yeah, I don't know if she down there the weekend or not. It's a pretty, you know, common stop for us goin' to Home Depot —it's on the way—stop and get a tool or whatever.

GROGAN: So on Friday did she stop by and have lunch with you or what?

PETERSON: No, no, not lunch on Friday. Remember that. Well, I'm not sure if she did or not. I mean I know we'd have lunch but I don't know if she came by to say hi or not. I'd have to figure out what I did Friday to figure that out.

GROGAN: Ah so you're not—you're not sure if she came by or not?

PETERSON: No, I think so but I'm not sure, yeah—you know, I don't—make a note of it or anything.

GROGAN: Okay. (Sighs) Um—let's see—ah were you lookin' for that boat for —for awhile or is that the first one you looked at or—

PETERSON: Um, looked at a couple others—and I was just lookin' around for a nice clean—clean one — you look at all scrappy and weren't registered and that kind of thing?

GROGAN: (Coughs) That one—ah—so you—when you talked to that guy it looked like it was in pretty good shape and all that when you bought it?

PETERSON: Yeah, yeah—it's in great shape, it's registered for years, you know, it—just a good fella.

GROGAN: Yeah he said it ran pretty good?

PETERSON: Yeah.

GROGAN: And ah—he run it for ya or anything?

PETERSON: No trust him on that.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: I started it out dry once.

GROGAN: Okay. Just at the shop or somethin'?

PETERSON: Yeah, exactly.

GROGAN: (coughs)

PETERSON: Craig, I'm sorry I've gotta go, I've got an interview—I'm gonna talk to some press here.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: Okay? But -feel free to give me a call later on.

GROGAN: Okay.

PETERSON: Bye.

GROGAN: Thanks Scott. Alright. Bye.

(End of call)

GROGAN: Okay that call ended at ah about 9:15.
